DENY SACCO VANZETTI PLEA FOR MERCY

By International News Service.

BOSTON, Aug. 19.—Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti today lost their "last,ditch" legal battle for life in the Massachusetts courts.

The full bench of the State Supreme Judicial Court, in a decision awaited in every corner of the world, turned down all moves by Chief Defense Counsel Arthur D. Hill to save the lives of the two prisoners and secure for them a new trial.

MAY GO HIGHER.

With the present respite ending at midnight, August 22, the next move of the defense legal forces will probably be a rush to the United States Supreme Cour for a writ of certiorari, looking for a stay of sentence and a review by the highest Federal tribunal.

The full bench of the state's highest court overruled exceptions to denial of motions for a new trial by Trial Judge Webster Thayer and for a revocation of sentence.

All actions hinged around the alleged prejudice of the trial judge against Sacco and Vanzetti because of their radical beliefs. This was brought to light in affidavits given to Governor Alvan T. Fuller and his advisory review committee—President Samuel W. Stratton, of Massachusetts Institute of Technology; and Judge Robert Grant. They found Judge Thayer "indiscreet" in conver-

STEUBENVILLE, O., Aug. 19.—Both the engineer and fireman of the crack Pittsburgh-Bellaire flyer of the Pennsylvania Railroad were in a hospital today following the derailing of the train last night as it speeded around Costania curve, seven miles east of Steubenville.

"THEY'RE TAKING ME BACK"

"BUT I DON'T WANT TO GO."

That is what Mrs. Elizabeth Zak, 22 (above), sobbed before Magistrate E. M. Hough in Morals Court when Indiana, Pa., police started to take her back home. "I left my husband," she said. "He was untrue. I'll never stay with him again." She has her one-year-old child with her.

Vote Fraud in First Charged

A general allegation that 2,000 names have been added to the assessment list in the First Ward since the original assessment list was compiled by the field men, was contained in a petition filed in Common Pleas Court today by Attorney John E. Laughlin.

This move was an evidence of the bitter contest that is being waged in the ward between Alderman A. M.

BUCS TRAIL

REWARD OF $15,000 IN JAIL BREAK

A reward totaling $15,000 for the capture of the two prisoners who yesterday shot their way out of the county jail and their accomplice was offered this afternoon by the County Commissioners, who accepted a recommendation of the prison board to that effect.

In all, five recommendations were made by the Prison Board which went into session shortly before noon. Their recommendations in addition to the reward of $5,000 for each of the three principals were:

Change in the lock system in the jail; employment of three additional employes, to take the places of two injured guards and one absent on account of illness; establishment of a system to search visitors to felons, or suspicious visitors, and that a committee of five members of the board be appointed to continue the investigation begun today.

The board's committee to study jail conditions and continue the inquiry was named by the chairman as follows: Sheriff Braun, Commissioners Babcock and Houlahen, Controller McGovern and Judge Gray.

Immediately after the adjournment of the prison board the County Commissioners met and authorized a reward of $5,000 for the capture, dead or alive, of each of the three principals in the dash for freedom.

FLYER FROM TEXAS ON TIME BUT BRIDE IS LATE

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—"Just like a woman," is what long-married brother officers had to say about it. Lieut. William Wheeler O'Connor, U. S. army aviator, made a rush flight here from Ft. Sam Houston, San Antonio, Texas, to be in time for his wedding yesterday. And he was. Miss Muriel Lenane, his bride, who resided in New York, was 35 minutes late for the church ceremony.

Here's Description Of Jail Break Murder Gang

Following are descriptions of the two murderers and the man who aided them in yesterday's jail break:

The strange leader—About 32, 5 feet, 9 inches tall, 155 pounds, dark complexion, dark eyes, dark hair, small mustache, brown suit, leghorn hat with brim turned down.

Jail Break Search Fails

Pittsburgh and Allegheny county's combined force of police and detectives, augmented by the officers of hundreds of surrounding communities, are at sea this afternoon in their search for Paul Jaworski and John Vasbinder, murderers, and the unidentified visitor at the county jail, who yesterday shot their way out, leaving two wounded guards.

A posse headed by First Assistant District Attorney Andrew T. Park, Sheriff Robert H. Braun, and Assistant Chief of County Detectives Harry Cochran, which sped out of Pittsburgh before dawn in a machine loaded with sawed-off shot guns and machine guns, on a "tip" from Nottingham township, Washington county, returned after a futile hunt. It had been reported that an automobile, among several held up briefly in traffic at Bentleyville, answered

Benton was out to tie the season's record for consecutive games won by a major league pitcher. Benton has won his last eight games and another victory is needed to enable him to equal the nine-game winning streak of Ted Lyons of the White Sox. The first game in detail follows:

FIRST INNING.

NEW YORK—Reese was thrown out by Wright. Lindstrom out, Traynor to Harris. Roush beat out a bunt. Roush was caught napping and was out, Meadows to Harris to Wright. One hit.

SECOND INNING.

NEW YORK—Hornsby singled to center. Terry flied to L. Waner. Jackson fouled out to Traynor. Harper walked. Taylor flied to Barnhart. One hit.

THIRD INNING.

PITTSBURGH—Harris lined to Reese. Gooch flied to Harper. Meadows was thrown out by Benton.

NEW YORK—Benton fanned. Reese was safe when Harris muffed his bunt. Lindstrom popped to Wright. Roush flied to L. Waner. One error.

FOURTH INNING.

NEW YORK—Hornsby hit a home run into the right field stands. Terry doubled to right-center. Jackson flied to P. Waner. Harper flied to P. Waner. Taylor also flied to P. Waner. One run. Two hits.

FIFTH INNING.

PITTSBURGH—Wright out, Hornsby to Terry. Harris tripled against the left-field wall. Lindstrom was injured as he crashed into the stands and the game was halted. Lindstrom fell prostrate and Roush fielded the ball. After receiving first aid treatment, Lindstrom stayed in the game. Gooch lined to Reese. Meadows fanned. One hit.

SIXTH INNING.

NEW YORK—Hornsby walked. Terry hit a home run into the right field stands, scoring Hornsby in advance. Jackson flied to L. Waner. Harper flied to Grantham. Taylor was thrown out by Traynor. Two runs. One hit.

Bombs Let Go in Mine War Here

Two bomb explosions attributed to mine strife in the Pittsburgh district early today did serious damage and came near claiming human life.

The first blast partially wrecked a coal train of the Panhandle division as it was crossing the Pennsylvania Railroad bridge at Mayview. The bridge was badly damaged, windows were shattered, and consternation reigned in the City Home and Hospital, not far away.

The second blast came at West Elizabeth, where more than 50 non-union Negro miners were hurled from their beds and two large buildings in Dobrie row were virtually demolished.

Had not the plans of the bombers gone slightly amiss, the bridge, the train and several of the Mayview buildings probably would have been completely wrecked. Several bombs, one of which contained three quarts of nitroglycerin, were found beneath and on the damaged structure.

ENGINE CREW ESCAPES.

The explosion of one bomb spread the rails between which it was laid and stove in the bottom of a freight car under which it let go just after the engine and tender passed over.

On the west-bound track, just opposite the point at which the one bomb exploded, a crudely fashioned bomb of dynamite and nitroglycerin was found, set to explode with the crossing of the train.

The miners who survived the West Elizabeth blast are employed in the Warden mine of the Pittsburgh Coal Company. None of them was reported seriously injured.

The bomb had been placed between two buildings, and the force of the blast almost wrecked both structures beyond repair. A county detective, who had been guarding the road nearby in the search for the two murderers who escaped from the county jail yesterday, fired several shots at men who ran into the road at the time of the explosion.

A week ago, a number of men occupying the mine houses were fired upon from ambush.

BREAKERS ELUDE POSSE

New Castle police early today chased a machine, which they believed carried the fugitives, 10 miles across the Pennsylvania-Ohio state line. The race ended when the police car broke down. The officers notified Youngstown, O., authorities.

Guards are stationed at the Wechowski farm, near Bentleyville, which was determined as headquarters of Jaworski's gang last March, after the Coverdale holdup, in which armoured cars were bombed and $104,000 stolen from the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal corporation.

ALL ROADS GUARDED.

Throughout Western Pennsylvania and in adjacent counties of bordering states roads are being watched, and suspicious automobiles are being halted.

Conflicting reports have been received as to the route of the machine in which the prisoners and their stranger leader escaped.

From Duquesne today came the word from Chief of Police Flynn that the prisoners' car had passed through there at 3:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He noticed the license number because the driver was speeding, but he did not know of the jail break at the time.

Another report was that the fugitive automobile, instead of going out Wylie avenue, as first reported, had been driven out the Bigelow boulevard into East Liberty.

Jaworski was identified with the Mollenauer payroll holdup in which I. L. Gump, a guard, was killed, as well as with the Flathead mob's holdup at Coverdale. Vasbinder, reputed drug addict, had killed a man in McKeesport for refusing him a quarter. The third man in the escape, who supplied the weapons, has been identified only as a visitor who had called every other week for several months to see Jaworski.

The victims of the shooting in the jail yesterday were Guard Harry Riger and Deputy Guard John D. Hanlon. A bullet from Jaworski's pistol struck Riger in the right forearm and lodged in his hip. Hanlon was hit in the right arm. They were taken to the Mercy hospital.

The riotous scene in the jail came without warning. In the absence of Warden John McNeil, on vacation, Chief Deputy Warden David Harris was in charge.

Nothing was thought of the visit of the stranger who led in the fight to get out. He had paid visits to Jaworski almost weekly for the last few months. He was admitted to the visitor's cage by a guard and spoke for a moment with Jaworski. The stranger then walked back into the jail office as the door was opened by the guard.

The man grabbed at the guard's keys, drew an automatic pistol and started shooting. His next move was to reach through the five-inch grating and hand Jaworski three pistols.

"HERE'S WHERE—

Vasbinder, who had remained about 25 feet from Jaworski, hurled a telephone book at Abe Picard, a prisoner from Detroit to whom he had taken a dislike, and yelled, "Here's where I go out."

Running to Jaworski, the drug addict was given weapons and the two opened fire at guards in the bull pen. Riger ran to his desk. Jaworski shot him in the right arm. Vasbinder grabbed the wounded man's key, and the two prisoners opened the gate to follow their liberator in the first step to freedom.

In the office of the jail, Jaworski leaped over the counter, apparently eager to kill anyone who stood in his way. A prison clerk stumbled into a vault to escape him. Paul Beiswanger, the bookkeeper, threw up his hands.

"The keys, you fool! The keys! And no fooling, or out goes your lights!" Jaworski shouted.

From that time until the three men walked calmly into Ross street and were driven away in the machine, pandemonium reigned in the jail. Bullets flew across the reception room and into the bullpen.

Chief Deputy Warden Harris turned to stare into the cold steel muzzle of an automatic, held by the strange leader. The muzzle was pressed against his neck and he put up his arms and was forced into the first aid room without a chance to fight.

GUARD SHOT DOWN.

Deputy Guard Hanlon came running to investigate the shooting and was met by a rain of bullets. One of them pierced his right arm and he fell.

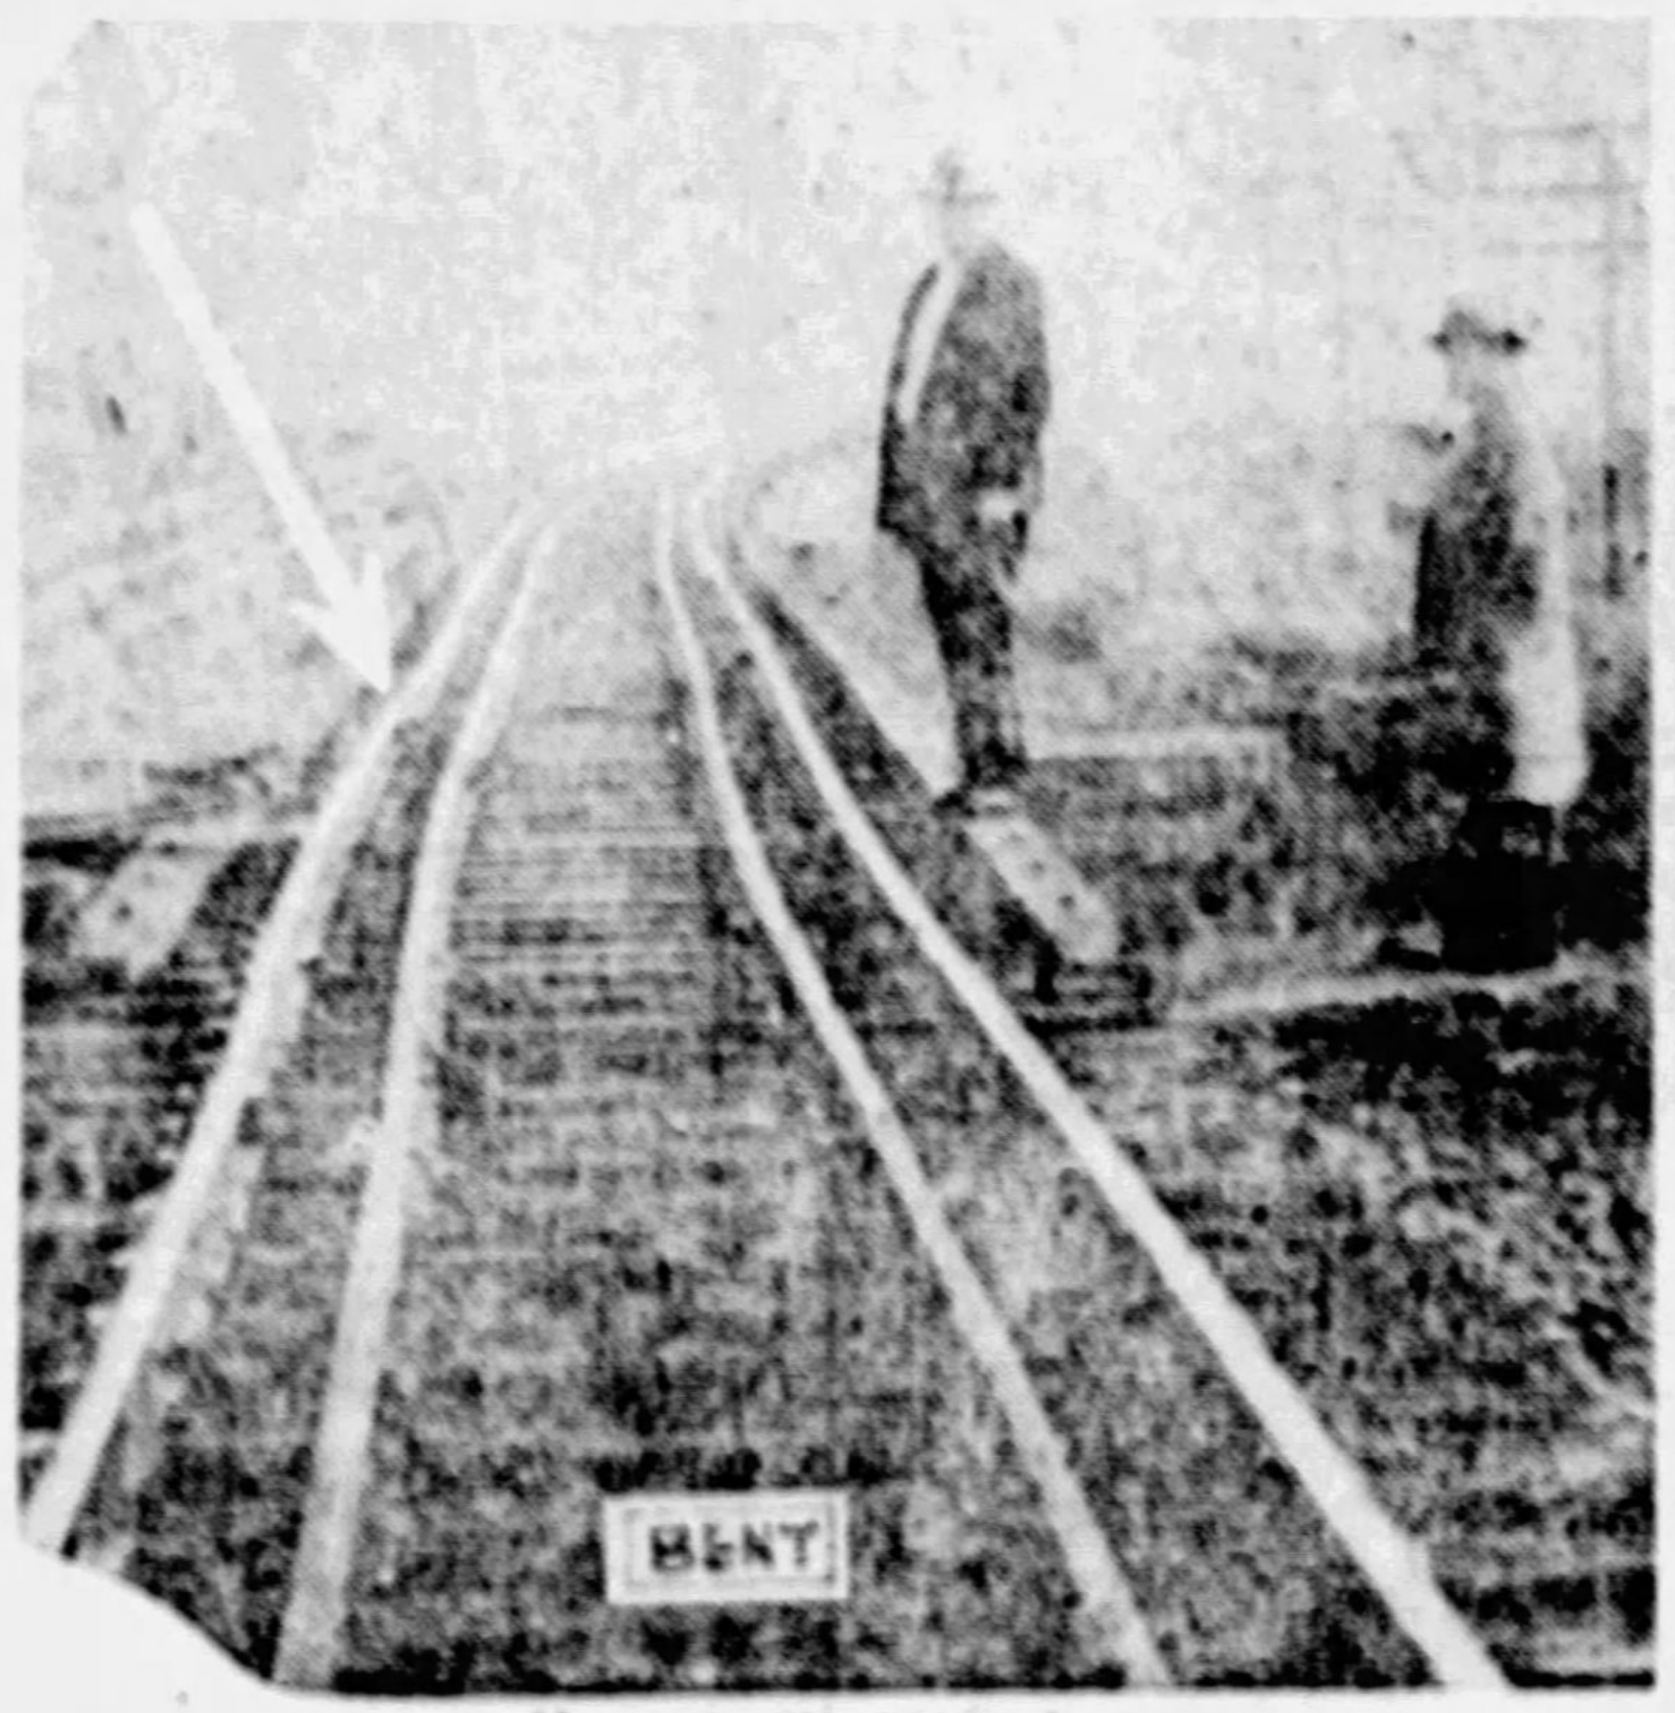
The liberator, Jaworski and Vasbinder then met at the outside gate, opened it and went down the steps leading to Ross street. Hurrying at first, they slowed their pace as they neared the bottom. A woman visitor, mounting the steps, was bumped by Jaworski. She trembled and fell back against the brass railing.

Into the street the trio walked as calmly as ordinary pedestrians. As they turned to their automobile, in which spectators say a woman was waiting, Chief Deputy Harris fired at them from a window. The three broke into a run and hurried into the machine.

LAST SEEN IN TUNNEL STREET.

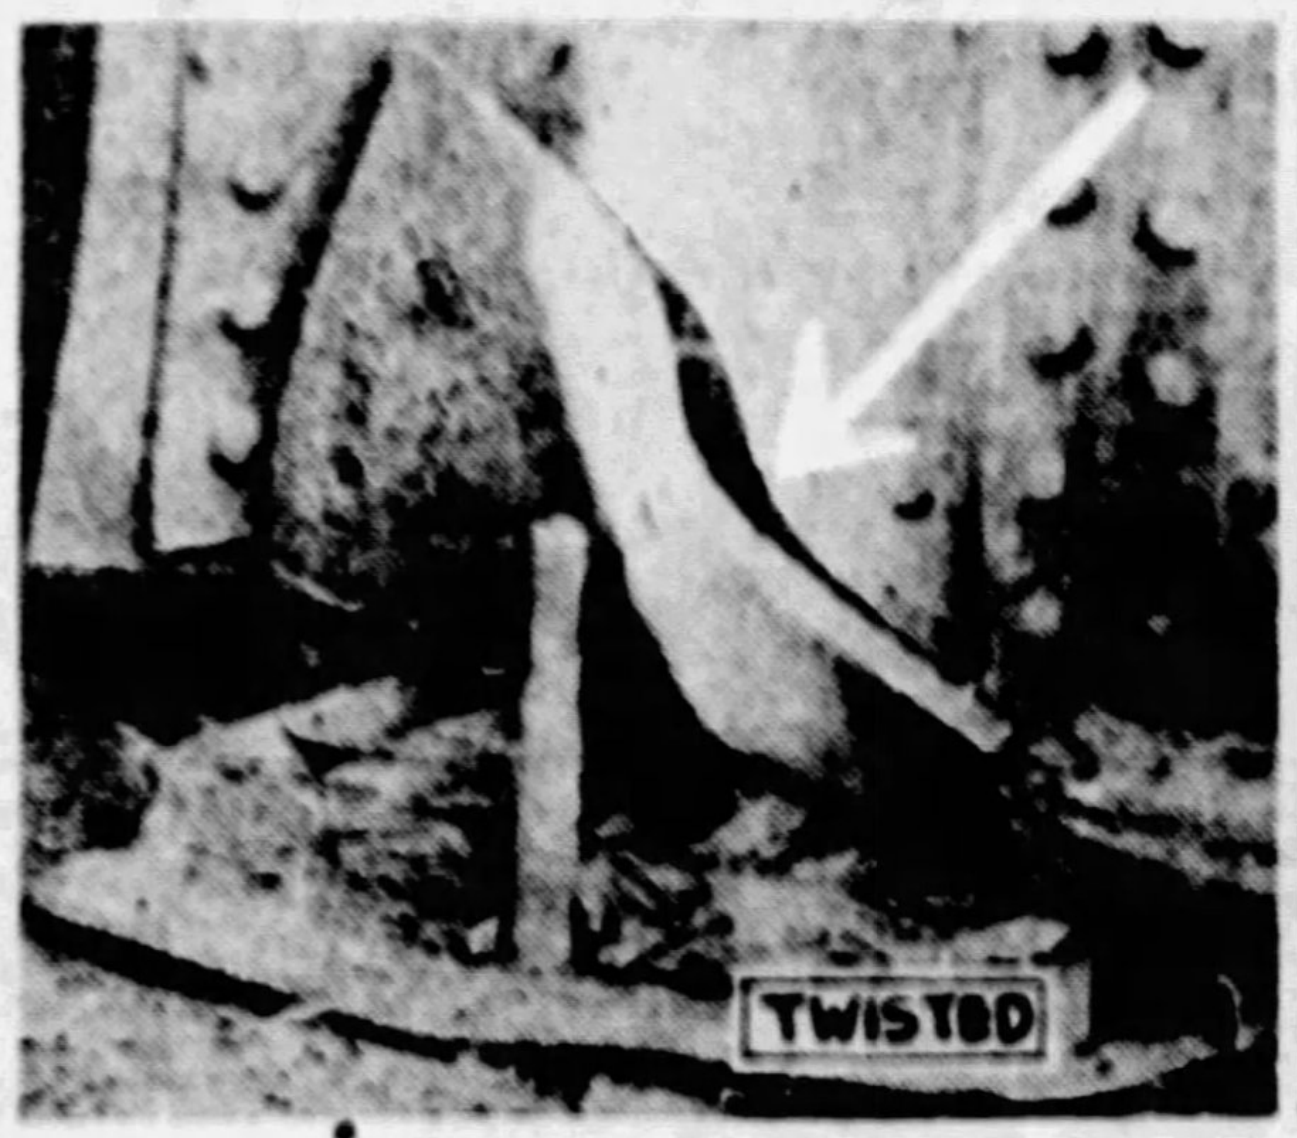
The car moved slowly into Fifth avenue, then sped into Sixth avenue. It turned into Wylie avenue and moved on to Tunnel street, where it was last seen in Pittsburgh.

NITRO BOMB :-: WRECKS TRESTLE :-: AT MAYVIEW



RAILS BLASTED

Rails passing [illegible] Pennsylvania Railroad Bridge No. 9, crossing Chartiers Creek, Mayview, were bent out of proper gauge by a nitro-glycerin bomb explosion early today. All later eastbound trains were stopped and proceeded slowly. Wrecking crews are repairing the damage.



GIRDER FOLDED

A huge steel supporting girder, where the bomb was planted, was twisted and its base folded over. An unexploded charge later was found, presumably planted to derail a train due shortly.

WINDOWS BROKEN

Windows in the power plant of the City Home and Hospital, Mayview, were shattered, as they were in many dwellings and buildings surrounding the trestle. Inmates said the blast rocked the entire structures at Mayview. Photo above shows shattered panes in the power plant. The bombers have not as yet been apprehended.

Jail Clerk Saw Guns Pass Through Bars

"The first thing I saw in the break was that stranger slipping two automatics through the bars to Jaworski," relates Paul Beiswinger, jail bookkeeper, from whom the keys were forced in yesterday's jail delivery.

"Then the stranger pulled two more guns, shouted 'Hands up', and backed Davie Harris, chief deputy warden, into the warden's private office. All the time he kept one gun leveled at me. Then he forced me into a corner of the office and cursed me. He demanded the keys and struck me on the right hand with a revolver.

DOORS OPENED.

"The stranger slipped the keys through the bars to Jaworski. Jaworski ran to the rear of the visitors' cage, which is locked, and slipped the keys to Vasbinder, who was posted outside that locked door, although still behind bars. Vasbinder unlocked the door to let out Jaworski and both of them rushed to the main entrance to the cells and unlocked that.

"Then they ran over to the Ross street entrance and unlocked that big door, hurrying down the steps into Ross street.

"Meanwhile, that stranger had stayed behind and kept all of us quiet with his two automatics. He backed slowly out of the office and stood a couple of seconds at the bottom of the steps pointing his revolvers towards the jail entrance. Then he ran for the car.

"I didn't see the actual shooting, although I heard it, because this stranger was getting the keys from me."

Search was continued today by police and county detectives for Homer Rossiter, 22, who escaped from Dixmont Hospital. No trace of the man had been found this morning. He was being held at the institution for the Quarter Sessions Court.

Father of Jail Break Victim Dies As Son Is Shot

Louis Riger, 73, father of Harry Riger, one of the victims of gangsters' bullets in the jail delivery here yesterday, died at his home, 1218 Sigel street, within six hours after his son was shot. The aged man was dying when the shooting occurred and was not told of his son's mishap.

Louis Riger was a retired horse-shoer and was well known on the North Side. For more than a quarter of a century he maintained a shop at Chateau and Reedsdale streets. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Rhoda Riger; a daughter, Mrs. Ella Wood, and two sons, Harry, the wounded jail guard, and Samuel J. Riger, of Hollywood, Fla.

SOGGY RUNWAY BARS BERTAUD TAKE-OFF

By International News Service.

MINEOLA, N. Y., Aug. 19.—"Old Glory," the Fokker monoplane which Lloyd W. Bertaud and James DeWitt Hill expect to fly from New York to Rome, will not undertake the flight today. Capt. Eric Densham, motor mechanic, made an inspection of the Roosevelt Field runway and pronounced it too soggy for use.

A further bar to the flight was lack of a favorable west wind for the take-off, Hill declared. A test flight for the radio and the plane's gasoline system is to be made this afternoon.

Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, wife of the sponsor of the flight, is expected at the field to inspect the plane.

MAKER OF WILL AND BENEFICIARY BOTH DEAD

A will bequeathing a $30,000 estate to a deceased beneficiary has been filed for probate here. It is that of William A. Tomlinson, of Oakmont, who, with his wife, Mrs. Blanche Leard Tomlinson, were killed last week in an automobile wreck near Cambridge Springs. Mr. Tomlinson had left everything to his wife, but now the estate will go to William and Joseph Tomlinson, minor children.

BLUSHING GIRLS GREET JOHN

By Universal Service.

HOT SPRINGS, S. D., Aug. 19.—The thrill that comes once in a life time was shared by five local girls of flapper age. For they met and talked with no less than John Coolidge, the nation's most sought youth.

The five girls, coy and blushing, stood beside John, modest and blushing, on the veranda of the golf club house and talked about such varied topics as the one-step, golf and Indians.

"Of course you're coming over some evening to one of our golf dances," said one.

John said he hoped to, but looked at his dad out of the corner of his eye and said he was making no promises in the matter.

The Indian assembly at the Sioux reservation was the most remarkable spectacle he has seen since his father became President, he told the girls. They were Ruth Barker, Forest Mosher, Helen Eastman, Ellen Phillips and Dora Bruce, all about John's age. They were the first girls to meet him in the Black Hills.

NEW CASTLE TO HONOR CIVIL WAR VETERAN

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Aug. 19.—John A. Magee, sole survivor of a group of 84 youths who left their homes in Plaingrove township to take part in the Civil war, will be the honor guest of residents of the township at a patriotic demonstration at the Plaingrove U. P. church, Saturday, August 27. Mr. Magee was a corporal in Co. E, 100th Pennsylvania Volunteer infantry.

sations about "Reds" outside the courtroom but fair and impartial while on the bench.

The full bench, which handed down the decision, today, consisted of Justices Henry K. Braley, Edward P. Pierce, William Cushing Wait, and James B. Carroll.

SPURN WRIT PLEA.

The full bench also dismissed a petition for a writ of coram nobis, which had been filed at the conclusion of the hearing on the various exceptions.

The court held that the issuance of a writ of error rests solely within the discretion of a single justice in capital cases.

The writ of error coram nobis was addressed to the full bench, but the court stated that such a writ had become obsolete in view of the "plain intentions of the legislature" as manifest by recent statutes, stating that a writ of error shall not issue unless granted by a single justice. A new trial, the full bench held, must be requested before sentence is passed. The decision hinged wholly around points of law.

Attorney Hill's first move was a trip to Fitchburg to interview Chief Justice Walter Perley Hall of the State Superior Court. The Superior Court was said to have the power to stay sentence pending legal moves in the Federal courts, as has a single justice of the United States Supreme Court. This would remove the question of another respite from the hands of Gov. Alvan T. Fuller and his executive council.

VANZETTI INSANE?

CHARLESTOWN STATE PRISON, BOSTON, Aug. 19.—(AP.)—The statement that Bartolomeo Vanzetti had become insane was made by Attorney Michael A. Musmanno today to Warden William Hendry of the state prison after he had visited Vanzetti in his cell.

Upon leaving Vanzetti, Attorney Musmanno called newspapermen into Warden Hendry's office and with the warden present said:

"Vanzetti took the news very badly. He kept shouting, 'I knew it. I knew it. Get the million men. Get the million men. Who is making all that noise.'

"WANTS WIRELESS."

"Vanzetti looks very badly," Musmanno continued. "His mind is in an awful condition. He wants a wireless in his cell so that he can tell his story to the world."

Shortly after Musmanno's visit Sacco, Vanzetti and Celestino Madeiros, under sentence to die at the same time for another murder, were removed to the death house. They showed no outward appearance of physical or mental trouble as they walked with guards through the corridor.

International News Service Staff Correspondent.

HONOLULU, Aug. 19.—Although the most thorough sea hunt in the history of the Pacific has been made during the past 36 hours, Mildren Doran, "the flying schoolmarm," and her four Dole flight comrades were still missing today in the immeasurable void of the Pacific.

Neither the Golden Eagle nor the Miss Doran, the missing planes, has been seen. J. Auggy Pedlar and V. R. Knope are with the girl flyer in the Buhl biplane. Jack Frost and Gordon Scott are in the Hearst monoplane, Golden Eagle.

Their gasoline supplies exhausted many hours ago, their food sufficient for about two days more, the missing aviators if they have escaped death—were either riding along the waves in their planes, or had abandoned them for a rubber life raft. Perhaps they were safe on some isolated island far from the lines of communication or they may have been battered down to the depths if their planes crashed into the sea.

More than 100 Japanese fishing sampans, manned by crews who know intimately the vagaries of wind and tide near the islands, were augmented today by 30 Navy vessels searching off the Hawaiian group. The hunt today veered toward the far side of the islands in the fear that the flyers may have overshot their mark.

Hope ran high for a short time yesterday evening. An unverified report from Keanae, Island of Maui, told of the sighting off shore of a floating object, thought to be the Miss Doran. A hurried check, however, showed that a fishing sampan had been mistaken for the lost biplane.

Forty thousand dollars in rewards was posted for the rescue of the missing airmen. James Dole, whose $35,000 prize prompted the hazardous ocean derby, offered $10,000 for the discovery of each plane.

Dole's offer was $20,000 for information or a definite clew to the fate of the girl and four men. He announced he would give $10,000 for "reliable information concerning the fate of each plane."

William F. Malloiska, of Flint, Mich., added $10,000 for the finding, "dead or alive," of the three passengers in his plane, Miss Doran. The San Francisco Examiner offered $5,000 to the rescuers of each crew.

WINNERS MAY SEARCH.

Meanwhile, plans for the entertainment and reception of Art Goebel and Martin Jensen, winners of the $25,000 and $10,000 first and second prizes for the flight, were indefinitely postponed. Goebel and Jensen both awaited Navy orders which would send them into the search with the planes they used in the Pacific flight.

WEATHER FAVORABLE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—(AP.)—For two days weather conditions in the Pacific have been ideal for the lost fliers. There was an absence of wind and this would assure a smooth riding surface for an airplane forced down, or a rubber life boat, according to experts here.

But the Miss Doran would not last many hours in the most favorable weather, they said.

The consensus of those who watched the planes perform was that it did not get far along its course before the engine trouble recurred and the plane was forced to a quick comedown, landing in the sea with more than a ton of gasoline in the tanks, seemingly inviting disaster.

The Golden Eagle, carrying a crew of two, Frost and Scott, presented a different situation. With a cork bottomed fuselage, inflated wing tips and rear end, it could be converted into a sea going craft by the turning of a valve and the closing of its doors.

Navy to End Search for Fliers Tuesday—No Use After That

By International News Wire.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—A deadline in the search for the missing Dole fliers was set by the Navy today.

Admiral R. H. Jackson, directing the Navy's search from a destroyer in mid-Pacific, advised the Navy Department that he would continue combing the Pacific until Tuesday, August 23, adding that if the missing fliers are not found by that time he thought it would be little use to continue it. Secretary of the Navy Wilbur approved.

THEIR PATHS OF ESCAPE

The Sun-Telegraph artist's conception of the events that preceded and transpired in the mad dash for freedom from the Allegheny County Jail late yesterday afternoon of Paul Jaworski of the Flathead Mob murderer and leader of the Coverdale mine payroll dynamiting, and John Vasbinder, under sentence of death.

At the left the artist pictures the visitor talking with Jaworski before he walked out into the office lobby where he passed through the guns.

At the right the artist shows the visitor walking from the visiting dock (No. 1) to the main lobby where he passed the guns to Jaworski (No. 2). The liberator then drove the guards in to the first aid room (No. 3), dashed around the counter, slugged the bookkeeper (No. 4), taking the keys to the doors. He dashed back, gave the keys to Jaworski (No. 5), who then joined Vasbinder (No. 6), gave him two of the guns, following which they opened barred doors and joined the liberator in the escape. The arrows show the steps of the liberator, the dashes those of Jaworski and the dots those of Vasbinder.

Gambled With Fate For Glory

RIVAL W. VA. POLICE BATTLE; TWO KILLED

SHE TAUGHT

BUT WANTED TO LIVE

Here are character studies of the intrepid girl as she posed at various times before the take-off. With her in the picture above is her pilot, Auggy Pedler (left) and Manley Lawing, who was to have been navigator but gave way to Lt. Vilas Knope. Now a vast flotilla of ships and planes sweeps the sea in search of her; but the mighty ocean is holding its secret well.

BY DOING

Moods? What was she like when the engine failed, or a strut snapped, and the long down swoop started. Remember her farewell — "We may win . . . but, if we don't, well, life is just a game of chance, anyway."

CHAPLIN "PEACE" DENIED

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Gathering of ammunition in preparation for the court battle on the divorce action of Lita Grey Chaplin against Charles Chaplin today engrossed the legal armies of attorneys, secretaries and auditors representing the comedian and his young wife.

In both camps yesterday either silence or denials greeted the persistent and repeatedly published reports that a property settlement would be made and the trial, scheduled for Monday, would not be upon the charges of Mrs. Chaplin's original complaint, but upon routine accusations of cruelty.

Published reports, upon which attorneys were noncommittal, were to the effect that Mrs. Chaplin would be paid $850,000 or slightly more in five-year payments as a result of a property agreement being mentioned. The actor in the reported settlement plan would retain the right to see his two small sons at any time, although he would give Mrs. Chaplin custody of them.

CANONSBURG'S OLDEST WOMAN REACHES 93

WASHINGTON, Pa., Aug. 19.—Mrs. Mary McMillan Manes, only living grandchild of Dr. John McMillan, pioneer minister and educator, founder of Jefferson College, celebrated her ninetieth birthday at the home of her son, Culbert Manes, Canonsburg. Mrs. Manes is Canonsburg's oldest citizen. She is a daughter of the late John and Mary Johnston McMillan. She has 29 direct descendants living.

LANG ADVOCATES EMERGENCY FUND BOOST

The city's contingent fund should be materially increased, said Director of Public Works Edward G. Lang today, commenting upon estimates indicating that a deficit of approximately $600,000 will face Pittsburgh at the end of this year.

The contingent fund at present is only $50,000 and was used long ago. As a result, it may be found necessary to increase the city tax one mill when Council takes up the budget. Emergency appropriations made necessary in a number of cases by slides account for the increasing deficiency.

"Slides cannot be foreseen," said Director Lang, urging a larger contingent fund to take care of such emergencies. Discussing such emergency appropriations as the $70,000 set aside recently for repairs to the Ellsworth avenue bridge, the director said that in the case of bridges "false economy is really rank extravagance."

"While I hold this position my policy will be to take no chances," he said. "The bridges will be well built, carefully watched and repaired as quickly as necessary."

MAN INJURED AS CAR CLIMBS BANK INTO POLE

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Aug. 19.—Harry Browers, of Beaver Falls, is recovering from slight injuries today as the result of a miraculous escape from death when the car in which he was riding climbed a six-foot embankment, struck a wire and crashed into a telephone pole near here yesterday. In trying to avoid another car, his machine skidded on the wet road. Browers was cut on the head and arm.

Wounded Guard Tells Story of Jail Break

Jack Hanlon, one of the two guards shot in the escape of Paul Jaworski and John Vasbinder yesterday, from his bed in Mercy Hospital, told of what he saw in the jail outbreak.

"I was down in the bullpen when I heard the shots. I walked up the stairs and saw Jaworski with the gun. I walked towards him and he turned and saw me and fired. I remember throwing up my arm and that's where the bullet caught me.

"Riger, the other guard who was shot, was in the outside office and I couldn't see that part of the break."

1 KILLED, 3 HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Altoona, Pa., Aug. 19.—Francis Wilson, 20, was killed and three others injured, two seriously, late Thursday, when a motorcycle on which they were riding crashed into an automobile on the Cumberland turnpike near Bedford.

The injured: William Wilson, 11, brother of the dead man; Chester Kegg, 11, and Chalmers Kegg, 17, all of Bedford.

Two persons in the automobile were slightly injured.

NAME OVERSEERS FOR ANNEXATION BALLOT

Judge George V. Moore in Common Pleas Court today appointed overseers for three Penn township election districts to serve in the special election Tuesday on annexation to Pittsburgh. John Hickey and John Amon were named for the Fifth district; W. G. Welte and John Roberts for the Sixth precinct, and Gertrude Lotz and J. H. Marshall in the Ninth district.

REPUBLICANS TO HOLD MEET AT BRENTWOOD

Republican organization candidates will speak tonight at a mass meeting in the Elroy School, Brentwood. Maxwell Gordon will preside. The first meeting of the campaign was held last night at the Winters playground, Monastery street, South Side.

Girl's Dream of Gayety Is Halted by Law

Instead of a good time, joy rides, parties and sleek-haired sheiks for companions which she had pictured, Mary Nicholas, 18, of 4527 Grant street, Fairmont, W. Va., found the stern arm of the law and a cell in the matron's department in Central Police Station.

Four men picked the young woman up along a road near the city and took her for a ride. She told physicians at St. Margaret's Hospital, where she was taken yesterday afternoon, that they had attacked her. Mary spent the night at the hospital. Today she sat behind steel bars, dejected and melancholy.

"When my mother, father and four sisters were killed in an automobile accident in Lorain, O., last year," the young woman told the matron, "I lost all interest in life. I wanted to get away from home and see the world." Miss Nicholas told the matron that she was through with the gayeties of life. "All I want is another chance."

It will be up to Magistrate A. D. Brandon of Morals Court tomorrow morning. She will be arraigned on a charge of runaway.

3 WIVES SEEK DIVORCES

Libels in divorce were filed in Common Pleas Court today by three wives charging their husbands with cruel and barbarous treatment. They are: Eleanor I. Doverspike, 1906 Fox street, South Side, against George C. Doverspike, 522 Arch street, North Side; Hilda Marie Milligan, 727 Main street, McKeesport, against Ralph H. Milligan, 607 Gearing street, Beltzhoover; Ellen Elizabeth Jones, 5454 Fair Oaks street, against William Thomas Jones, 2331 Sidney street. Pete Ferret, 597 Chartiers avenue, McKees Rocks, filed a libel in divorce against Katherine Ferret, 2022 Fifth avenue, alleging infidelity.

PLAN WREATH FOR FRENCH SOLDIER'S TOMB

Eleven members of the Burt Foster Post No. 363, American Legion, of McKeesport, who will sail September 8 for Paris to attend the American Legion convention, have made plans for placing a wreath on the tomb of France's unknown soldier.

Beau Brummels in 'Plus Fours' Rob Munhall Store

Paris has nothing on Pittsburgh for being original in setting styles. A chain grocery store in Eighth avenue, Munhall, was jimmied and entered early this morning. Two youths, dressed in plus fours, stockings that would put Bobby Jones to shame for loudness, and ties resembling a "rainbow in color, "pulled" the job. Two men on their way to work saw the beau brummels at work. They were carrying merchandise from the store to an automobile parked nearby. When the young men saw the workmen, they jumped into their machine and sped away. Several hundred dollars worth of merchandise and $19 in cash comprised the loot.

HUSBAND IS HELD FOR MURDER ON WIFE'S TIP

Arbelle Marsh, 59, a Syrian, of 604 Forbes street, charged by his wife with the killing of a man in Boston 18 years ago, has been held by the police for investigation by the Boston authorities. The accusation was made after Marsh had paid a $10 fine in Morals Court today on a charge of disorderly conduct preferred by his wife, who declared that he had beaten her. Marsh denied the story of the killing.

CONNEAUT LAKE AWAITS BEAUTY QUEEN CONTEST

CONNEAUT LAKE, Pa., Aug. 19.—This resort's annual argument as to whether a blonde or brunet is the queen of pulchritude is being revived as the bathing beauty contest to be held on August 24 nears.

CRAWLS UNDER TRUCK, KILLED

Out of work and without funds, Stanislaw Marnik, 41, of 1568 East Forty-third street, Cleveland, O., crawled under a heavy truck of the Harmony Creamery Company, parked in South Tenth street, on Wednesday and waited for the truck to start, according to a story related to the coroner's deputies today.

At first it was believed he had been a victim of a hit and run driver, but two witnesses were found who reported Marnik had crawled under the machine. When the truck was started, the heavy wheels crushed his chest.

FEARS AMERICAN CAPITAL WILL DOMINATE ALBERTA

LONDON, Aug. 19.—J. E. Browalie, Premier of Alberta, on leaving London for home, expressed the fear that control of Canada's wealth is passing too much into the hands of Americans. I am going back to Alberta frankly of the opinion that British authorities are not much interested. "American financiers, however, are keenly watching and waiting all the time for chances to step in. We have no difficulty in getting American capital."

Expect Jaworski Gang To Fight to Death

"Jaworski is the most desperate criminal we have ever had confined in the Allegheny county jail," said Andrew T. Park, first assistant district attorney, in charge of the prosecutor's office during the absence of District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner, who is on a vacation tour.

"We have covered every angle to the case and expect these murderers, Jaworski and Vasbinder, and their confederates to be captured momentarily," continued Park. "The officers in the pursuit realize that they have desperate men to contend with, men who would die rather than surrender.

"Jaworski was convicted of murder and was awaiting sentence to the death chair. So daring an escape was his lone hope of life."

"The visitor at the bars brought the guns around into the office and gave them to Jaworski," said Harris. "There were no weapons on the clerks. It is the first time guns have ever been smuggled into the jail, and given into the hands of prisoners."

M'GOVERN SCANS FINDINGS OF AUDITORS

County Controller C. C. McGovern today was reviewing figures submitted by auditors examining the books of the County Commissioners and of the Allegheny County Department of Public Works. The Commissioners are represented by Frank Willett, contract and bond clerk, and Edward P. Wuenstel, bookkeeper in the public works department.

After a check of the first figures submitted, the Controller said that the investigation has developed enough to sustain his contention that some of the bond fund accounts are overdrawn. No time has been set for a resumption of the public audit of county books forced by the Controller under an ancient law.

ENGINEMEN AND FIREMEN INDORSE 3 CANDIDATES

T. P. Collins, recording secretary of Glenwood Lodge No. 218, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, announced today that his organization has indorsed the candidacies of Judges James H. Gray and Frank I. Gollmar and Controller C. C. McGovern for re-election.

PARTICULAR THIEF TAKES ONLY JEWELRY

A thief entered the home of Mrs. Rose Kamarek, 154 Fullerton street, early today, made away with a diamond ring and a lavalliere worth $185, but ignored other valuables.

GUNS ROAR IN POLICE FEUD

WILLIAMSON, Va., Aug. 19.—Two patrolmen were shot and killed today in a fight with two other officers who have been serving as police under a dual regime for the last three months.

D. W. Deerfield, 45, and Harvey McGuire, 46, were shot down in a battle with Julius Lawson and James Kirkpatrick, officers under a rival political city administration.

The shooting affray was the climax of an attempt by Deerfield and McGuire to arrest the driver of a milk truck for improper traffic lights.

The truck belonged to the Hutchinson Milk Company, whose owner voted to oust Deerfield and McGuire along with the other members of the police department three months ago. Lawson and Kirkpatrick were members of the department appointed to replace them.

As Deerfield and McGuire started to take the truck for the alleged law violation, Lawson and Kirkpatrick are alleged to have opened fire on them.

As he lay in the street in a dying condition, McGuire managed to reach his revolver and fired one bullet, which wounded Kirkpatrick in the leg.

EXPOSURE FATAL TO MAN

Taken to the St. Francis Hospital Wednesday after he had been found lying in front of his home, John Powers, 61, of 1918 Penn avenue, died yesterday from pneumonia, resulting from exposure.

AS PAUL JAWORSKI :-: RUTHLESSLY SHOT WAY :-: FROM JAIL TO FREEDOM

HE LED BREAK

BARS NO OBSTACLE

Ross street entrance to county jail. It was just inside these barred doors that the liberator passed the five revolvers to Jaworski, following which he, with John Vasbinder, another convicted murderer, shot way to freedom, wounding two guards. On the stairway just outside this door the three toppled over Mrs. Betty Horning, 208 Stockton avenue.

WITNESS

I. T. Williams, who was visiting in the jail when the daring delivery took place, witnessed the dash into Ross street and the car which carried the prisoners to freedom.

SAW DASH

BOMB WRECKS PHILA. CAFE

VENGEANCE ON OWNER HELD AS MOTIVE

PHILADELPHIA, Aug 19.—A bomb explosion rocked homes in South Philadelphia here today, shattering windows, terrorizing residents and damaging the cafe of James Tracey.

Police believe that friends of four men, whose arrest Tracey caused recently as suspicious characters, were to blame.

PEKIN POLICE HEAD PUTS SHORT SKIRTS ON BAN

While war is raging throughout China, the Prefect of the Pekin police has found time to issue an edict forbidding women to wear short hair, short skirts or decollete gowns, and threatening those who do not obey with severe punishment.

Girl Owner Begs Ride, Guides Auto Thief Right to Jail

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Aug. 19—Palmer Riggs, 18, knows now that it wasn't exactly his manly charm that caused Miss Ruth Skibitski, stenographer, and a stranger to him, to propose that they go riding together yesterday.

Riggs agreed to the proposal and obligingly accompanied the girl into the city hall when she requested him to do so as they passed the building.

There, Miss Skibitski asked police to arrest Riggs for stealing her automobile which had been missing for 11 days and which she had recognized. Riggs said the car had been given him by a man named Smith, but he was held under $500 bond.

SISTER BENEFICIARY OF MT. PLEASANT WOMAN

Realty in Westmoreland, Somerset and Allegheny counties valued at $30,000 and personal effects worth $1000 are devised by Alice E. Hitchman, of Mt. Pleasant borough, Westmoreland county, in her will admitted to probate today, to her sister, Mary Hitchman, for a life estate.

PROSPERITY TO LAST, SAY SCHWAB, PERSHING

CHICAGO, Aug. 19—(AP)—"Prosperity is here to stay," said Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the board of the Bethlehem Steel Company.

"The west never looked so abundant with crops," said Gen. John J. Pershing.

CAVERN CLOAKS FATE OF LOST EXPLORER

SHELLMOUND, Tenn., Aug. 19.—(AP)—A granite walled cave, once the stronghold of freebooters, housed within its uncharted regions today the answer to the fate of Lawrence S. Ashley, geologist and underground explorer, who disappeared within its deep recesses Monday morning.

Nick-A-Jack cave, 29 miles west of Chattanooga, held fast the one man that possibly had lauded its wonders more widely than any other person. Ashley, ever fascinated by its marvels held the cavern in higher regard than Mammoth cave.

A seventh party of explorers took up the search for the missing geologist last night when the sixth band staggered out of its murky entrance after a futile eight-hour tramp through the mysterious windings revealed no trace of the missing man and only a cryptic sign, "L. S. A. 196," scrawled on a rock far within, which friends believed was merely a guide marker used by Ashley.

Ashley, advising intimates that he intended penetrating deep into the cave for further investigations, entered the cavern with only a few sandwiches and a small quantity of carbide for his lamps, both of which searchers conclude were consumed hours ago.

Weather Conditions.

Low pressure continues along the Atlantic Coast, and the resulting cloudy and showery conditions cover the Atlantic Coast states and westward to the Ohio Valley and the lower Lakes. The northwest high drifted southward and this morning covers the entire Plains states and Rocky Mountain section, with its crest over South Dakota, Western Nebraska and Western Kansas. The high is attended by generally clear skies, but it is causing much below normal temperature over practically the entire country east of the Rocky Mountains.

RICHMAN'S
CLOTHES

Established 1879

Who Wears Richman's Clothes?

THE man to whom economy is important? Yes! But don't think for a minute that our entire output is sold only on price appeal. Thousands of men who can well afford to pay $100 a suit are buying Richman's Clothes—many buy three or four suits at a time, for the price they formerly paid for one—they wear Richman's Clothes because they like them, and not through any necessity to save.

For there is unmistakable quality in Richman's Clothes—quality in the style, created by a designing staff of international reputation—quality in the woolens and linings, procured at rock bottom prices through huge quantity cash buying power—quality in every stitch of the tailoring our stockholding workers put into Richman's Clothes—quality for which you would have to pay $40, or more, where it not for these advantages, and the savings of our direct from factory selling plan.

Whether the price saving means much or little to you, there's a lot of satisfaction in making a shrewd purchase—and no apology is needed for Richman's Clothes in any company.

CRIMINAL SUIT BEGUN UNDER RADIO LAW

By Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The first criminal proceedings under the new radio law is under way with the Federal Radio Commission filing a complaint with the Department of Justice alleging that station KWKH, owned and operated by W. K. Anderson, capitalist, of Shreveport, La., has violated the radio control regulations. Pointing out that Anderson at a public hearing before the commission on August 16 had admitted broadcasting for 40 days with a power of 3,000 watts instead of the maximum of 1,000 allowed him under his Federal license, the commission asked the department "forthwith to take the necessary steps for instituting criminal proceedings against station KWKH, under section 32 of the radio act of 1927."

The case will be turned over to the United States Attorney at Shreveport for further action. Conviction would carry a maximum penalty of $5,000.

In consideration of the fact that the action of station KWKH in this respect does not appear in the public interest" the commission moreover placed the station on a part time basis, decreeing that henceforth it shall divide time with [illegible] kilocycle wave length with station KMA, of Shenandoah, Ia.

The forthcoming proceedings will be the first test of the new radio law in the courts.

HIT BIGGEST GAS WELL IN SOUTH

The Lochbrager Oil and Gas Company, of 427 Seventh avenue, is the owner of a gas well drilled in this week near Natchez, Miss., which is being described as "the largest ever struck in all Louisiana."

The officers of the Pittsburgh company are Edward W. Gwinner, president; E. L. Ainsworth, vice president; F. V. Ghiard, secretary; F. L. Norton, treasurer, and C. L. Williams, geologist.

The well is at Wallace's Ridge and a few hours after coming in was estimated to be making 50,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily, with the possibility of producing oil.

32,000 MADE HOMELESS BY RUSSIAN FLOOD

VLADIVOSTOK, Russia, Aug. 19.—Sixty-eight persons are known to have perished in floods of the Amur and Issuri rivers. The high peak of the flood is not yet reached and heavy rains continue. Food and tents have been sent to alleviate the suffering. It is estimated that 32,000 persons are homeless. Looters are preying in the devastated regions. The Red troops shot down 20 of these marauders.

Like popcorn—freshly popped popcorn—that's how Heinz Rice Flakes taste. And they stay crisp in milk or cream! The new Heinz process does it. A process which also makes use of the natural roughage element of the rice itself. This gives a moisture-absorbing quality which is one of Nature's best eliminative aids. That's why Heinz Rice Flakes are both good—and good for you!

Give the children all they want

Little eyes grow big with delight when they see these double-crisp and golden corn flakes. Little appetites ask for more when they taste the deliciousness of Post Toasties. Flaked from the tender hearts of corn, expertly seasoned, then toasted to a crisp oven-brown, Post Toasties are the corn flakes with the true delicate flavor of the corn.

Serve Post Toasties often with milk or cream. Try them, too, with fresh fruits and berries. Ask your grocer for Post Toasties, and make sure that you get the corn flakes that stay crisp in milk or cream. The real Post Toasties come in the red and yellow, wax-wrapped package that keeps them crisp and ready to serve.

AERIAL EXPRESS WILL START SEPT. 1

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—A nation-wide aerial express service will be opened next month by the American Express Company, President Cowie announces. Air mail lines already established will carry the express packages, which they are permitted to do under their government contracts. The rates for packages sent by express will be less than the cost by air mail, though the time required to send them will be the same as the air mail.

Contracts for the express routes already have been signed, Cowie said. The routes reach from coast to coast. The new project will rival in extent the highly developed commercial air services of Europe, Cowie declared, equalling them in mileage and surpassing them in express service.

The first routes to be placed in operation are between Boston and New York and between New York, Chicago and Dallas. Shipments from Boston or New York leaving at night will be delivered at the opening of business next morning in Chicago.

The cost of package between New York and Chicago will be 25 cents a quarter pound, with a minimum charge of $1.

Will Scents Calamity In Delay of Ford's Announcement

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Aug. 19.—Herb Hoover is out here among us. He is just waiting around between calamities. When we, as individuals, get sick or hurt, we send for a doctor. But when whole states get sick we send for Hoover. He is America's family physician. He is a great guy, is Doc Hoover, and I hope they don't spoil him by putting him into politics.

If my good friend Mr. Ford don't hurry up with his new model, the next national catastrophe Hoover will be called on for the rescue, will be the Ford dealers.

Just plain citizen.

WATCH CAR JUST AHEAD, MOTOR CLUB ADVISES

"If you want to live a little longer when driving an automobile always keep at least 15 feet behind the motorist ahead of you, while traveling at a speed of more than 15 miles an hour," says C. H. Roth, secretary of the Pittsburgh Motor Club, which is conducting a motorists' safety campaign. "Don't forget also, that you are flirting with death when you hug street cars. Remember that a trolley cannot change its course and it may stop when least expected, or may suddenly round a corner. Only on a one-way street can a street car be passed on the left side. Don't assume that a trolley has passed, just because you see its tracks."

SPECIAL NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS

OFFICE OF
TREASURER OF ALLEGHENY COUNTY, PITTSBURGH, PENNSYLVANIA

May 1, 1927.

In pursuance of the 21st section of an "Act relating to Allegheny County," approved the 1st day of May, 1861, and of the amendment to said section, approved the 30th day of March, A. D. 1866, I do hereby give notice that the duplicate for the several wards of the cities of Pittsburgh, McKeesport, Duquesne and Clairton, boroughs and townships, will be open, and I will be prepared to receive the county, poor, road, bond interest and personal property taxes for the year 1927, May 1st. Said taxes can be paid during the months of May, June and July at 5% discount, during August at face, a 10% penalty being added after September 1st.

Statements will be furnished promptly upon written request, giving location by wards in the cities of Pittsburgh, McKeesport, Duquesne and Clairton, and by boroughs and townships.

Use of the mail is advised for requesting statements and in making payments of taxes. Remittance can be made by check, postoffice or American Express money order, or bank draft (payable to Samuel D. Foster, County Treasurer), and accompanied by an addressed stamped envelope for return of receipt tax bill or statement.

SAMUEL D. FOSTER,
County Treasurer.

DISTRICT BEAUTIES WHO WIN VACATIONS

"MISS HIPPODROME" "MISS COLONIAL" "MISS STATE" "MISS GARDEN"

Roasting Ear Shortage Blamed on Weather

Unusual weather conditions this year are responsible for a shortage of roasting ears. Local merchants are finding it almost impossible to secure a high grade of corn. "Most of the ears on the market are nothing more than nubbins," a purchasing agent for a large downtown market said. "Thrifty housewives turn up their noses when they see the scanty ears and refuse to buy."

According to merchants the weather was the reverse of what it should have been. When crops were planted the weather was dry and the soil hard and baked. It should have been wet and moist. As the crops grew, the continuous rain of April, May and June flooded the soil and stunted the crops. While the corn was maturing the weather should have been more or less dry. In addition to these elements, lack of sunshine and warm nights played an important part in causing the shortage.

"Nature is responsible for the shortage," another merchant said. "The farmers have done their bit and the merchants are trying to do theirs by making an effort to purchase corn to the satisfaction of the consumers."

SECRETARY MELLON DUE IN NEW YORK AUGUST 30

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, who has spent the summer cruising on the Mediterranean with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David K. E. Bruce, and his son Paul Mellon, will reach New York August 30. He will return by way of England, on the Leviathan.

WOOLAROC 'PROP' MADE HERE

Pittsburgh again is to the fore as a producer of airplane propellers. The blade used on the monoplane Woolaroc, piloted by Arthur C. Goebel, movie stunt flier, winner of the Pacific air derby, is a Pittsburgh product manufactured by the Standard Steel Propeller Company at West Homestead. The same company made the propeller used on the Spirit of St. Louis when Col. Charles A. Lindbergh made his transatlantic flight.

GEOGRAPHIC SOCIETY TO AID BYRD'S FLIGHT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The National Geographic Society announces that it will co-operate with the Antarctic expedition of Commander Richard E. Byrd by sending scientific observers and contributing $25,000 from its exploration fund for scientific equipment.

Restful sleep . . .
A way to enjoy it every night

A WAY that thousands have used for over a third of a century—one that seldom, if ever, fails.

Simply do this to-night—prepare a glass of Horlick's Malted Milk and drink it just before going to bed.

You will sense at once a relaxation and feeling of well-being. Sleep will come naturally and you will wake in the morning rested and refreshed.

"Horlick's," at the same time, nourishes, strengthens, builds up wonderfully in run-down conditions. Physicians the world over endorse it.

LANDS AT BETTIS FIELD, FRIDAY, AUG. 19th
AT 11 A. M. (PGH. DAYLIGHT TIME)
(REMAINS ALSO SATURDAY AND SUNDAY)

YOU'VE ALWAYS wanted to get inside of an aeroplane. And here's your opportunity—Now! Just walk into this giant Sikorsky as you would walk into any other United Cigar Store. Enjoy the novel experience of buying from the world's first flying store. But make no mistake about this store—it's far more than a wonderful novelty . . . . It's a wonderful enterprise . . . . First proof that Aviation is what Colonel Lindbergh set out to prove—a practical commercial force—with unlimited possibilities.

Everybody Is Invited

Come early! The huge Sikorsky plane, itself, is worth seeing. And the experience is one you'll never forget. You can buy! You can send a box of cigars or any other United merchandise via this plane to friends and relatives in the cities it touches. Come! Join with the crowds in celebrating the advent of the first real flying store in the world. There's something new under the sun after all!

These fine cigars

THE United Cigar Stores carry the widest range of the world's best cigars. The following are a few of the nationally advertised brands carried in the First Flying United Cigar Store:

RICORO
The Mild Porto Rican Cigar

ORLANDO

OPTIMO

LA PALINA

CIGARS UNITED

Over 3300 United Stores and Agencies Selling Our Merchandise.

UNITED CIGAR STORES
Largest in the world because we serve the people best

United Certificates Are Like Money When Used For Buying Standard Trade Marked Merchandise In Our Premium Stations Throughout The Country. As In All Our Stores United Certificates Are Given With Every Purchase In The Flying Store.

You can also buy these famous products right off the plane!

Big as the first flying United Cigar Store is, it will be readily understood that it can not carry all of the merchandise sold in United Cigar Stores. And so a selection of the following famous products was made—each product a leader in its field.

Old Briar Tobacco

Here is the wonderful smoking tobacco that is bringing back to pipe smokers all of the old peace, contentment, satisfaction and solid comfort of pipe smoking. Out at the field, today, make sure that you get a supply of Old Briar. Get the double thrill of buying from the plane and enjoying the best pipe smoke ever made. 25c

United States Tobacco Co., Richmond, Va.

Drinkless Kaywoodie Pipes—These are the sensational pipes that guarantee you everlasting pipe happiness. A scientific device built into the stem acts as an absolute barrier to "juice" ever getting into your mouth. No matter how hard you try—you can't get a drink from a Drinkless Kaywoodie pipe—always sweet and cool!

Kaufmann Bros. & Bondy, Inc., New York, N.Y.

Eastman Cameras

Nearly everyone will want to take their own pictures of the world's first flying store. And, even if you don't own a Kodak or camera now, you can buy a genuine Eastman with genuine Eastman film right off the plane—then take "snaps" to your heart's content. The Flying Cigar Store besides carrying genuine Eastman film carries two popular Eastman cameras—the $1.00 Camera, box style, and the popular $1.00 Folding Camera.

Eastman Kodak Co., Rochester, N. Y.

Gillette Razors and Blades—These world famous razors and blades need no introduction to anybody. Gold plated or silver plated razors—blades in packages of 10. You can get them at the field. Prices are from 98c for the razors. The blades are 75c.

Gillette Safety Razor Company, Boston, Mass.

Beech-Nut Chewing Gum & Fruit Drops

Beech-Nut Packing Company, Canajoharie, N.Y.

Ingraham Clocks and Watches—The Dawn Nickel Plated Alarm Clock at $1.00 has an automatic stem shut-off, concealed bell—a feature found in much higher priced clocks; aluminum rustproof back and 30-hour movement. The Aurora at $1.98 is equally fine value and has all the most modern features. The Bristol Dollar pocket watch—thin model—is the ideal watch for everyday use.

The E. Ingraham Company, Bristol, Conn.

Florin Leather Goods

Among the leather specialties of this leading manufacturer we are featuring in the Flying Store, the Key case at 49c—genuine calf skin with 14K 1/10th stock gold corners; the Wallet at $1.00—genuine Pinseal with 14K 1/10th stock gold corners and the Twofold Hip Book with two pass holders at $1.00—genuine calf skin.

Philip Florin, New York, N.Y.

Diamond Matches

Probably more cigars, cigarettes and pipes are lighted with Diamond matches than with all other matches put together. Diamond Matches are a part of every United Cigar Store. Naturally they are aboard the First Flying Cigar Store.

The Diamond Match Co., New York, N.Y.

CARNEGIE STEEL UNITING PLANTS

Site Sales First Step In Concentration.

A system of integrated plant operations is being promoted by the Carnegie Steel Company through recent and contemplated sales of lands owned by the company.

The sale of the old by-product plant at Sharon to the Sharon Steel Hoop Company, recently, and that of some land near the plant of the Edgewater Steel Company at Oakmont, to the latter company, are steps toward the concentration of operations in fewer plants.

It is now reported that the steel company is considering a bid from the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad for the property occupied by the Isabella Blast Furnace in Etna. The furnaces at Etna, which were used to produce ferro-manganese, but which have been idle for some time, are not really necessary to the company due to the facilities of other plants, it was said. The railroad company wants the land for a freight yard.

There is also said to be some consideration regarding the disposal of the Lucy furnace property in Fifty-first street, although the company has been using the two blast furnaces there when in need of extra pig iron.

ASSASSIN KILLS BROKER'S WIFE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—(AP.)—Mrs. Grace Philpot, 30, wife of Thomas J. Philpot, broker and dealer in golf supplies here, was killed as she stepped from the garage at her home here last night by a mysterious assassin who fired three shots at her and escaped. Police said two shots struck the woman. Powder burns on her face indicated one shot had been fired at close range.

WOMEN'S FEDERATION APPLIES FOR CHARTER

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Aug. 19.—Application for a charter has been made by the New Castle Federation of Women's Clubs. The executive committee, which applied for the charter, consists of Mrs. Charles Greer, chairman; Mrs. S. M. Matheny, vice chairman; Miss Mollie Davis, secretary, Mrs. W. H. Pond, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. J. C. Raney, treasurer.

The federation, comprised of 20 different organizations, will erect a club house, centrally located, or rebuild the house already in use.

Baltimore, Maryland

Dear Sir:

Upon my return to New York, I want to take the opportunity to thank you for your cable messages received at Berlin, congratulating me upon the successful completion of my transatlantic flight and I in turn want to congratulate you and your Company on the excellent quality of your Amoco-Gas which I used on my trip across.

With the very limited fuel capacity of the Bellanca plane "Columbia", I wanted to be sure to select a gasoline that would deliver the maximum power per gallon and at the same time offer the greatest fuel economy.

After exhaustive tests with a number of competitive products, we selected your Amoco-Gas.

As you know, we had on our flight very troublesome headwinds clear up to Newfoundland and over the Atlantic we were at times compelled to climb up to 31,000 feet altitude and again to drop within a few hundred feet of the ocean in order to dodge heavy storms. From the time we reached the British Isles until our landing at Eisleben, Germany, we were lost in heavy fogs throwing us considerably off our course, so that the actual distance flown amounted to about 4400 miles.

Throughout the entire trip our Whirlwind motor never faltered once. I attribute the fact that we were able to cover the above distance and remain in the air for more than 43 hours to the quality of your product.

Sincerely yours,
Clarence D Chamberlin

Clarence Chamberlin, the daring aviator who flew from New York to Germany, setting the long distance non-stop flight record of 3905 miles, is generous with his praise of AMOCO-GAS (Aviation Grade)—the fuel which furnished unfailing power on his transatlantic flight.

AMOCO-GAS, the choice of champions on land and in the air, excels in the usual tasks as it does in the achievements which win world-wide applause!

WAYNESBURG CALMS AS CASH IS SENT TO BANK

CLAMOR DIES AS MONEY AID IS RUSHED

By EDWARD C. SYKES,
Staff Correspondent.

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Aug. 19.—Hundreds of persons who had started to work themselves into a frenzy because of the closing of the Citizens National Bank have calmed down. There is today more money in the banks of Greene county than ever before in its history, for Pittsburgh and Washington banks have rushed several armored truckloads of cash in with this word: "If you need more command us."

Widows, orphans, business men and people in general are feeling the effects of the closing of the bank for their very all has been tied up. But with assurance by those in charge that everything in the bank has been found regular and no depositor will lose anything, a decidedly optimistic feeling now prevails.

Wagging tongues, generally blamed for spreading malicious stories regarding the soundness of the bank and leading to its closing to prevent a run, have caused an endless number of persons to wander aimlessly around without money to buy anything. Many have to depend on the good graces of their friends to help them in the present crisis.

"The work of making an appraisal of the bank's assets is progressing and will be completed before the end of the week," said Attorney Joseph Patton, also a director of the Citizens National Bank. George D. Wick, of the law firm of Reed, Smith, Shaw & McClay, of Pittsburgh, is here going over the assets and assisting in the reorganization of the bank, which will surely be brought about. We are all satisfied that there will be no trouble in disposing of all of the stock in the new bank, being organized out of the old one."

It is felt here that many features are involved in the closing of the bank, including politics.

BOMB U. S. SOFIA LEGATION

LONDON, Aug. 19.—(AP)—The explosion of a bomb last night between the American legation in Sofia and the house occupied by Prof. Molloff, Bulgarian minister of finance, is reported in a Vienna dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company. No one was injured and there was no damage.

MOTHERS SCREEN GANG FROM POLICE BULLETS

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—Women searching through alleys for their children prevented the shooting and possible capture of a gang of robbers, authorities said after the band had escaped. When the robbers walked into a trap set for them, a battle followed, but the appearance of the mothers prevented further shooting. One of the gangsters was wounded.

TWO NAVAL OFFICERS HURT IN AUTO CRASH

RENO, Nev., Aug. 19.—Rear Admiral L. M. Gregory, U. S. N., was seriously injured in an automobile accident near Mina, in Southern Nevada, when the car in which he was riding overturned. State Senator John H. Peterson was driving. Commander Myron C. Baker of Mare Island Navy Yard was slightly injured.

OFFICER HELD IN MAN'S DEATH

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 19.—(AP.)—After a day in which he escaped from a bed in a hospital, returned to his rooming house, barricaded himself in his room with a shotgun, defied police and threatened to kill a woman nurse, David S. Hudson, 79, paroled in 1922 from life imprisonment for a murder in Louisville in 1916, was shot and killed as he lay in his bed in New Albany, Ind., last night.

Constable William Welton, 26, of New Albany, is being held without bond on a murder charge as a result of Hudson's death and police are searching for the owner of a .38 caliber pistol from which a bullet had been fired into Hudson's body along with two .45 caliber bullets said to be from Welton's gun.

HOUSE IN 14TH WARD BRINGS $30,000

A cement house at 6001 Dalzell place, Fourteenth Ward, has been sold by Bernard Goldstoff to Anna S. Plesset for $30,000. The lot is 31x137 feet.

The Haffner Coffee Company is completing plans for a five-story fireproof building on the ground recently purchased from the Catanzaro estate at 2419 Penn avenue. The total investment will approximate $50,000. The lot is 24x100 feet. The commercial building and dwellings now occupying it will be razed. Albert A. Murrer of the Franklin Savings & Trust Company closed the deal.

Walter A. Scott has sold to Flora E. and Gertrude Langenheim 244x250 feet vacant in the Fox Chapel road, O'Hara Township. This is in a highly restricted residential district. It is understood that Scott & McCune were the brokers.

The Gribben Company, represented by John J. McKenna, sold for M. W. Sage to B. Moszlewski 20x70 feet with a frame dwelling at 3422 Ligonier street, Sixth Ward, for a private consideration.

F. B. Duffy sold for James O'Riley, et al, to Charles M. Taylor a two-story brick dwelling at 1911 Termon avenue for $8,900; for Winifred McLaughlin to James Onorato, a two-story frame dwelling at 1515 Sheffield street, $3,250; for Lydia Williams to Ralph Opepari, a two-story brick dwelling at 1232 Rush street, $2,000.

Building permit applications filed today included:

Nineteenth Ward—C. O. Cruner, brick dwelling, 913 Berkshire avenue, $6,000; T. O'Donnell, dwelling, 229 Sweetbriar street, $5,000; F. M. Grant, concrete block garage, rear 115 Meridan street, $1,000.

Claiming their home was entered unlawfully and that they were arrested on a charge of which they were not guilty, Miss Marie Hyer, 19, of 120 Ivy street, Edgewood, and her mother, Mrs. Bertha Hyer, in Common Pleas Court, filed suit for $25,000 against Bantz Craddock, prosecuting attorney of Gilmore county, W. Va., and Thad W. Byrne, 45, grocer, at Glenville, W. Va.

The women, according to papers filed in the action, were charged by Byrne with theft of a $600 diamond ring and other articles Miss Hyer claims were gifts to her. After action had been instituted by Byrne, West Virginia authorities and Edgewood police went to the Hyer home. When police found a pawn ticket for the ring, the papers claim, they forced mother and daughter to accompany them to a Smithfield street jewelry store and procure the ring.

Craddock on returning to West Virginia is alleged to have issued a warrant for the arrest of mother and daughter on a charge of grand larceny.

PORTER SENT UP FOR THEFT

A. W. East, Negro Pullman porter, of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, was sentenced to serve six months in the workhouse by Judge George V. Moore, in Criminal Court, when he entered a plea of guilty to a charge of stealing a watch and other jewelry from W. H. Frank, of Pittsburgh, August 11, while the latter was a passenger on a train between Buffalo and Pittsburgh.

POOR MUST BE KEPT BY KIN, COURT RULES

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—Relatives are responsible for the keep of their poorer relations, according to a decision handed down by Judge Edmund K. Jarecki. He ruled that a father must support a child, next the grandfather, then the mother and then a grandmother. In the case of aged or infirm men and women, their children must support them, if they have no children, then brothers, if no brothers then sisters are responsible, providing they are unmarried. And only when these have been exhausted are the charity coffers of Cook county open to the public.

WOUNDED JAIL GUARD

TREATED AT HOSPITAL

Deputy Guard John D. Hanlon, county jail, who was wounded with Guard Harry Riger by revolvers that threatened death as two murderers shot their way to freedom. Hanlon, shot in the right arm, was treated at Mercy Hospital.

Noted Men to Attend Plane Model Finals

The finals of the National Aircraft Model contest will be held in Pittsburgh August 30 before a distinguished group of leaders in Western Pennsylvania. While the district meets will be held next Wednesday, the finals, slated for Schenley Oval, will have in it the best of the exhibits entered in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Bureau of Recreation contest.

Mayor Charles H. Kline, chief executive of the city, has accepted the chairmanship of the committee. Noted aviators and civic leaders and officials are on the committee which includes:

Raymond M. Marlier, president of the Pittsburgh Aero Club; W. C. Batchelor, superintendent of the Bureau of Recreation, and associate conductor of the aircraft model contest. James J. Wagner of Mayer Aircraft Corporation, who is also chairman of junior activities, National Aeronautic Association; Col. Harry Fry, chairman of aeronautics, Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce; Capt. Thomas S. Voss, commandant, Rodgers Flying Field; Edward G. Lang, director, Department of Public Works; Maj. Norman Peek, manager of Bettis Flying Field; Marcus Aaron, president, Board of Public Education; Warren I. Bickford, chairman of recreation, Civic Club; Mayor Charles Kline, chairman of the committee and Daniel Winters, president of City Council.

PITTSBURGH HIKING CLUB TO VISIT NEW NORTH PARK

The Pittsburgh Hiking Club will walk Sunday through the new North Park, starting from Sample on the Butler Short Line. Take the Butler Short Line car at Penn and Stanwix at 8:30 a. m.

DISABLING BULLET

The bullet which disabled County Jail Guard Harry Riger, fired from the revolvers that blazed a path from the jail to freedom for two convicted murderers. The bullet, a steel-jacketed 45-caliber automatic missile, went through Riger's right arm, shattering two bones and the nerve center, and lodged in his right hip. When it was removed at Mercy Hospital, attaches said that Riger would lose the use of the arm or probably the arm itself. Note how the nose of the bullet is dented, police conjecturing that it was done with a blunt instrument so that it would rip rather than pierce when it struck.

FIVE BOYS HURT BY TRUCK JOLT

The sudden jolt of a motor truck on a rough stretch of road near Homestead this morning resulted in the probable fatal injury of one boy and less serious hurts to four others who were hurled to the ground.

William Nagy, 12, was thrown upon his head, suffering a fracture of the skull and concussion of the brain. He is in a critical condition in Homestead hospital. The other injured are: George Beegle, 8; John Belak, 10; Steve Gross, 8, and Edward Roth, 13. All live in Homeville.

Beauty Queen Urged By Friends Into Quest

Many persons I am meeting during the course of my shopping tours are asking just how and why I entered the "Miss Pittsburgh, 1927" quest that brought me the title. It seems to me that possibly many readers I have no chance of meeting are wondering the same thing.

It was really the furthest thing from my thoughts when the quest first opened. Of course, I had heard about it, but the thought that I could have a chance never entered my mind. A business acquaintance I had made, I. C. Overdorff, arranged a position for me in the West End. A short time later he came to me and said he thought it would be worth my while to enter the title quest.

Even at that urging it did not appear to me that there would be any chance. But he called at my home and we had a family circle discussion. It was finally decided that I would enter. Once entered on the list of entrants, I merely felt that—well, I would go through the judgings to satisfy those who had such wonderful faith in me.

The rest is known. The judges favored me from a field of lovely girls. But if it had been a matter left to my own decision entirely, some other girl would be preparing for the trip to the Atlantic City national bathing beauty pageant next month. I certainly am lucky that I listened to others and heeded their urgings.

The Midsummer Furniture Sale

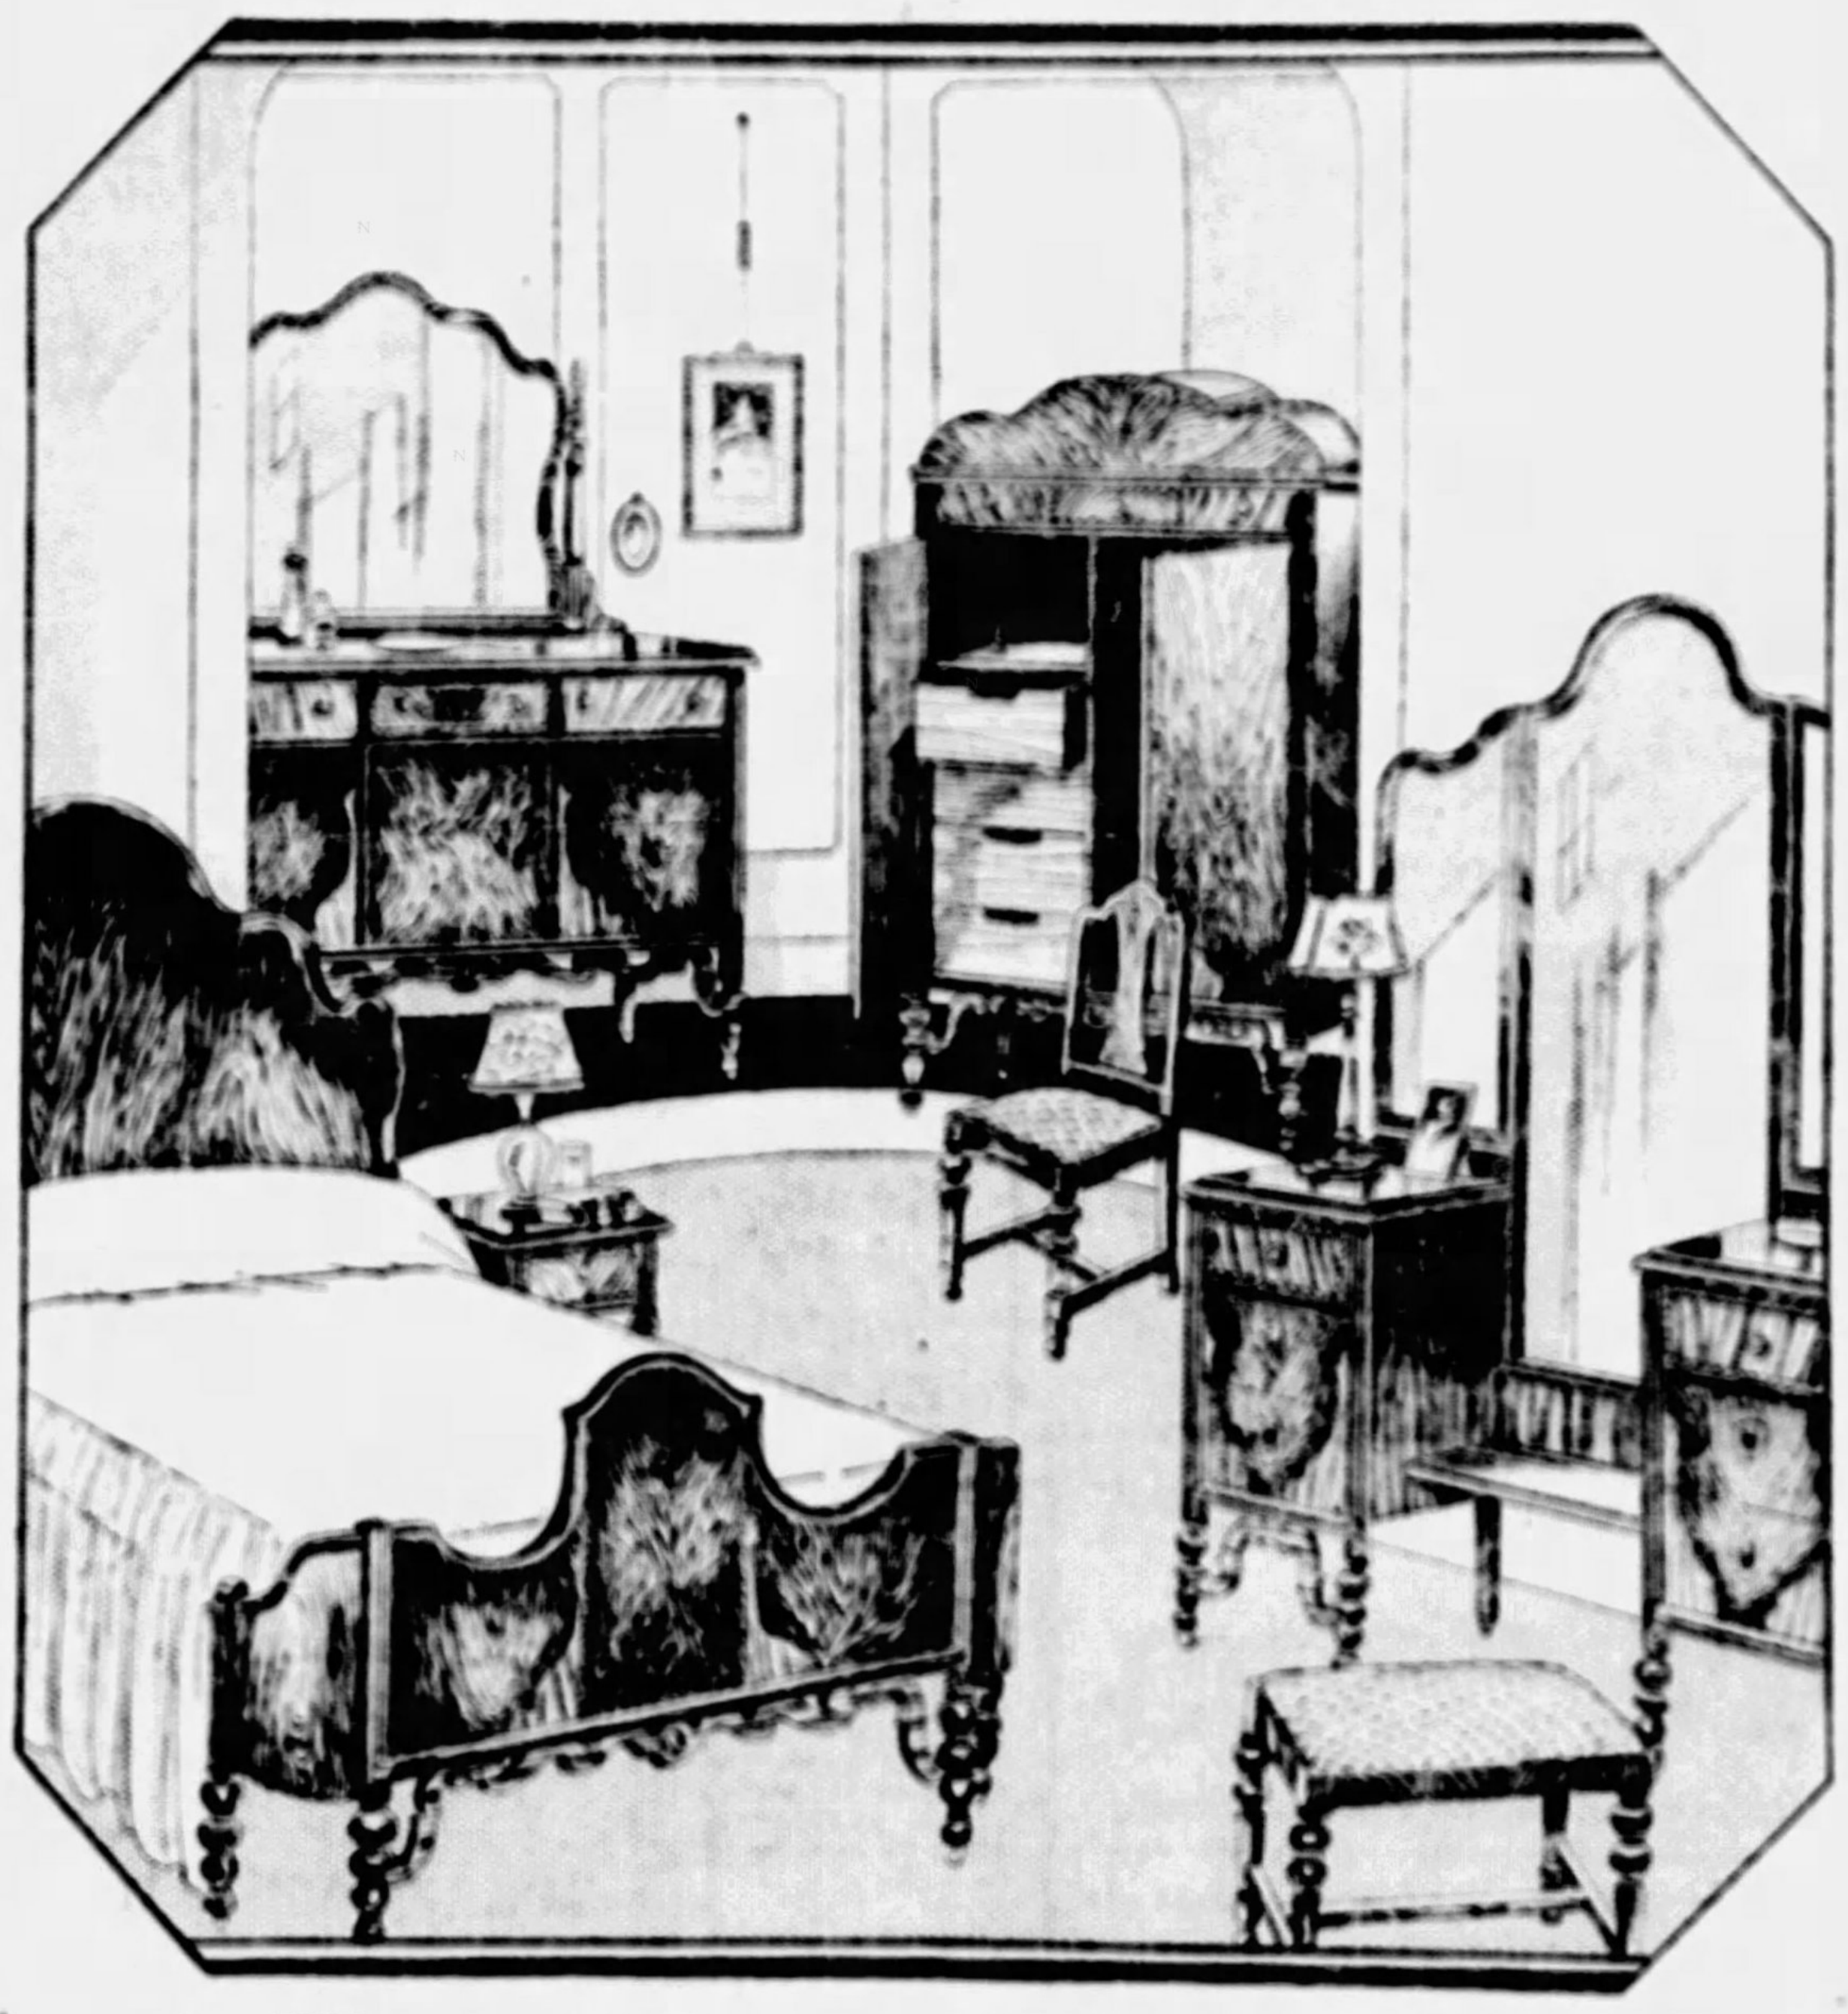
This Is Worth Knowing!
Select a good furniture store and you may buy anything in it with absolute confidence.
The Spear stores have been 34 years in Pittsburgh! The total volume of sales is larger than that of any three Pittsburgh furniture stores or departments combined.
The great Spear buying power is, therefore, without equal. Tremendous price economies are constantly offered the public.
In Pittsburgh two stores are necessary to serve Spear patrons, and one of these stores is almost a city block in size. Furniture is not merely a department at Spear's—it is practically the entire business. We are home furnishing specialists. That is why we are always able to give home makers MORE in quality, value and service every day in the year.



A Finer 7-Piece Bedroom Group
Regular Price $300 — $250 — Save 16 2/3% Discount!
The Midsummer Sale enables home makers to buy much better furniture than they ordinarily could afford, without an additional outlay of money! There is an abundance of finer furniture at Spear's, every piece of which is subject to the 16 2/3% discount this month. The bedroom suite illustrated is an exclusive design and, like the most expensive furniture, it is finished in genuine five-ply walnut veneer combined with other selected woods. Overlays and carving distinguish each piece. The drawers are dust proof and mahogany lined. The rich, hand-rubbed finish gives the group an impressive appearance. It is wonderful furniture to live with.
Liberal Deferred Payments. Both Spear Stores.

Seven Advantages for You!
1—You save a straight 16 2/3% discount from regular low marked price on anything you select. (Only a few exceptions). Original price tags remain.
2—Choose from the largest, most up-to-date, most varied selection of home furnishings in Pittsburgh!
3—Enjoy immediate use of your furniture. Only a small down payment is required.
4—Furniture will be held for later delivery, if desired, free of storage charge.
5—If you cannot shop conveniently in the day, evening appointments may be arranged with our Mr. Lindberg.
6—You may buy at the discount not only furniture, but rugs, stoves, phonographs, pianos and other home furnishings.

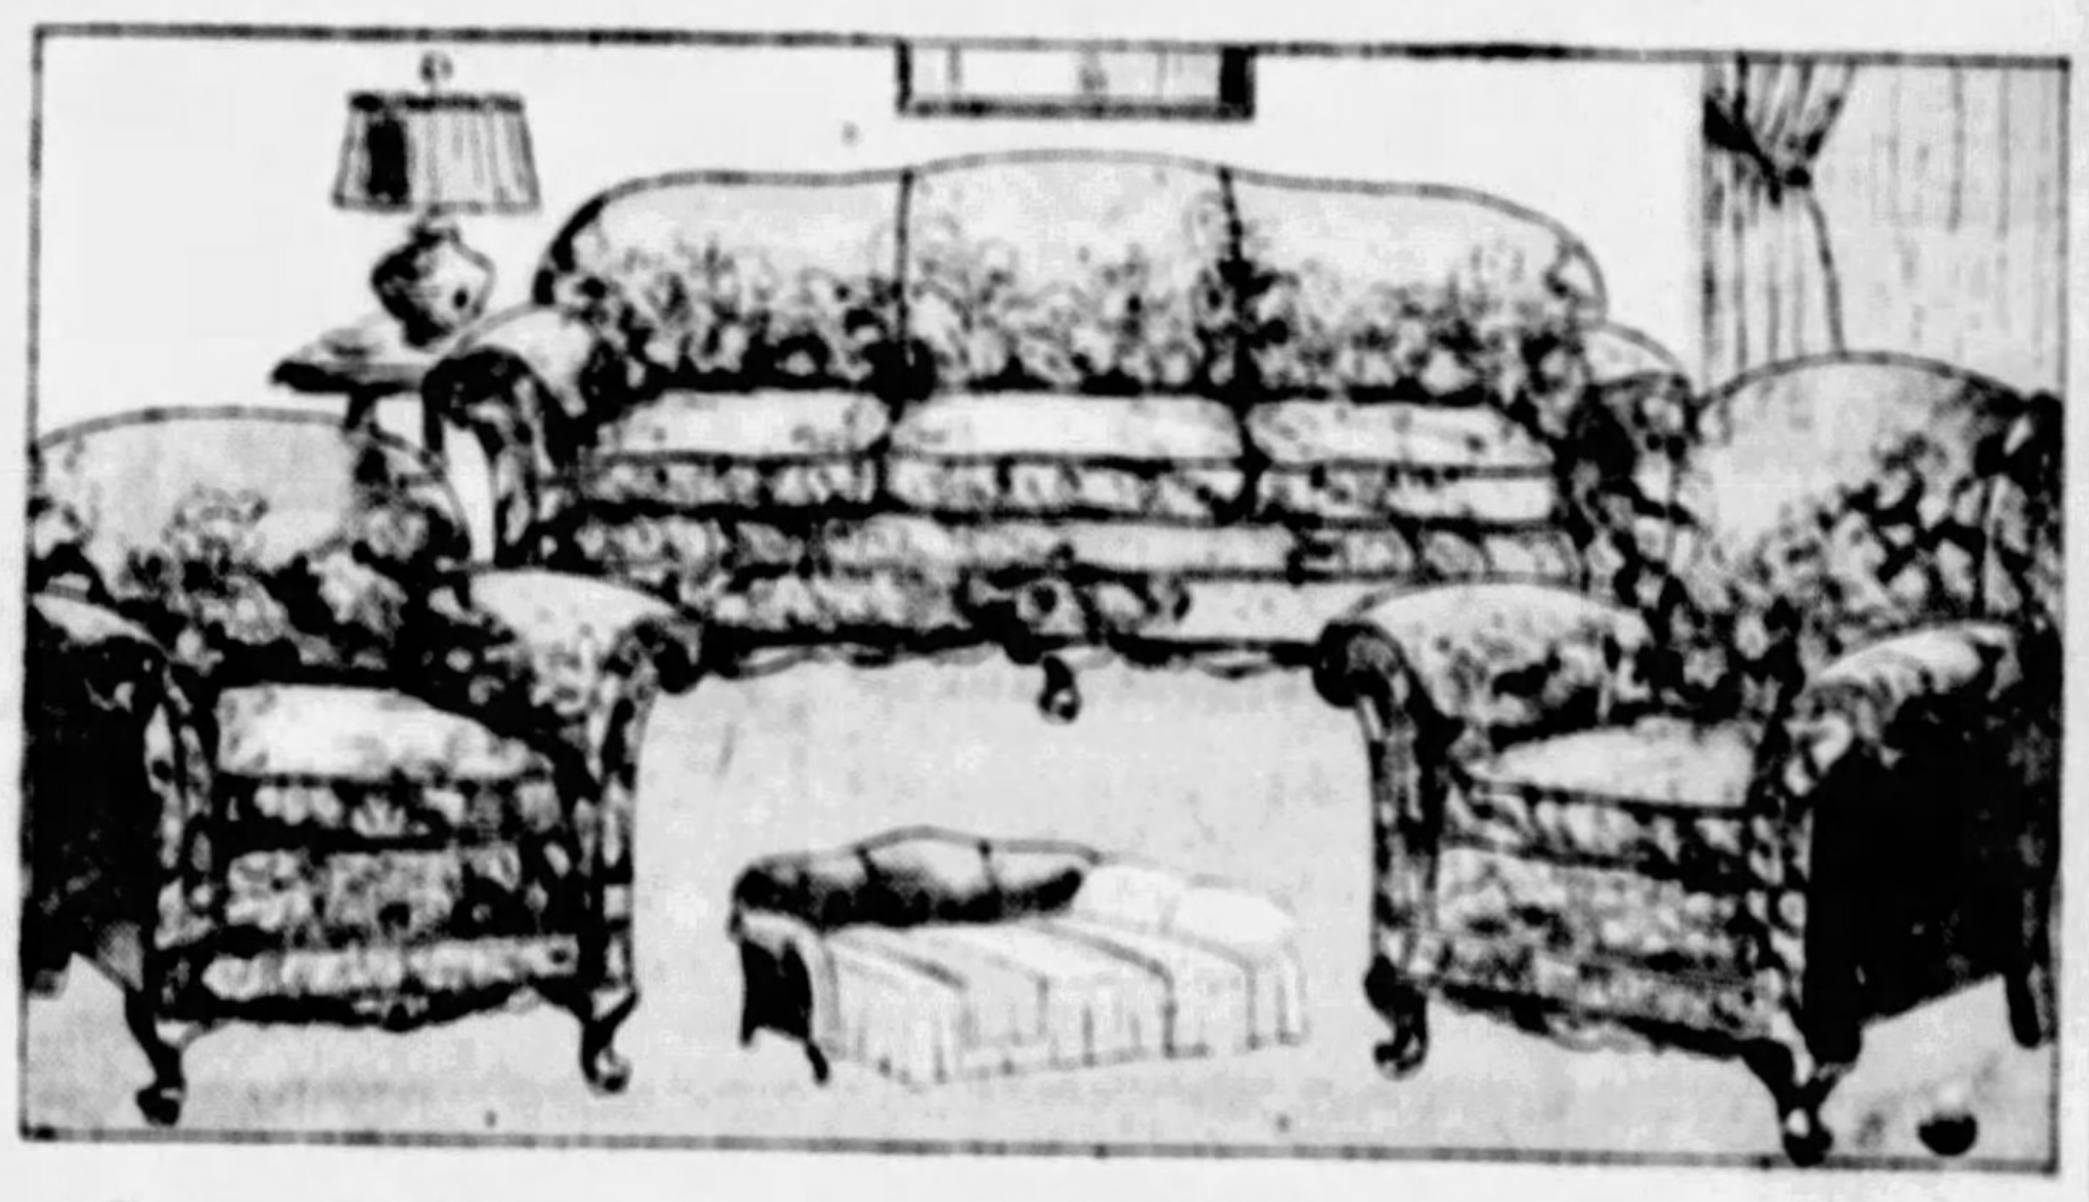
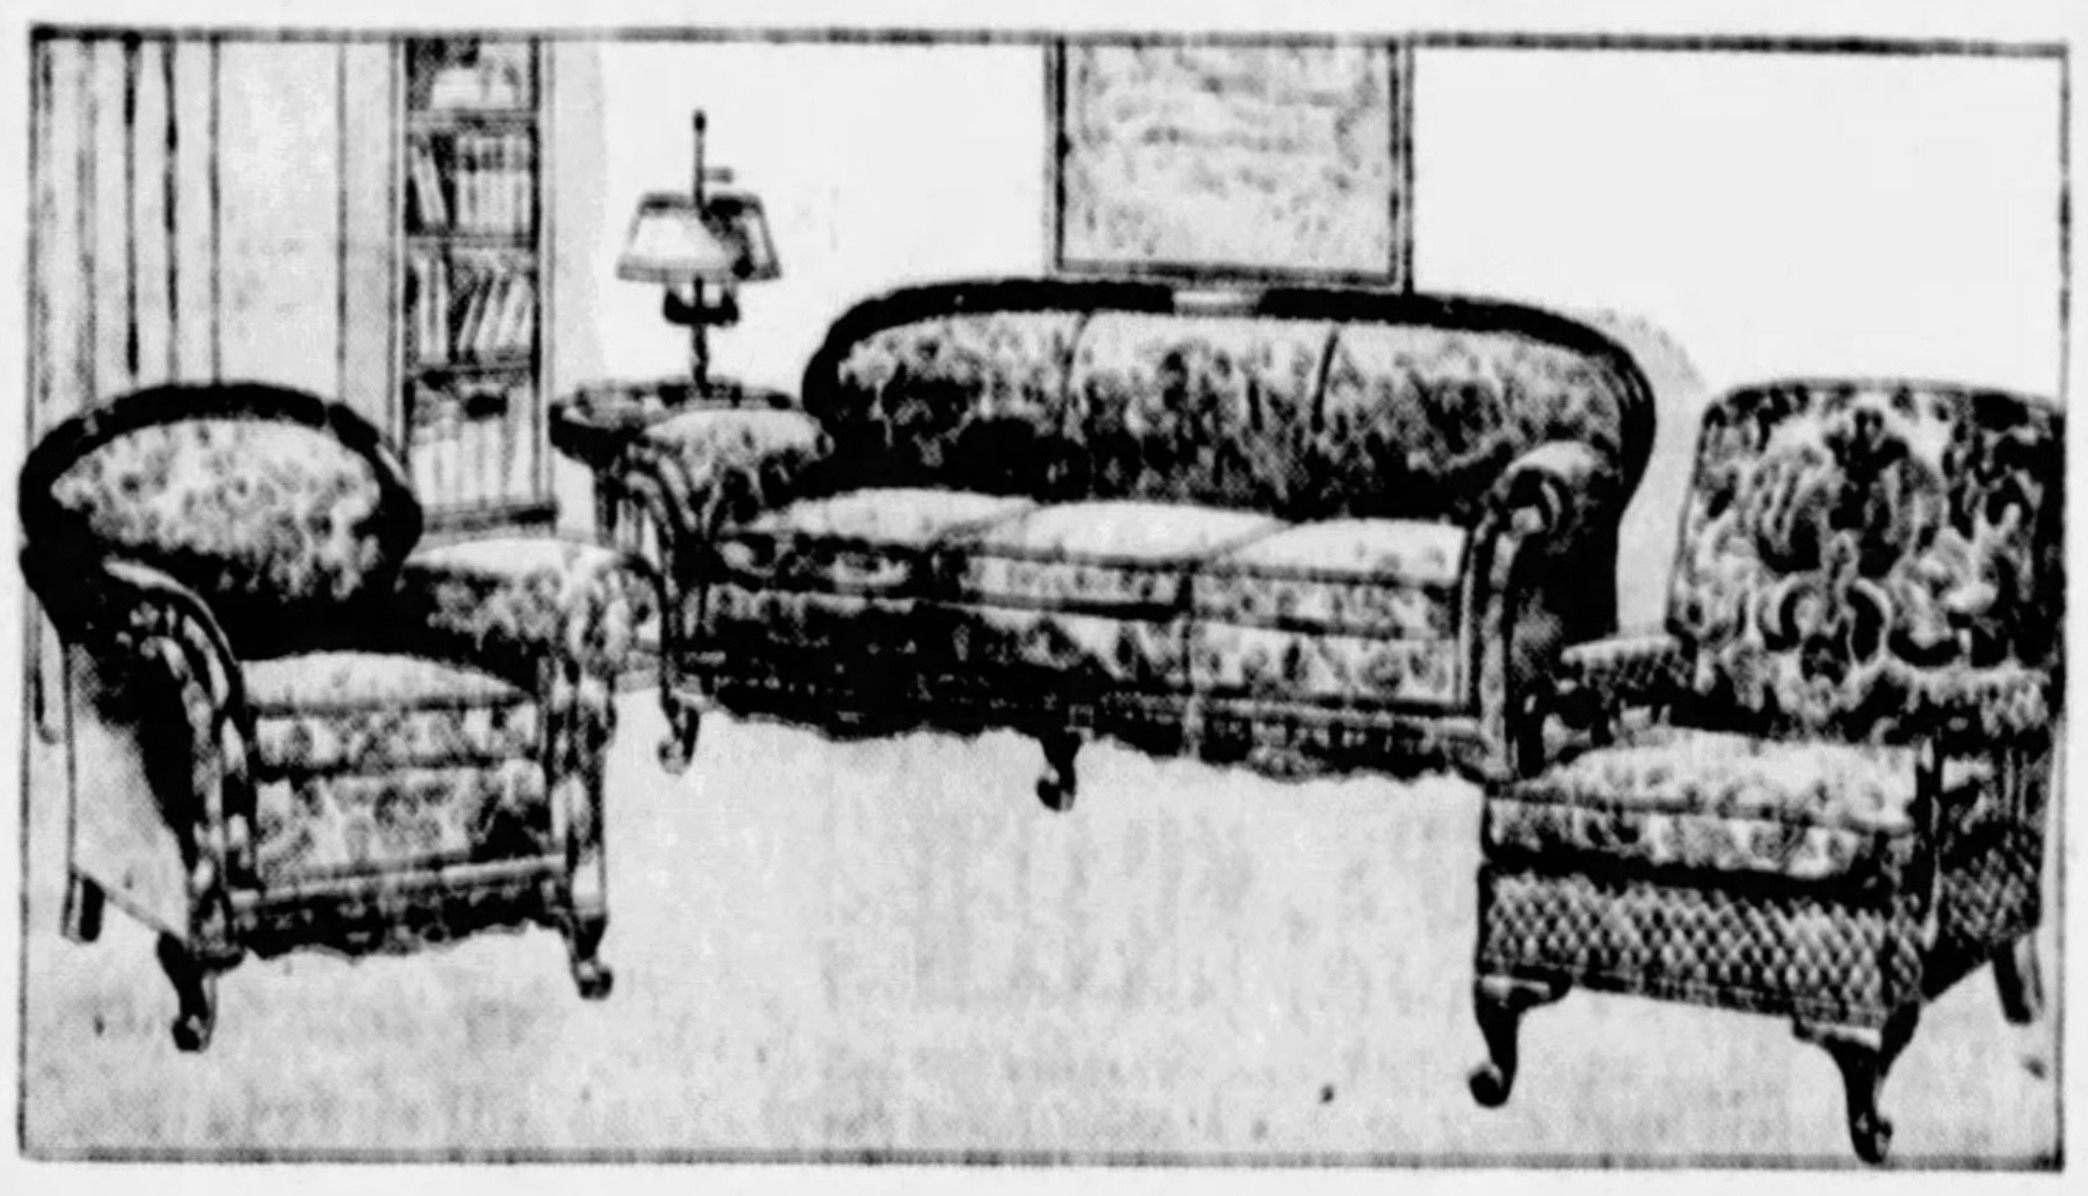
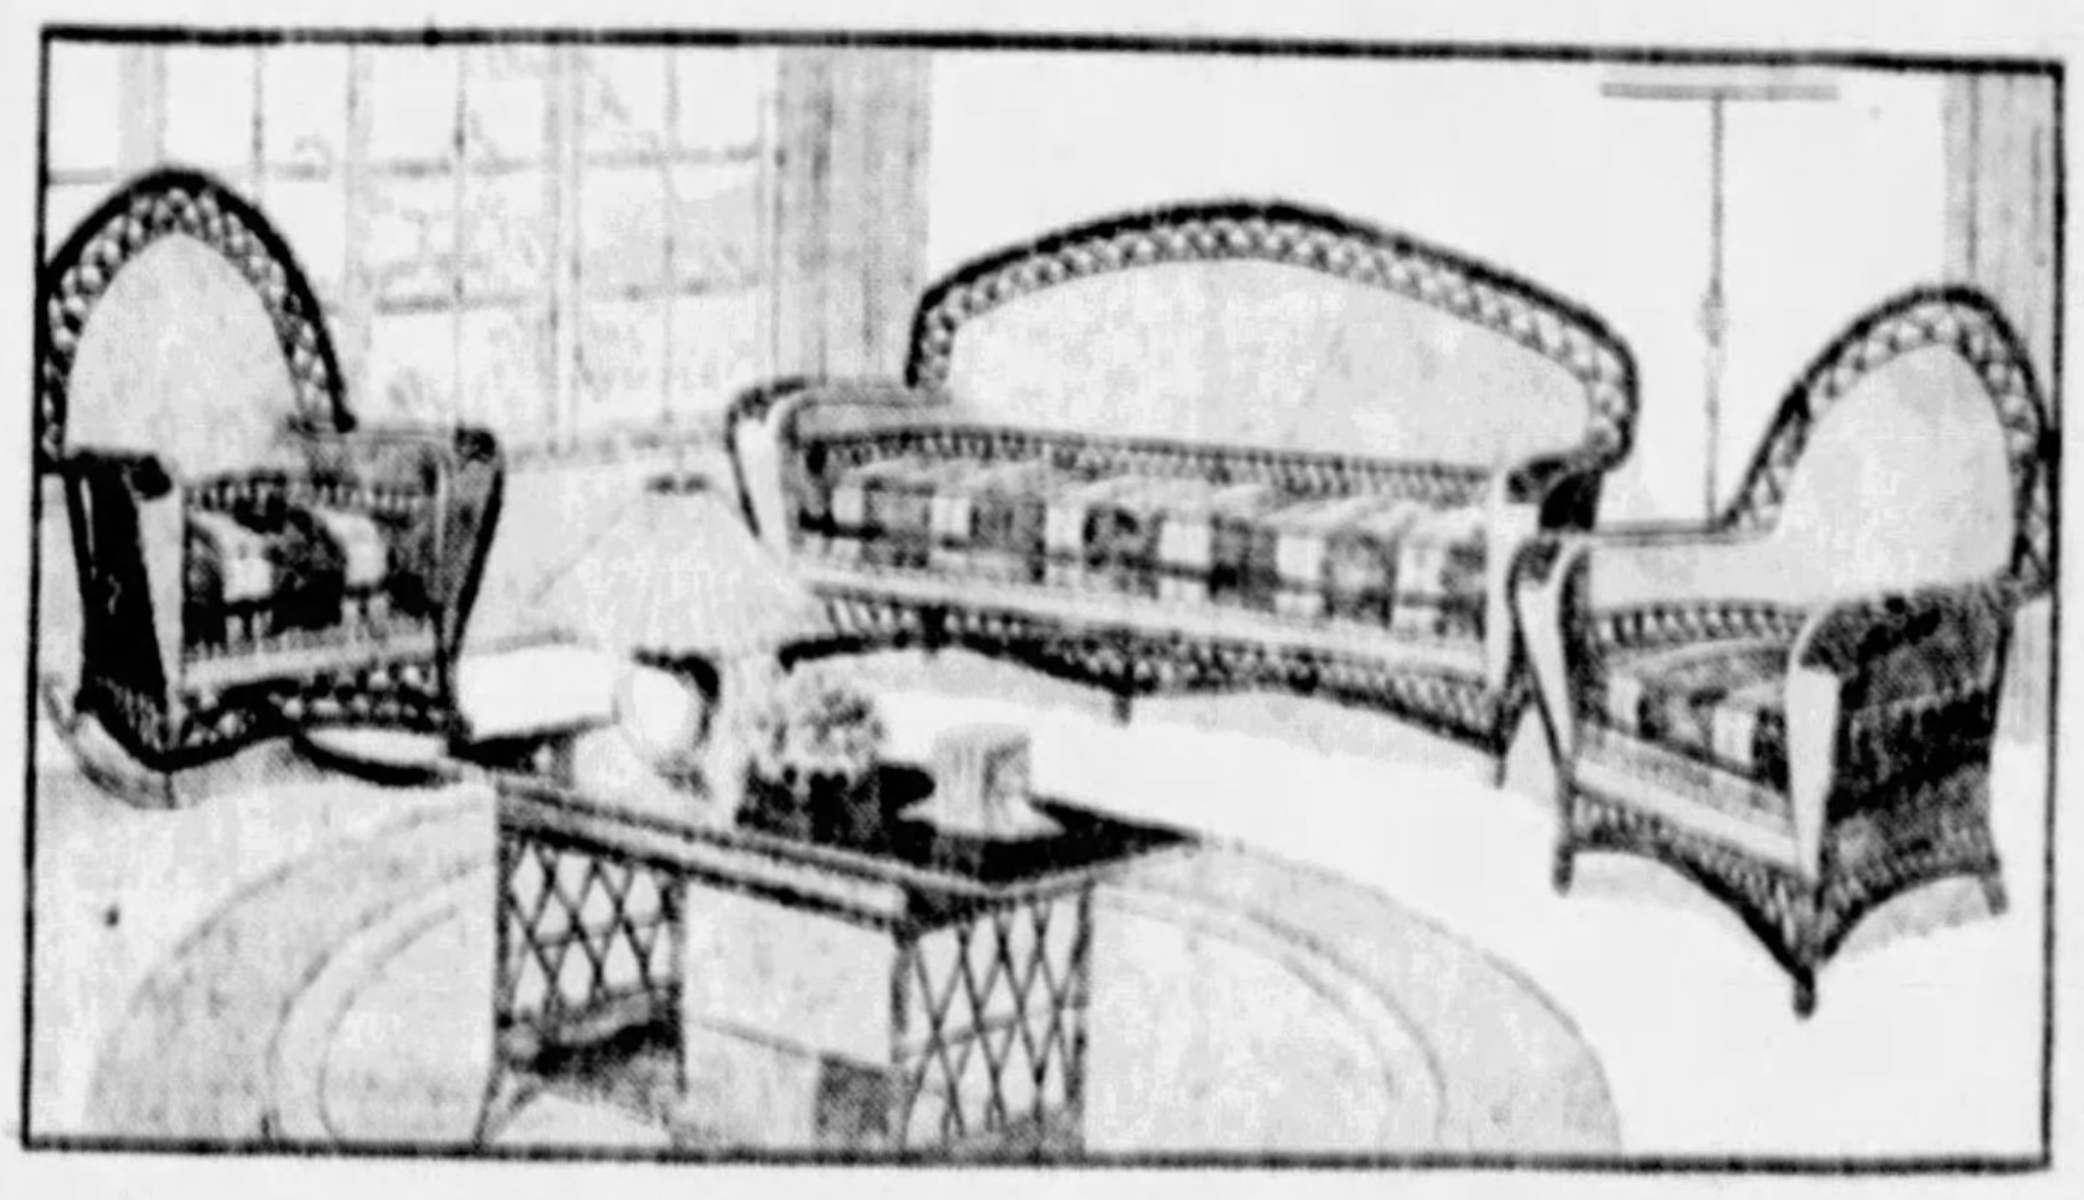
An Amazing Value! Eight-Piece Dining Room Group, Two Tone Walnut, Price $125
This group at this low price is one of the master merchandising strokes of the Midsummer Sale. The design has nothing in common with suites usually advertised at this price and the quality is the equal of suites selling at $225. In favorite two-tone walnut finish with maple overlays and carvings. Consists of 60-inch Buffet, 6-foot Extension Table and six Jacquard Seat Chairs, If desired, Server $24.50. China Cabinet $34.50.
Liberal Deferred Payments. Both Spear Stores.



Carved Frame Davenport Bed Suite—3-Piece Shown, Sale Price Complete $149
The beautiful Davenport in this group conceals a full size comfortable bed, It is different from the ordinary davenport bed in that it has a full coil spring construction and not the ordinary link type. The covering is best grade Jacquard in three-tone color effects—wears like iron. The group also includes the Arm Chair and Wing Chair with reversible cushions.
Liberal Deferred Payments. Both Spear Stores.



3-Piece Carved Frame Living Room Group With Cogswell Chair, Sale Price $165
The suite embodies the favorite features of modern style—carved frames on top and bottom of each piece, figured velour covering, reversible cushions, lounge chair and Cogswell Chair as well as three-cushion Davenport. The Cogswell Chair is also in fine Jacquard Velour with solid carving and an extra roominess. Choose now while the price is so low. Same suite in Mohair $195.
Liberal Deferred Payments. Both Spear Stores.



4-Piece Hand Woven Group—Damask Upholstered, Midsummer Sale Price $115
Here's one of the best values in the entire sale—a group many people will select for winter home enjoyment. Style and solid comfort are beautifully combined in the long Settee, massive Arm Chair, Rocker and oblong Table. Group is hand woven, finished in Golden Blue or Chinese Yellow with blue decoration—damask spring seats.
Liberal Deferred Payments. Both Spear Stores.

BRICK-PLASTER WORKERS SIGN ARMISTICE

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Peace officially reigned today between plasterers' and bricklayers' unions after years of nationwide dispute that affected building operations in all parts of the United States.

The armistice was effected with the signing yesterday of a treaty developed in a conference arranged by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor. By its terms the operative the Plasterers and Cement Finishers union has reached an agreement with the Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers Union over the jurisdictional question of the cement workers, which has long been the cause of strife.

In New York City, the bone of contention has been Local 32 of the Bricklayers Union, composed of about 1,400 cement workers. The plasterers claimed that these men should have the pink card of the Plasterers Union instead of the green card of the Bricklayers Association.

MAN BURNED TO DEATH IN FREIGHT CAR FIRE

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Aug. 19.—A burning carload of rags, which caught fire from an undetermined cause, was the pyre of an unidentified man early today who was sleeping in the car.

The car was on the Indian Run branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad near here. After the fire was extinguished the charred body was found.

MERCY DENIED INDIANA DRY LEADER

By Universal Service.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 19.—A plea for mercy because he is a minister of the gospel and an ardent prohibitionist was overruled in the case of the Rev. E. S. Shumaker, of the Indiana Anti-Saloon League by the Supreme Court before whom the dry head appeared in contempt proceedings.

Two other motions were likewise overruled and Shumaker given until October 5 to prepare his appeal to the United States Supreme Court or go to the state farm to serve the 60-day sentence given him last week.

Jesse Martin, counsel for the league will be sentenced the same date. Martin was not in Indiana when he was found guilty. Friends have posted a $1,000 bond for his appearance.

The mercy plea, an unexpected move, was launched by James Bingham, attorney for Shumaker at the close of his argument to arrest judgment. He also presented motions to modify the judgment and asked for a new trial.

In overruling the motion for arrest of judgment and a new trial the court divided three to two, as it had done in finding the veteran dry leader guilty.

PROBE POULTRY POISONING

The Western Pennsylvania Humane Society is investigating the suspected poisoning of 14 ducks and 18 chickens owned by Mrs. Sophie Popkin of Mollenauer. Rat poison was found scattered about the premises, according to Supt. L. W. Ahn. Two steel traps bearing telltale evidence of having caught pigeons were confiscated nearby yesterday by Officer Walter R. Lindeman, Mr. Ahn said. The society is offering a reward of $10 for information leading to the arrest of poisoners of dumb animals.

FORCED DOWN ON NEW ZEALAND FLIGHT

HOBART, Ind., Aug. 19.—(AP.)—Capt. Frederick A. Giles' first hop on an 11,311-mile flight from Detroit to Wellington, New Zealand, came to a sudden and nearly disastrous end in a stubble field near here late yesterday. The plane, with a cruising radius of 5,500 miles, was forced down when the gas supply was exhausted two hours after the takeoff from Detroit.

Capt. Giles said he was flying low when the gas gave out and that the plane fell several hundred feet before the emergency supply "took hold." He was barely 50 feet above ground when his plane leveled off, he added.

FREE MAN WHO BEAT MOTHER

If Daniel Rorch, of 1111 Carpenters way, had beaten his mother twice instead of only once, his sentence of 90 days to the county workhouse would have been legal, but since he restricted his beatings to one instance, on July 19, he was released under a writ of habeas corpus after a hearing before Judge George V. Moore in Common Pleas Court today.

His mother filed the petition for the writ and said she needed his support. It was shown that the ordinance of 1869 provides only 30 days' sentence for one beating, and 60 days for the second offense.

DEATH ROLL

Mrs. Katherine Houston.

The body of Mrs. Katherine Houston, 62, 311 Lawn street, killed yesterday in an automobile accident three miles north of Greenville, Pa., will be brought to this city late today for burial from the home of her brother-in-law, John Houston, 3012 Clermont avenue, Brentwood. Shadeland Beach, Crawford county, to Pittsburgh in a car driven by Edward F. Bruggeman of 6750 McPherson boulevard.

Defective steering mechanism is believed to have caused the car to overturn, pinning Mrs. Houston beneath the wreckage. Her left arm was severed at the elbow. She died within a few minutes from shock and loss of blood.

Bruggeman and John White of Shadeland, Crawford county, the latter also a passenger, were badly bruised. They are in the Greenville Hospital.

John Schuchman.

John Schuchman, 76, died at his home at 203 West Tenth avenue, West Homestead, at noon today. Mr. Schuchman came to the Pittsburgh district over 50 years ago and had been a resident of West Homestead for the last 26 years. Before his retirement he was connected with the Homestead Barrel Manufacturing Company for over 30 years. He was a member of St. John's Lutheran Church of Homestead. Besides his wife, Mrs. Carolina M. Schuchman, he leaves two sons, Fred W. Schuchman, of Portland, Ore., and Charles O. Schuchman, of Inglewood, Cal.; two daughters, Mrs. J. C. Welch, of Homestead, and Mrs. Robert Stentz, of Pittsburgh, and eight grandchildren.

Mrs. William L. Harris.

Mrs. Josephine Macrum Harris, wife of Dr. William L. Harris, of Norfolk, Va., died yesterday morning in the home of her sister, Miss Katherine Macrum, of 565 California avenue, Oakmont, whom she was visiting. Mrs. Harris was born in Pittsburgh and lived the greater part of her life in Oakmont. She has been a resident in Norfolk since her marriage to Dr. Harris. Besides Miss Macrum, Mrs. Harris leaves another sister, Mrs. A. C. Cubbage, and a brother, George S. Macrum.

JUDGE MARTIN RAPS ORGANIZATION TACTICS

Raising the question whether the Republican organization, when it declined to indorse three sitting judges for another term, sought "men who will more amenable to political influence in the various appointments which this court is called upon to make," Judge Richard W. Martin spoke at a noon meeting in his headquarters today. The voters of the county want to know, he said, "why a sitting judge should not be retained in office if his record is good."

46 GLARING LIGHT OFFENDERS FINED

Glaring lights netted the city $460 in Traffic Court today. Magistrate John A. Staley fined 46 mortorists $10 each because their headlights were too brilliant.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

SALLY JEROME, 20, and clever and pretty, is the prop and mainstay of her family which consists of MRS. JEROME; the twins, BEAU and MILLIE, and Sally herself. Mrs. Jerome is a semi-invalid, so Sally does the housework mornings and works for MR. PEEVEY downtown afternoons. In the flat below the Jerome flat lives young TED SLOAN. Mrs. Jerome is dreadfully afraid that Sally will marry him and leave her, but Sally has nothing but friendship for Ted. The only man she's interested in is JOHN NYE, whose office is across the hall from Mr. Peevey's in the Nye-Taylor building. On a Monday in August Millie drops into Sally's office with the news that she's had to quit her job because her employer tried to make love to her. This is always Millie's excuse when she gives up a position, but Beau's girl, MABEL WILMOT, says the real reason is that Millie won't stay in an office unless there's somebody there with whom she's in love. Millie catches a glimpse of John Nye and "falls for him" on the spot. He needs a stenographer, but goes but of town. Millie decides to rest until he returns and then apply for the job. That night Mabel Wilmot gives a party at the Jerome flat. Sally provides the refreshments, thinking that Mabel will pay. But when Mabel leaves at midnight she airily remarks that Beau will pay for them. But Sally knows that Beau never pays for anything, and she's frantic.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

SHE had dreamt that she was in a restaurant, all alone at a little table. Next to her were two other people, a man and a woman. In her dream she had turned her head stealthily to see who they were, and had seen John Nye and Millie, holding hands across the little table where they sat. As she watched them they had leaned toward each other, and John Nye had kissed Millie squarely on the mouth.

After that point, Sally could remember nothing more of the dream. But there was a very real feeling of jealousy in her heart as she lay there is the dawn-coolness, thinking about it.

It seemed to her that she still could see John Nye's dark, good-looking face as he had leaned towards Millie in the dream. And it came to her, in a blinding flash, that the reason she was jealous was because she was in love with John Nye! It had taken the dream to show her the truth that she had been hiding from herself for two days, that she had fallen in love with him suddenly, blindly and foolishly—the way a woman falls in love just once in her life, no matter how many little love affairs she may have before and after that once!

Dreams are queer and mysterious things. We try to explain them in all sorts of ways. The dream-books that can be bought in drug stores and five-and-ten-cent stores try to explain them and tell us what they mean. The learned doctors of Vienna and Paris and London and New York try to explain them, too. But nobody knows what they really are, or why we have them. Nobody.

Be that as it may, Sally's dream about John Nye had settled one question for her for all time. She knew she was in love with him.

While she lay there in her bed with her thoughts far away, she became aware of noises in the house—the sound of a door opening and of softly-shod feet walking around the rooms.

Presently Beau's voice came from the bathroom:

"Say, Sally, where in Tophet is the baking soda?—I'm sick as a hound-dog and I want some!"

"S-s-sh!" hissed Sally, tumbling out of bed and into her kimono. "It's in the kitchen cupboard, of course!"

She got it, and mixed him a strong dose of it. His face was pale gray, and his eyes had puffs beneath them.

He shuddered as he emptied the glass. "I sure am at low-pressure this a. m.," he groaned, with one hand pressed to his stomach.

"I hate to say 'I told you so,' but you know you can't drink, Beau," Sally said to him with her motherly little air, "and if you must put gin in the punch at these parties why don't you have them on Saturday nights instead of in the middle of the week. Now, you'll never be able to go to work today."

"Sure I will. I'll go if it kills me," answered Beau, and shuffled back to bed.

True to his word, he went to work that morning.

"What on earth are you doing, up at this time?" Sally gasped when she saw him. Usually Beau had to be literally dragged from his bed in the morning.

"I'm going to walk part of the way to the bank," he moaned, "I thought the fresh air and the exercise might set me up—I sure am sick."

He stood there, gazing intently at her for a minute more. Then he asked a question: "Say, Sal, you couldn't slip me a fiver, could you? I'm flat busted."

Sally's blue eyes widened. "Why, it's only Wednesday morning, Beau!" she exclaimed. "And you got your pay on Saturday. Surely it isn't all gone!"

He nodded his blonde head. "Yes it is," he said, and made no explanation. Beau paid the gas bill or the light bill every two or three months and considered that he had done his duty by his family. He paid no board at all.

"Why, what have you done with it?" Sally was beginning, and then all at once it came to her that he had spent it all on liquor for Mabel's party.

She shook her head. "I'm sorry, Beau," she told him. "But I was just going to ask you for some money. You see, I went ahead and bought all the food for Mabel's party, thinking that she would pay me the money I spent. I asked her about it last night, and she said you would give it to me——"

"She did!" Beau broke in. "Well, she didn't have any right to say a thing like that! It was her party—I got the liquor and the smokes, didn't I? The least she could do was to pay for the eats. She makes almost as much as I do—Well, I'll see that you get your money."

But Sally knew that he never would see to it. She knew him and loved him in spite of her knowledge of him and his weakness. He was her only brother, after all.

"If I had five dollars, I'd give it to you," she said. "You know I would, don't you, Beau? But I haven't got it—I paid the rent on Saturday, and I was three weeks late with it, at that. Here!"

She opened a little brown silk purse that hung beside her toilet mirror, and handed him a limp dollar bill from it.

"That's all I can let you have." She finished unhappily.

Beau took it and went.

"What were you two gassing about?" Millie asked sleepily, turning and stretching luxuriously in her bed on the far side of the room. Her blue eyes were wide and dewy as a child's under the tousled mass of yellow hair.

Sally did not answer her. She was thinking about the dream again—the dream about Millie and John Nye. And, for one fleeting second, she almost hated Millie as she looked at her lying there. Then she was herself again.

"Thank heaven I don't have to get up this morning!" Millie sighed, clasping her soft little hands behind her head. "That Nye man can stay away for a month as far as I'm concerned—I hate the thought of a job in this kind of weather.

Here was a new problem.

For with Millie not working, and Beau spending practically every nickle he carried on the demanding and jazzy Mabel, the whole load of keeping the house going fell to Sally.

Her face was thoughtful as she went out to the cool dim kitchen and measured coffee into the white-enamel pot. She didn't put in as much as usual this morning . . . . Coffee, the only brand the family would drink, cost 45 cents a pound.

"I'll have to go out to Aunt Emily's tonight, and see if I can borrow a little money from her," she decided as she began to cut paper-thin slices of bread from the one loaf that remained in the tin box on the table.

There had been two loaves there when Sally had gone to bed the night before. But evidently Mabel had made a few extra sandwiches for her party . . . . All the butter had been used too. The emtpy crock was in the sink, full of water.

"Gee whiz!" Sally said aloud, but she could have cried. "Well, we'll have to have extra oranges this morning. That's all."

She opened the door of the little fruit closet under the sink. The large brown-paper bag that had held a dozen oranges the night before was empty, too. Mabel must have made some extra punch for the gin drinkers.

"Ye gods!" cried Sally under her breath. "Ye gods!" was the phrase that she used when she was in the state of mind where a man would have sworn under his breath.

She made hot-cakes for breakfast that morning, and it was a hot job!

CHAPTER VIII.

WHENEVER Sally was in great trouble she went straight to her father's sister, Miss Emily Jerome.

Aunt Emily's house was a quaint old house far out on the River road. It had belonged in the Jerome family for more than 50 years.

Outside it was all weather-beaten clapboards and loose-hinged shutters. But within it was bright and clean, with its creamy woodwork, its gay-hooked rugs, its flowerpots and crisp muslin curtains.

Sally often said to herself that the inside of Aunt Emily's house must be very like the inside of Aunt Emily's soul—shining and white and cheerful.

It always gave her a sense of peace and comfort, somehow, to turn in at the gate and start up the flagged walk to the door, with its fan-light and its brass knocker.

Dry Raiders Find 'Gold Mine'

A veritable bootleggers' gold mine was uncovered by prohibition agents early today when they raided a three-story brick building at 4614 and 4616 Liberty avenue. They seized 6,432 pints of whisky labeled "Dillinger." Agents pronounced it genuine stuff, drawn from a bonded warehouse. At prevailing bootleg prices the liquor is estimated worth $38,000.

The building is occupied by the Mutual Drug Company, but the ownership of the liquor, which was found in a vault in the basement that extended under the sidewalk, is undetermined.

Albert Bill, 24, arrested in connection with a raid of 1019 Bluff street, and James Rotondo, arrested at 2425 LaPlace street, following seizure of contraband equipment and moonshine liquor, were later released under $1,000 bail each for a hearing before a United States commissioner.

In a raid at 14 Conductor way agents found that gas to operate a still was supplied through a 100-foot rubber hose from an adjoining building. A 100-gallon still and mash were confiscated.

DUPE IN FAKING BILL, HE SAYS

"He asked me if I wanted to make easy money and told me to take his $20 and buy a pound of meat at a Logan street butcher shop. I got him the meat, gave him $19.70 change and got $1 for myself. Then the butcher said I gave him a $5 bill raised to $20 and I was arrested."

Abe Slane, 16, 527 Overhill street, after telling Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Morals Court how he had been duped by a stranger, was turned over to agents of the Department of Justice who are investigating the story.

INGRAM AVENUE REOPENED

Ingram avenue, under repairs since last June 1 from Lanshaw avenue, Ingram borough, to Steuben street, Pittsburgh, was opened for traffic today, the Allegheny County Depart-Department of Public Works announced. Troy Hill road No. 3, also known as Ivory road, Ross township, closed for about three weeks, also was opened. Troy Hill road No. 2, Reserve township, was closed today for repairs, it was stated.

AUTO KILLS BOY ON SKATES

Losing control of his roller skates on Washington boulevard early this afternoon, an unidentified Negro boy, 12, was struck by a motor truck and fatally injured. He was pronounced dead when taken to the Pittsburgh Hospital and his body was sent to the morgue.

CROWN MISS LARSON QUEEN OF FASHION

By ALMA SIOUX SCARBERRY,
Staff Correspondent.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 19.—Miss Alfhild Larson, "Pittsburgh's Queen of Fashion" selected in a contest held by the East Liberty Cameraphone Theater, assisted by Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph to represent Pittsburgh at the annual St. Louis style show, today is happy with the crown of "National Queen of Fashion," awarded her here last night, and the thought that she is the first Pittsburgh girl ever to win a national contest.

Miss Larson seemed one of the most georgeously beautiful creatures who ever stepped on a stage, tall and straight, her golden hair gleaming in the spotlight and her cameo-like face wreathed in smiles, as she was robed and crowned National Queen of Fashion last night.

WILD APPLAUSE.

The mad applause of the audience as the crowd arose and cheered the judges' decision was a testimony to her unaffected beauty and charm. With perfect poise she smiled and bowed her appreciation as though she had been appearing before the public all her life.

Our Pittsburgh Queen of Fashion is not a flapper type. She has a dignity of manner and a regal bearing amazing in a 19-year-old girl.

Putting it in the words of Flint Garrison, father of the fashion pageant, who announced the decision and was first to congratulate the National Queen of Fashion, "She won because she has a beauty of manner and a charm that stands out like a beacon light in this day of flapper types. I feel that the decision was entirely fair and that the award has been given the young lady who is worthy of it, not only in her attractiveness and ability to wear clothes, but that her beauty of character and charm of manner are equal to it all."

—AND RUMORS FLEW.

The crowd was with Alfhild from the first. But there was a great deal said to the effect that it was ridiculous to suppose that the southern market would not affect a contest of this kind—that it would be given to some one in the St. Louis buying field. There was the same old story, everyone saying if it was fair play she would win. But that "nothing like that had ever been on the level."

However, the queen herself did not give up hope. She gave them her best night after night, and they rewarded her with mad applause and a deluge of votes. The total votes counted a point, operating as though one more judge had been added and had cast his vote for Miss Pittsburgh.

She was whole-heartedly congratulated by everyone after the decision. No stranger ever has more completely won St. Louis. St. Louis is mad about her. Miss Shreveport is said to have been her runner-up, and Miss St. Paul next. Miss Shreveport is a brunette. Miss St. Paul is Swedish, a boyish-bobbed blonde.

Even in the face of all the excitement Alfhild is calm. She says she is "boiling inside." But the national queen of fashion is royalty itself on the surface.

AWARD ANNOUNCEMENT.

Announcement of the jury of award:

August 18, 1927.

We, the committee appointed to judge the entries in the contest conducted by the St. Louis Fashion Pageant for the most nearly perfect garment model, herewith certify that we have viewed the contestants during the performances of the pageant; have met them in person; have judged their qualifications from every standpoint as outlined in the rules of the fashion show committee, and herewith award the prize to Miss Alfhild Larson, who is herewith declared to be the Queen of Fashion for 1927. (Signed)

GERALD RIEDT HARTSHORNE, Oklahoma;
H. A. HARRIS, Holly Springs;
Miss G. L. DODGEN, Shamrock, Tex.;
DAVE BLOCK, Wynne, Ark.;
E. DOBSON, Hickman, Ky.;
HARDEE RUSSELL, Paul's Valley, Okla.;
H. N. GRAUBARTH, Las Vegas, N. M.

BASIS OF DECISION.

In passing judgment on the contestants, the jury considered beauty of face and form, carriage, conformity to standards of measurement in the garment industry, style and personality. No rigid basis of point scoring was adopted, as many intangibles enter into such a decision, and it was felt no strictly fair or scientific basis of scoring or weighing these intangibles could be arrived at.

In addition to the grand prize of $1,000 awarded to the Queen of Fashion, the merchants and manufacturers of St. Louis gave to each of the contestants a handsome evening dress, a pair of evening slippers and a half dozen pairs of silk hose, all from St. Louis-controlled shops.

"Happiest Girl" in World—Miss Larson

By ALFHILD LARSON,
National Queen of Fashion, 1927.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 19.—I am the happiest girl in all the world. It is hard to put into words. I am too excited now.

All yesterday rumors flew about that a certain other girl had won the contest. I was told not to hope—even with all the applause I had received and the overwhelming votes of the audience.

But I didn't give up hope. The show dragged through and it seemed like hours as I sat in the box on the stage with the nine other competing queens and watched the fashion parade pass by and the dancing acts come and go. Mr. Flint Garrison, manager of the fashion show and owner of the Garden Theater, came on the stage and made a speech and presented each of the queens with a beautiful evening gown, a half-dozen pair of silk hose and a pair of evening slippers. Then he opened a paper and read the decision of the judges.

ALFHILD WINS!

When he said "Alfhild Larson, Pittsburgh's Queen of Fashion," I almost fainted. My heart thumped and I thought I never could walk up to the throne while they placed my robe and crown on me.

The crowd was cheering madly. The cheers rang in my ears until they almost deafened me. And—I was crowned National Queen of Fashion. My golden dream had come true.

The first thing I thought of was mother and dad and how happy all the folks at home would be. Oh, how I wanted my father and mother to be there with me in my great triumph.

A maze of congratulations, flash-lights popping while they made pictures, and the thousand-dollar check and diploma being placed in my hands was like a dream.

I am back at the hotel. Wires and telephone calls are pouring in until it seems like we never will have a chance to get to bed. It is now 2 o'clock in the morning. I'm coming home on the 9 o'clock train Saturday morning—the most gloriously happy and luckiest girl in the world.

15 Reasons Why Miss Larson Won

QUICKSANDS OF LOVE

A New Phase of "Revelations of a Wife"

By Adele Garrison

I HAD spoken only the truth when I told Hugh Grantland that the thing for which I wished his aid and advice was not the emergency which I had feared it might be. The anxiety I had felt for Mary Harrison's possible contacts with Jack Leslie and Mrs. Baker had been lessened by the days which had passed with no sign that either the man or the woman I dreaded was making the slightest attempt to get into communication with Mary.

Indeed, I reflected, the mysterious lodger on the top floor might have gone away altogether for all I saw of her. Katherine reported that she still left the house after 11 each night wrapped in the long disguising cloak, and occasionally when the little nurse had wakened at 2 in the morning she had seen Mrs. Baker creep stealthily along the hall to her room from her queer nocturnal expedition.

But other evidence of her presence in the house there was none, and I felt it would be the height of presumption for me to trouble Hugh Grantland and Lee Chow with a request to trail Mrs. Baker's movements and ascertain her true identity—for I shared Lillian's belief that she was disguised—when they were patently so absorbed in something so vitally important to my father.

There would be plenty of time after they returned, I told them repeatedly on the trip from the pier to my apartment. And I refused steadfastly to give them any inkling as to the thing I required of them, although they both urged me to name the service I wished.

"Will you promise to wire me if you need us?" Hugh asked at last, and with the mental reservation that it would be a grave emergency indeed which would induce me to send for him, I assented and took from him a card with another name than his own and an address in a distant city.

"A message to that name and address will reach me with all dispatch," he said as he took leave of me, and even though I did not intend to use the knowledge he had given me, I felt cheered and comforted by his solicitude for me.

I needed the remembrance of that solicitude, and indeed the knowledge of any friendship or consideration in the puzzling, troublesome days which followed. For Dicky, never particularly patient when he does not feel well, became so captious and unreasonable that it took all my will-power to keep from quarreling with him.

Indeed, he appeared to be determined to force a quarrel with me, sometimes becoming so irritable that I was ashamed to have the rest of the household hear him speak to me thus, and again preserving a sulky silence. But always I had the feeling that he was watching me stealthily but steadily, and once or twice I surprised a look in his eyes that puzzled me deeply.

Once, and only once, I ventured to ask him if he had consulted a physician. His reply was so curt, his tone so disagreeable that I never repeated the question.

"Yes, I saw him," he snapped, "and, as I thought, he found nothing at all the matter with me except a little nervous indigestion that rest and cutting out certain foods for a while would clear up. So for the love of Lulu, stop your harping about the doctor thing, and tell Katie to stop making those rich desserts for awhile. If I see them on the table, I'm just fool enough to eat them. Now don't take that as an insult to your precious ape."

Heroically, I repressed any other reply than a quiet, "I'm glad there's nothing serious the matter, and of course we'll have simple desserts only for awhile." Dicky shot one of his queer looks at me, and I had the sudden conviction that my quiet answer was more displeasing to him than a captious one would have been.

LOOKS LIKE ONE OF THE INTERNATIONAL POLO TEAMS!
DONT TELL ME THAT YOU BOYS INTEND TO PLAY POLO IN THAT DINGUS!
WE ARE JUST DOING A BIT OF RIDING PRACTICE!
IF WE CAN KEEP OUR SEATS IN THIS THING WE CAN RIDE THE HOTTEST PONY THAT EVER LOOKED THROUGH A BRIDLE!

"HONestly, my dear, I was TOO imPRESSED—I mean I ACtually WAS because you honestly have never SEEN anything QUITE so DRESSy as ARab and NOIsy in comPLETE POlo uniform ensconced in 'Rin-TIN?TIN,' that luGUBrious FLIVver of ARab's, and SOLemply BARging ROUND! REally, my dear, it was SIMply KILLing because I mean they TAKE themselves so SEriously and all, do you know what I mean? Well, ANYways, I was SIMply conVULSED at this point because when I CASurally inquired whether they thought they were going to play POlo in that odd CAR, ARab said they were just getting a bit of RIding practice, because he said that if they could keep their SEATS in 'Rin-TIN-TIN' they would be sure to be able to ride practically ANY POlo pony—can you BEAR it, my dear? HONestly, I think they are TOO perVERted, because I mean whoEVer heard of practicing for POlo by riding round in a FLIVver! I mean I think it's really the WILDest idea I've ever HEARD of, my dear—I ACtually DO!"

HOW TO KEEP WELL

U.S. Senator from New York

TRACING AILMENTS TO THE GALL BLADDER.

AWAY out in the state of Washington is a reader of these articles who wants one about "gall bladder trouble." I am glad to make some comments regarding it.

DR COPELAND

There are a number of ailments which can be traced to the gall bladder and bile passages. Some of them are associated with gall stones, and some are not.

A condition which is called "catarrhal jaundice" is due to an inflammation of the passageway which carries the bile. As a consequence, this duct or tube is stopped up and the bile is held in the gall bladder.

Simple jaundice of this type may result from wrong eating. Exposure to cold or wet may be followed by inflammation. Malaria is a factor, too, as well as any one of the infectious and contagious fevers.

Bacteria infection of the gall bladder may result in a serious, even fatal, condition. This form may be associated with trouble in the appendix.

In this type of gall bladder disturbance there is severe pain, the attacks coming on in sudden spasms. Jaundice is not noticed. Fever, rapid pulse and prostration are other symptoms.

These symptoms are entirely different from the painlessness of catarrhal jaundice. It is the yellow color that gives evidence of the fact that there is real trouble in the gall bladder region.

A rather common ailment is the condition we call gall stones. It may exist for a long time without exciting a suspicion in the mind of the victim.

When something causes a gall-stone to move forward, there is intense suffering. "Biliary colic," as it is called, is an extremely distressing and painful experience.

There can be no doubt that chronic dyspepsia, failing to yield to the ordinary treatment for indigestion, gives foundation for the suspicion that all is not right in the gall-bladder regions. It is true, too, that the failure to eat properly prepares the way for intestinal trouble, which may end in gall-bladder involvement.

It is far better to avoid these troubles than it is to find a means of relieving them. The first rule is to eat simple food. Excessive fats are to be avoided.

To get rid of the body wastes, to carry away the substances which may cause gall-stones, as well as other distressing conditions, it is wise to drink a lot of water. In my opinion, one of the most common of every-day errors is the failure to drink water.

Constipation is disregarded by the average person. Yet there is no doubt it is a real factor in developing serious illness. Where there is a tendency to gall-bladder trouble, it must not be overlooked.

Intestinal fermentation promotes the growth of germ life. Harmful bacteria, which may find their way to the gall-bladder region, are permitted to multiply. It is clear to me that it is a serious mistake to disregard all such conditions.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES.

G. B. Q.—I have a peculiar breaking out on my heel and on my finger, also on the arms. The trouble is in the form of little pimples filled with water and very itchy; they open and run. This condition has come about since an operation for appendicitis. What would you advise?

A.—May be due to eczema or possibly acne. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

How would you like a nice dragon draping itself over your head? Or a skull and crossbones placed at a threatening angle on your brow? Ritzy Rosey decided the former was more intriguing when she made her choice of the new "executioner's hats."

What's the Answer?

1. What political party of recent years was represented by a bull-moose?
2. How many states were there in the Confederacy in the Civil War?
3. What is the can-can?
4. Who was Boadicea?
5. What English statesman is the son of a famous American beauty?
6. What is a dactyl?
7. Which side of a ship is starboard?
8. Why are red lights used as danger signals?
9. What famous Italian painter was known as "Il Furioso?"
10. What great French monarch was associated with Richard Coeur de Lion in the third crusade?

My Son's Sweethearts

By IDA McG. GIBSON.

CHAPTER LVIII. ANOTHER CHANCE.

LYRA HILLARD never knew how long she lay upon that cold hearthstone, her head bruised against its brass fender. Again and again at longer intervals her grieving form was racked with sobs.

Serenely the moon peeped through the window and compassionately covered the woman lying there with a merciful, lustrous sheen.

Finally as Lyra raised her tear-stained, swollen eyes, a pitying cloud veiled the luminous face. It was not seemly to look upon such abject despair.

Outside, a blue roadster was burning up the miles, and a bareheaded boy, with nervous impatience, had opened the throttle wide, and yet at 80 miles an hour the car seemed crawling.

He har learned at last that there was—there had never been—any other girl than Natlee, and he was terrified with the fear that he had learned it too late.

Again and again he thanked his stars that he had had the chance encounter with Jerome Kenyon and "spoiled his beauty," as the automobile salesman had described it.

If Jerry was as conceited as he thought—he would not call upon Natlee until he had had time to have a dentist repair the loss of his two teeth.

Upon what a little thing did the happiness of a man's lifetime rest. He had allowed Natlee to be disappointed in him, when she first saw him, and because she did not look and act just as he had thought she was going to, he had been peevish and impossible. She had met him more than half way.

"Natlee, I'm coming, I'm coming. Wait for me." He kept trying to project his thoughts through the miles of space that was fast decreasing between them.

"Natlee, don't let me go out of your life. I'm coming! I'm coming, and if I am fortunate enough to find you, I will never let you go away from me again."

He seemed to be listening with his soul for some expression from her, but he heard nothing except the purring of the engine.

He felt that he had only one chance of happiness—had never had but one chance. He marveled that fate had thrust that chance to him again and again, and he had brushed it aside.

He could hardly make it seem possible that Natlee would let him come back to her again. Whenever that thought slipped into his brain, he would jam on the gas, and although the car responded immediately he would have sworn it was only creeping had not the speedometer before him told him otherwise.

His thoughts raced back all over his life, and every hour spelled Natlee. Because she had been so much a part of himself he had never taken her into consideration.

Her picture came to him as he danced with her that night at Arrowhead Inn. How innocent had been their happiness that night!

Again, what was the use of saying that little word "if,"—there was no "if," and all the last year had been a restless hunting for something—something—he knew not what, until tonight.

His motor was steaming, and he stopped at a little oil station to have it refilled. He begrudged every minute that the sedate attendant took to fill up his car with water, gasoline and oil.

On again, almost flying over the smooth roads! He had only 30 miles to go. It was that dark hour just before dawn.

He was glad that Natlee was living in her own house, for he knew that her father would never have allowed him to see her so early in the morning.

For the Lovelorn

By ELEANOR GALE

Looking for Something Worth While

DEAR MISS GALE:

I have never written to you before, but the letter from "Faust" cannot go unchallenged. May I become very indignant in my letter?

"Faust," if I could talk to you face to face I believe I should get so angry that I would regret every word of it. Yes, I'll admit that we are only young once, but I'll tell you right now I want my old age to be full of beautiful memories, not shameful ones. I am 20 years old, a college student in a Western university, and am a winner of several popularity contests. But I'm telling you straight from the shoulder I didn't get there petting. I used to pet when I was in high school until I heard one of the fellows say to another: "She can dance, pet and all—but I wouldn't want her to meet my sister and mother." Did I stop? Well, I guess I did! And since then I have had a much better time. The bunch I run with are all like me—none of us over 20 years old.

You say there is no love? There is more of the old sentiment today than ever. It is more beautiful today, too, for a girl is brought face to face with the thought that one must love and want someone to love her to be happy. Am I not right, Miss Gale? It takes love to make the world go 'round. And love is the greatest thing He taught us. Are you forgetting?

Sex appeal is vulgarity on the part of anyone whose mind stoops so low as to think of it.

My dear Faust, can you entertain a girl without petting? Can you keep the ball of conversation rolling and interesting? Do you read good books? Are you interested in music and art? Ah, perhaps you say, how boring that girl must be. I can hold my own at any party, but how low you rate your girls.

There is everything worth while in life provided you take off those "rose-colored glasses of a good time." I am looking for more than a good time. I want romance, love, happiness, and a home. I am nearing all of these slowly but surely with the help of my mother. "If ye seek, ye shall find; seek ye not, and all ye hold dear is hidden behind the darkness."

Miss Gale, please comment on my letter. Thank you for the space and time. Hoping my letter is not too long, I remain,

LOOKING FOR SOMETHING WORTH WHILE.

You can speak from experience, my dear, and that is the sort of evidence that counts. That boy's chance remark has probably altered the entire course of your life. I am very glad you heard it.

Brown Eyes

DEAR MISS GALE:

I have been reading your column for some time and think you give excellent advice. I am a girl 17 years old and go with a fellow eight years my senior. I think a lot of him and I think he feels the same, but he has never told me so. Do you think he is too old for me? I don't agree with you on kissing question, but I don't always indulge in it. Miss Gale, do you think there is too much difference in our age to be married? Hoping to see this in print soon, I am

BROWN EYES.

He is a lot older, my dear, and no doubt that is why he hesitates to talk seriously with you. However, in a few years the difference in ages will not seem so great.

Contented

DEAR MISS GALE:

I have very seldom missed reading your wonderful advice for the last two years. You cannot even begin to think how safe it seems for young people my age to be able to write to you concerning our so-called troubles, etc., to know you will understand and will advise us to the very best of your knowledge. I sincerely hope that your department will always be as popular and successful as it is now. I am 16 years old, a junior in high school, glad to say a good sport. I dance, swim, play the piano, play basketball and drive a car; in fact, I love all kinds of sports. I have gone with a young man for over a year. He is a gentleman in every sense of the word. He is a year older than I and goes to college. Miss Gale, to be candid, it makes me tired to read letters from girls asking where are the gentlemen of today. If a young man doesn't act as he should when with a girl, I think it is as much her fault as his. I don't know if I need any advice or not, but I certainly will appreciate it if you think it is necessary—just

CONTENTED.

You are too young to settle down to one boy, in fact I think you are too young to be going with boys at all, my dear. However, I am very glad your choice in friends is as good as it seems to be.

Listening In on Eve

(Copyright by Associated Newspapers.)

EMMY LOU took it with her when she first went to the city, a simple flower-garden of a dress then, made of heavy figured crepe with demure elbow sleeves. Rigidly bracing herself on the high hard seat of a bus going from the station, she had held her grip on her lap all the way to the "Y," conscious of the dress even while the gay brilliance of the theater district at night thrilled her.

"Oh, honey, that's a darling. Such lines! And we can get so much good out of it."

Amy had come to the city first to study music, and as soon as she had learned to make ends meet by regular student jobs, working switchboards, during noon hours, addressing envelopes, ushering, painting Christmas cards, she had sent for her sister, who wanted to go to the Art institute.

That first winter in the city they worked hard, studied hard, played hard. The young men who came to the "Y" dances were as young, as ambitious and as poor as Emmy Lou and Amy.

At the first dance that fall Emmy Lou wore the flowered dress and danced with Richard Standish, a tall chap who had come east from the University of Oregon. He thought Emmy Lou very sweet and dainty and asked if he might call on her soon.

Amy wore the flowered dress when she sang for an exclusive club and welcomed the pot-boiler engagements this program brought her. After this, one or the other wore it on all special occasions "for good luck." But as winter came they decided that they needed another dress for more general wear.

"We need," remarked Amy as they were trudging home from ushering one night along toward Christmas, "a black dress."

"A black sleeveless," Emmy Lou supplemented.

"Bess dyed her black dress. It used to be cerise," Amy continued uncertainly. "And ripped out the sleeves."

"Do you 'spose we—"

"Let's try. We've got to have something. And it does have the lines, you know that, Em."

Amy wore it with her mother's cameo the night she sang for her scholarship. She wore it with a red poppy in her hair when she met Madison George, a young Kentuckian who was studying law in the northern city.

Emmy Lou wore it to Richard's alumni fraternity dance and again the night he proposed to her in an unpretentious little dine-and-dance place where they often went on Sunday evenings.

That first thrilling year in the city went by and the black sleeveless became decidedly passe, but Amy wore it once more to sing for an important broker and he signed her up for a winter concert tour.

Emmy Lou was selling some of her sketches so she moved to a more expensive club. She and Richard quarreled. She missed Amy. She missed the gay uncertainty of that first year, and daily decisions between half soles and opera scores, piano rent and new hats, paint brushes and hair cuts; the rush and excitement of ironing her only pair of stockings dry while her "date" waited in the parlor; of doing her sketches between intermissions at the theater, of maneuvering to keep strong cardboard over the holes in her shoes.

One afternoon in late fall Emmy Lou came home from the institution bluer than usual. She decided to go to the park for a walk. She jerked her coat down from the closet and with it came a pile of clothes and hangers. Peevishly she stooped to pick them up and a familiar clinging thing caught her eye—the black sleeveless. Impulsively she slipped into it.

She skipped down the street, breathed deep of the crisp air and listened eagerly to the crackle of the brittle autumn leaves under her feet.

Two trickly tears kept her from seeing that a man was standing on the rustic bridge staring vacantly at the fragile reflections of bare trees in the water. Hurrying across the bridge she was glad winter was coming and that the lily pond was not blossoming and overhung with green boughs. Forgetting Richard would not be so easy in the spring.

"Emmy Lou," the man in the shadows on the bridge turned at the sound of a familiar step.

"The dress?" he repeated, bewildered.

"The black sleeveless—I wore it tonight—the same one I had on at that first dance."

"But that was a flowery thing with fancy sleeves."

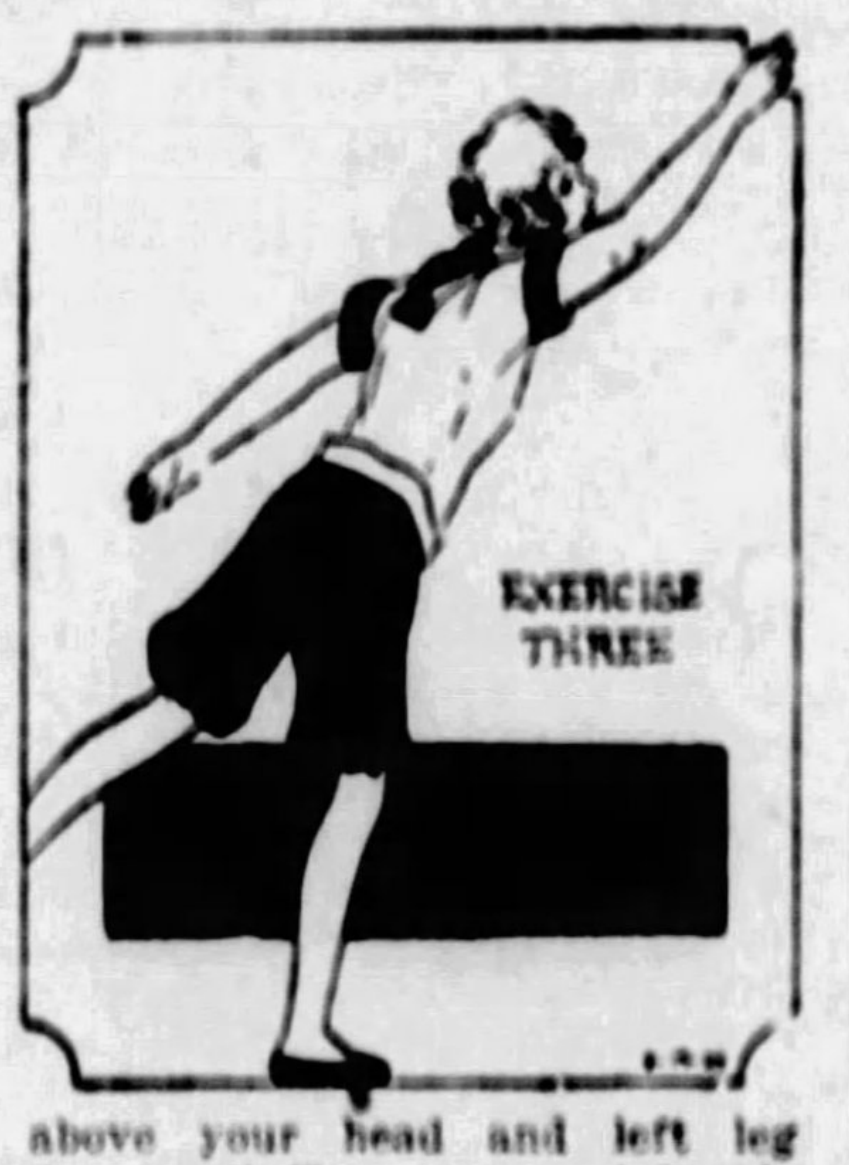
MILADY BEAUTIFUL

By LOIS LEEDS

Increasing One's Height.



THE question as to just when one attains one's full growth seems to be perplexing some of my readers. I have had numerous letters from girls in their teens asking whether I think they will become any taller. Sometimes the question is asked with the hope of a negative reply, but usually the writers would like to increase their height.

The period of adolescence is usually considered as extending to the twenty-fifth year so that it is not unusual for a young person to add an inch or so to his or her height after coming of legal age. Promising young men who wish to enter the police force but are a little too short may undergo a period of special physical training that will stimulate growth. Besides exercises there are mechanical devices, but these should be used only under the supervision of experts.

In order to avoid disappointment in one's efforts toward gaining greater height, it should be remembered that one's physical type is inherited. Our ancestry sets a limit to our bodily development, but the time may not be far off when scientists will find out how to stimulate the growth of the individual by chemical means without injury to health. At the present time, however, the only way to attain the maximum physical development is by exercise, rest, proper diet and the avoidance of unhygienic practies. Habitual correct posture is also very important; the figure should be carried erect so that it will be as tall as possible. Under the head of unhygienic habits come late hours, smoking and drinking, poor posture, lack of exercise and fresh air, shallow breathing and abuse of the digestive tract.

Exercise 1. Lie down on your right side. Stretch right arm above your head and left leg downward. Turn on your left side and repeat the exercise, stretching this time the left arm and the right leg. Repeat the stretching of opposite limbs while lying on your face and then on your back.

Exercise 3. Do a series of arabesques. That is, jump forward on one foot, inclining the body forward and stretching one arm obliquely upward and the opposite leg obliquely backward, both approximately on a line with the trunk. Hold the pose a moment before leaping forward on the other foot and repeating the movements.

Exercise 4. Stand erect with feet slightly apart and parallel. Raise both arms straight above the head. Now bend the trunk obliquely forward, stretching the arms as though reaching for a distant object, but keeping feet firmly on the floor. Continue bending the trunk forward and downward until fingers touch the floor. Repeat 10 to 20 times.

FRANCE OPENS ARMS TO LEGION VANGUARD

VETERANS VISIT HAUNTS OF WAR DAYS

PARIS, Aug. 19.—(AP.)—The vanguard of American Legion members, come to France for the convention in September, completed its occupation of Paris today without opposition. Even the champions of the Sacco and Vanzetti cause, who were expected to create a disturbance with the arrival of the Americans, held their peace.

The legionnaires, who landed from the liner President Harding at Cherbourg yesterday, could not have hoped for a warmer welcome from the girls they left behind or from the poilus beside whom they fought. But nowhere was there such joy as in the families of French girls who accompanied American boys to America as their wives nearly 10 years ago.

There being no public functions for the present, the visitors had ample leisure today to revisit haunts they knew as active members of the Army. The newspapers extend a sympathetic welcome to the Americans.

Adjutant James F. Barton, of the American Legion, will tell France of the respect and esteem he and his comrades feel for the French nation over the radio from the broadcasting station of the Petit Parisien tomorrow.

WINS LITERARY PRIZE

WRITES "BEST" POEM

Mrs. Harold Nicholson, former Miss V. Sackville-West, only child of Lord and Lady Sackville, was awarded Hawthornden prize for best creative literature in 1926. She wrote "The Land," a long poem.

EXPLOSION PLOT UNDER PROBE

An effort to blow up the plant of the Famous Cleaning and Dyeing Company, 225 Second avenue, Homestead, was being investigated by county detectives, in connection with the trade war now being waged in Pittsburgh.

Chemicals were added to a cleaning preparation, it was reported, which would have caused an explosion had the preparation been used. Thirty persons are employed in the plant.

The substitution of chemicals was detected by an employe and an analysis of the mixture was made.

BLAST WRECKS MINE TIPPLE

FAYETTE CITY, Pa., Aug. 19.—A blast of dynamite wrecked the tipple and check house of the Naomi mine, Hillman Coal Company, yesterday. No one was injured. The damage will exceed $10,000.

The mine has been idle since May 1 on account of the suspension. According to Supt. J. A. Branch, there was no intention of starting at present. State police, under Corp. G. F. Pierce, are investigating the blast.

CHOSES OWN GOWNS

WORLD STRIKE IS SET FOR SACCO LAST DAY

BOSTON, Aug. 19.—A "world general strike" has been called for next Monday, the last day of life for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, unless there is court or executive action causing delay.

The Sacco-Vanzetti defense committee in a communication to local unions says: "A call has been sent around the entire world for a world general strike next Monday, August 22, in case all legal means have failed up to that time to save our innocent brothers from the electric chair."

The committee called a conference for tonight at the Amalgamated Clothing Workers' hall here of representatives and active members of "all trade unions and fraternal organizations in the city of Boston and vicinity to discuss plans and make preparations for the calling of a general strike."

MISSING FOR 26 YEARS, RELATIVES SOUGHT HERE

Mrs. L. Hollinger, of 251 A Danforth avenue, Toronto, Ont., requested William J. Kane, head of the Missing Persons Bureau, to try and locate her three brothers and a sister, missing 26 years. They are believed to be living here. Her brothers' names are Thomas, David and Frank Lennox. Her sister's name is Jennie Lennox. She is a graduate nurse. The brothers years ago worked in one of the steel mills in the city. The last time they were seen by Mrs. Hollinger was when they left home in Lanarkshire, Scotland, to come to America.

INTERIOR CHINA STILL UNSAFE

By Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The State Department has refused to sanction the return of a large number of missionaries and business representatives to the interior of China.

The decision was conveyed in letters to missionary societies and individuals in the United States following receipt of dispatches indicating collapse of the Southern, or Nationalist Army, and every indication of a new reign of terror and chaos throughout the Yangtse Valley, if not in other regions of China.

At the same time representatives of the American government at Peking, Tientsin and Shanghai, where thousands of American refugees are being protected by Marines, were advised not to permit any of the Americans there to leave the compounds to return to the interior.

Practically all of the beleaguered Americans have found their way from the interior to the concentration points on the coast, and the ever-present fear that some of them might suffer in anti-foreign demonstrations in the interior has thus been removed and the government has no intention to permit them to return until they can do so safely, it was stated.

In the three compounds they are adequately protected, with other foreigners, by a formidable fleet of American, British and Japanese warships and thousands of troops.

MINERS PLEAD GUILTY; SENTENCES SUSPENDED

Judge George V. Moore in Criminal Court, suspended sentence upon five miners of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, at Montour, arrested 10 days ago for violating the liquor laws, when the defendants entered pleas of guilty. The five said to have been transporting one gallon of whisky in an automobile are, Percy and Homer Aiken, Nelson Peoples, Son Johnson and Charles Harris.

7 HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Seven persons were injured in automobile accidents in different parts of the county yesterday. Andrew McClaw, 18; Theodore Beauregard, 20, and Jacob Schroeder, 12, all of McKeesport, received injuries when their machine crashed into a stone wall in Long Run road, near McKeesport.

John Pavlick, 7, of Clairton, is in a serious condition in McKeesport Hospital. He was run down in St. Clair street, near his home. Frank Klyaz, 6, of 46 Chessman street, Etna, was slightly injured. Mrs. Elizabeth, 27, Franklin, Pa., and Miss Dorothy Flonecker, 20, of 1211 Boyle street, North Side, are in the Presbyterian Hospital in a serious condition. Their machine crashed into another automobile near Bakerstown last night.

Beau's Party Leaves Sally Holding the Bills; She Gets Business Offer

Tonight the door stood hospitably open and beyond the wide old-fashioned hall was filled with shadows, as she walked into it.

"Yoo-hoo!" she called, and from behind the closed door of the kitchen Aunt Emily's voice answered her faintly, like an echo:

"Yoo-hoo!"

Then she came with a rush to greet her, and give her a quick little pecking kiss on each cheek.

Everything that Aunt Emily did she did all of a sudden. Although she never would see 40 again, she moved about as quickly and lightly as Sally, herself. She talked briskly. And when she made up her mind to do a thing, she made it up in two minutes. Then she went ahead and did it at once and with great speed. She hated what she called "hemming and hawing" about things.

"Well, isn't this nice!" she chirped, and her black eyes seemed to snap a welcome to her niece. "I was just going to sit down to supper all by myself, and I surely do dislike to eat alone!"

Roxy and Mary Muldoon were two sisters who had been "paying guests" in Aunt Emily's house for years. Like her, they were school teachers of uncertain age.

"Oh, they've gone home for a visit before school opens," answered Aunt Emily, opening the oven door and taking out a pan of golden-brown Parker house rolls.

She emptied them out upon a clean tea towel, and flew into the pantry for a pitcher of iced tea and some cold fried chicken on a blue platter.

"I'm awfully glad you happened out here tonight, Sally," she said, pouring the tea into two tall amber glasses and decorating them with sprigs of fresh mint. "I wanted to talk to you about a scheme of mine. If you hadn't dropped in, I was going to call you up at the office tomorrow."

Aunt Emily hardly ever went to the Jerome flat. Her sister-in-law's ways drove her frantic, so she said. Her "slippy-come-sloppy" ways, she called them—lying in bed 'til all hours of the morning, and sitting by the hour reading silly books! She couldn't understand such habits, for the life of her!

Tonight Sally saw that she had something on her mind. There was a little frown between her brows, and her mouth, always straight and firm, was set with a sort of grim determination.

"You bring along the iced tea and that bowl of jelly, and we'll sit down and talk in peace," she said briskly. "I'm sorry I haven't anything but a pick-up supper for you."

"Pick-up supper!" exclaimed Sally, "why, this is a feast!"

She knew that her aunt expected her to say that. Aunt Emily was always apologizing for the meals she set upon her table, knowing full well that they were wonderful meals. She liked to be told that they were feasts and that there was no cooking in the world like her cooking.

There were cucumber rings, a plate of sugar cookies, half of an almond-cream cake on the little table in the dining room now, besides the chicken, the rolls, and the iced tea.

"I suppose I'd better ask her to lend me the money I've got to have before she gets started on her own affairs," thought Sally, when the meal was almost over. For when her aunt started to talk, there was no turning her aside from her subject.

"Aunt Emily," she was beginning, when Aunt Emily opened her own lips and drowned her out.

"Well, Sally," she said. "I've made up my mind not to go back to school teaching this fall!"

Sally's dark blue eyes widened with astonishment. . . . Aunt Emily not going to teach school this fall! Why, it was unthinkable. Aunt Emily had been teaching school ever since Sally could remember.

"For goodness sake!" she gasped. "Why, what on earth are you going to do? Go to Europe?"

For years and years Aunt Emily had been promising herself a trip to Europe "to see a little something besides sign-boards and Ford cars," as she said tartly.

"No, indeed!" she replied. "I'm going to go into business—let's go out on the front porch and get a breath of fresh air. It's mighty hot in this room—the sun just bakes it all afternoon."

They went out and sat, side by side, on the top step, in the cool of the evening. Beyond the green patch of lawn and the hedge, the despised automobiles went by in endless procession.

"I get so sick of looking at them," said Aunt Emily, who would have loved to own one herself.

Sally barely heard her. . . . If Aunt Emily was going into business, she told herself, she wouldn't dare ask her for the loan of that money. Aunt Emily would need every nickel of her money herself.

"What are you going to do, Aunt?" she asked.

Aunt Emily laughed.

"Well, nothing very grand," she said. "I'll probably fail at it, but then again, perhaps I won't. I'm going to turn this house into a wayside inn. . . . I'm going to start by serving chicken dinners on Sunday. Everybody tells me I'm a good cook—"

"You are!" Sally assured her. "But you're a good school teacher, too! And school teaching is such a nice job—such a ladylike job."

Her aunt sniffed. "Yes, and I've been doing it for exactly 22 years, and I'm sick of it. I want

Aunt Em is waiting for Cherie and is doing it with such concentration that she doesn't even notice the lady coming down the steps. And that's a little foolish of her because she can see Cherie often enough, but a frock with pleats, at the waist, that open into side drapes is rare.

She finally decided that this private fashion show was worth her undivided attention, and so it is! From left to right there are all these things that should be noticed: a black satin dress with a huge bow and side drape, another black satin frock with a side panel that falls below the hem line, a flat crepe that is gathered into folds in front, a chiffon that achieves its irregularity by an apron panel, another satin that has a ruffle down each side meeting in the front at the hem. All of them (and this is important) show the smart irregular hemline of Fall frocks.

Cherie came at last, full of apologies and dressed in a frock that shows what is being done with the bolero idea for Autumn. The blouse of the dress shows a bolero line just above the girdle and accentuates it with two flat bands curving up on one side, to be topped by a raggedy flower.

We Women

By BETTY BRAINERD

PANSY'S spine is straight and stiff, she carries herself haughtily and holds her head high. She goes through life in a way to give you the impression that she is sniffing disdainfully at people she passes on the street. But that is just a pose. Pansy is not superior to everybody she meets. She just pretends to be and unfortunately really thinks she is a pathetically inferior child.

Most of Pansy's pretensions are pitifully petty. They mean nothing except to show the tininess of her mind. For instance, she thinks it smart to walk past young men she knows and ignore them. To herself, I suppose, she says something like this:

"Those saps, what do I want to have to do with them?"

But, of course, they aren't saps. They're just plain, every-day, sort of decent young fellows. And so, instead of courting her or feeling hurt by her aloofness, they actually feel sorry for her.

Pansy imagines she deceives everybody but fools only herself, even when, as she often does, she stands in front of a mirror and gives her runaway imagination full rein and pretends she has finally come into her own. But what she conceives, in her flights of fancy to be her own, is altogether different from what the present presages her future to be. She hasn't learned yet that one cannot go through life pretending—that reality has a way of dismantling pretension; often with tragic results.

But Pansy sails along smoothly on an ocean of her own creation. Yonder is the horizon and beyond the horizon is the unseen ship which carries the fulfillment of her shallow dreams, and some day it will come to port, and it will not be necessary for Pansy to pretend any more.

But the ocean on which Pansy sails is smooth only because it is the ocean of youth. Later it will become rough and stormy and the horizon will become blurred; and a storm will come up and she'll forget all about the unseen ship with its cargo of realized pretensions.

Then Pansy will for the first time have a consciousness of life as it actually is, and she will cease to be offensive to other people and find affection for them, and stop pretending that she is superior to them and that nobody else is quite good enough for her.

Then, of course, she will find a young man who will not pretend that Pansy is the finest, sweetest, most wonderful girl in the world, but will really believe so.

If a man could yell as loud in proportion to his size as a baby can telephone companies would soon be unable to declare dividends.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

SATURDAY, AUG. 20.

ASTROLOGERS read this as a confusing and disconcerting day for that reason it is wise to desert serious affairs and to enjoy healthful recreations.

There is a sign affecting farmers, which may be disturbing to them and for this reason it may be difficult to transact business with them.

Whatever pertains to the air will continue to be of great interest to investors and inventors. It will be recalled that at the beginning of the year astrologers prophesied amazing development in aviation.

Intellectual progress will be marked and honors are to be awarded to educators.

American universities are to be overcrowded in the autumn when the problem of how best to absorb the great number of students will be widely discussed.

Certain manufacturers are to be suddenly exceedingly busy in supplying unexpected demands, it is foretold.

Children born on this day may have ups and downs. They should be careful about making friends.

MY KITCHEN NOTEBOOK

The Art of Second-Day Serving

Why do women apologize for serving leftovers? I consider it rather an evidence of good management. Today's creamed potatoes placed in alternate layers with grated cheese in a baking dish, covered with crumbs and browned in the oven, will provide a delectable dish for tomorrow's luncheon. Mashed potatoes, enveloped in a fluffy covering of equal quantities of Carnation Milk and heavy cream beaten together until stiff, into which is stirred grated cheese—and baked until the cheese is melted—makes a welcome change in the menu.

Cooking an extra quantity of peas, string beans or carrots for tomorrow's salad proves a great convenience. Rice, can be served first as a cereal, and later combined with cheese or made into croquettes.

To my way of thinking, however, there is nothing quite so delicious as the good old-fashioned rice pudding, cooked slowly for hours to bring out all the rich, creamy, caramel flavor of the Carnation Milk in which it is baked. I'm giving the recipe for it, and I think you will agree that it is one of the most delightful recipes I've yet offered you.

The Smooth Richness of Carnation Dishes

It is indisputable that dishes made with Carnation Milk have a richness, a smooth creaminess, a fragile fineness of texture that even the best of bottled milk cannot equal. In the first place, Carnation is nothing but the finest of pure, fresh, whole milk, of uniformly high quality. It is evaporated to double richness, so that every drop has a double helping of enriching cream. Then it is sterilized for safekeeping, making it absolutely dependable, no matter what the weather.

Carnation Milk has another vital quality. It is "homogenized"—the cream globules broken up into minute particles and distributed throughout every drop of milk, imparting to foods an unusual smoothness and fineness of texture.

Because of its double portion of cream, Carnation effects a big cooking economy, saving on butter or cream in nearly every dish in which it is used. And because it is always dependably good there is no waste.

Use Carnation Milk for all your cooking. You'll find in it new convenience and economy. "My Hundred Favorite Recipes"—the Carnation Cook Book—will give you many cooking suggestions. It is free. Address Carnation Milk Products Co., 100 Carnation Bldg., Oconomowoc, Wis.

Carnation Rice Pudding

2 cups Carnation Milk diluted with 2 cups water, grated rind of ½ lemon, ½ tsp. salt, ½ cup sugar, ½ cup rice. Combine washed rice with other ingredients; pour into buttered baking dish; place in pan of hot water; bake in 300° oven 3 hours, stirring several times during first hour to prevent settling.

Full power for your motor all the time

Some plain facts for the motorist

WITH some gasolines, the average motor has to be nursed along carefully when acceleration is wanted or a steep hill waits with a challenge.

Open the throttle too suddenly and the carburetor floods . . . mixture is too heavy . . . motor "chokes". . . spark can't ignite the whole charge.

Your motor has a different story to tell with the new 1927 Atlantic Gasoline in your tank.

Never before have you used an all-round gasoline like it. Every road and driving condition is met perfectly! No need to "coax" the motor! Instant response when you call for a burst of speed! Unfailing action when you have to crawl through traffic. Complete, full-powered, knockless combustion even when the accelerator goes down to the limit.

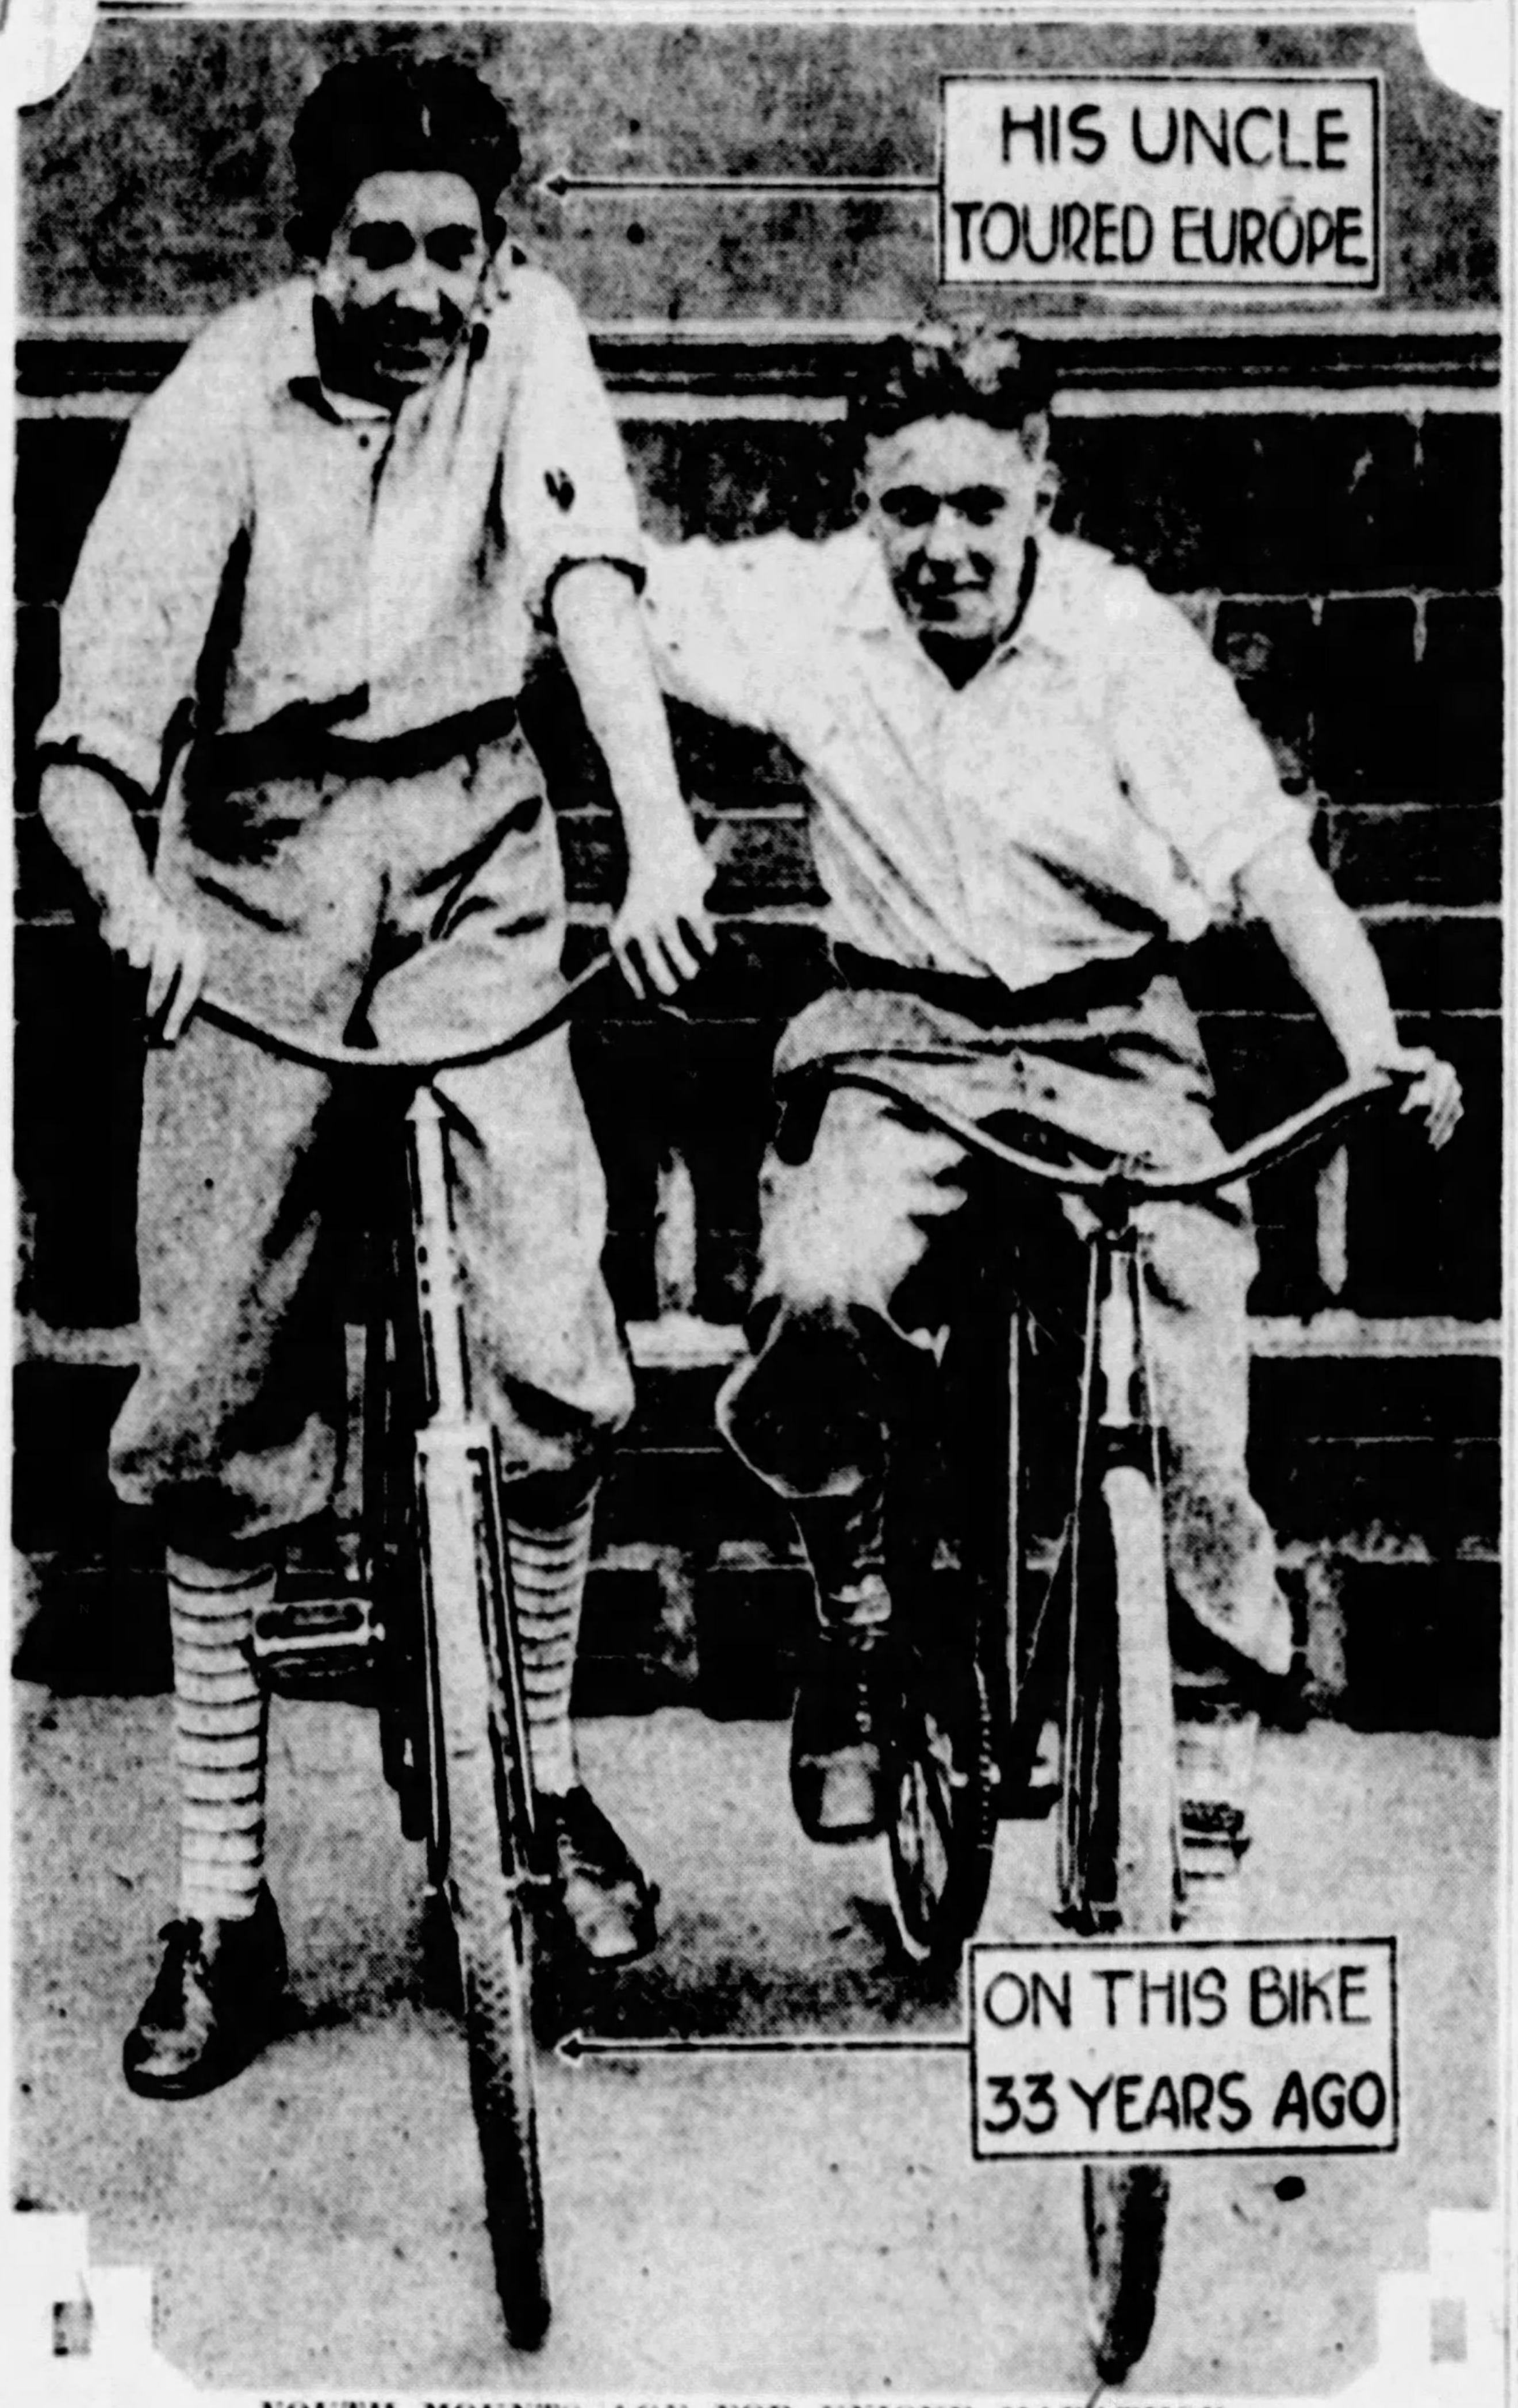
GO WEST, YOUNG MEN, AND HOW!



YOUTH MOUNTS AGE FOR UNIQUE MARATHON

A bicycle used by his uncle 33 years ago for a tour of Europe and which since has seen travel to the extent of almost 8,000 miles, will be called upon to perform another valiant service next Monday when Nevin (Muzzy) White of Evanston, Ill., and Frank Wallace Gilleland, Jr., of Sewickley start a six-day flight from Sewickley to Champaign, Ill. White (at left) is shown astride the ancient wheel. The youths are University of Illinois sophomores and they hope to reach Champaign in time to register for the fall term.

"ONE HOSS SHAY" BIKE RACE TO START HERE

By CARL W. SHATTO.

PATIENTLY pedalling two bicycles, one of such ancient vintage that it was an "old trusty" when an auto that would run was little more than a "nut's" harmless dream, two youthful collegiates will roll out of Sewickley bright and early Monday morning on the first lap of one of the most unique six-day bike races ever overlooked by C. C. Pyle.

The "racers" are Frank Wallace Gilleland, Jr., of Frederick avenue, Sewickley, and Nevin (Muzzy) White of Evanston, Ill., sophomores in the University of Illinois. Sewickley is to be the starting point and Champaign, Ill., 675 miles away, is their goal.

A ruling by officials of the University of Illinois, denying students the use of autos while picking crumbs from the mental tables of Football Coach Bob Zuppke and a few hundred other professors of lesser fame, prompted the decision of the youths to fall back on the conveyances of yesteryear. They concluded that pedaling 675 miles was preferable to touring 670 miles in an auto and then walking the last five.

PLAN FOR SIX DAYS.

The race is to be against time and the only way that either can lose is to expire, for time is something they have nothing more than. They hope, however, to get into the six-day racing class by completing the jaunt in six days, but they dare do nothing more than hope, for—

The bicycle on which White will do his stuff is the same one on which his uncle "toured" Europe in the right venerable year of 1894. In those more or less good old days it was as much an aristocrat among vehicular conveyances as a Rolls-Royce is today.

There is little doubt that the "wonderful one hoss shay" was quite some buggy, but had this bicycle of White's been owned by a neighbor of the horseman's it is probable that none would have dared to refer to the shay as other than an ordinary equipage. Not, understand, that running 100 years to a day is not quite some running, but this White family heirloom on wheels has accounted for close to 8,000 miles in the last 33 years.

BATTLE-SCARRED VEHICLE.

True, it has certain defects. On one handlebar there is a patch of rust said to have been born of London's fog; in the frame there is a dent known to have been caused by a collision with a lamp post in Vienna; the rim of one sturdy wheel is splintered as the result of association with a boulder as it wandered from its path in rolling down a steep grade in the notoriously poorly graded Alps, and about it all there is such an air as can be achieved only by association with the art centers of Paris.

To optimists such as these Illini racers, however, such defects appear not so much defects as proof that the veteran bike can stand the gaff. And so they hope to reach Champaign in six days, but they only hope, for—

The collapse of that buggy that ran 100 years and the better part of a warm evening was wonderfully sudden.

CHILLY SAUCE

By CHILLY DOYLE

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—New York writers are having quite a time in commenting on the most-valuable-player question. It is quite refreshing to note that Paul Waner is given big mention by the Gotham scribes. Frisch, Hornsby, Wilson and Root are others who draw the favor of the local writers.

If I were asked to name the most valuable player in the National League at the present, I think I would nominate Leo (Gabby) Hartnett, aggressive and hard-hitting catcher of the Chicago Cubs. It is all very well to wish to honor a great pitcher like Root, but a pitcher at best only works every third day while a receiver on a pennant-winning club is in there most of the time. And it is no slight on the clever Cuban Senor Miguel Gonzales, to state that Hartnett is almost the whole of the Chicago catching staff.

WHEN Hartnett is in action he takes charge of a game. The eight men in front of Gabby feel his force. And he is a boy of much character off the field. Although Leo has been doing the trick like a star for several seasons, he is hardly 25. Grover Alexander was one of the first to see the greatness in Hartnett. Aleck the Great picked him as a headliner a few years back, or when Hartnett was a "soft-pedal" worker under the Cubs' banner. As soon as he was designated as the regular receiver, Hartnett attracted the notice of John McGraw, who compared him with the famous old-timers. The Chicago maskman is the sort of worker who can make the heart of an oldtimer beat faster with joy.

FRANK BROWN, Pittsburgher, now an umpire in the coast, tried to prevail upon the Pittsburgh management to purchase Hartnett when Leo could have been landed for a song. The youngster was the second-string performer of an Eastern League team when 19. Brownie saw him work a few games and at once made up his mind that he was a much better workman than the regular catcher of the squad. But the Cubs landed him.

HARTNETT, by the way, ran a pretty fair catcher out of a job in Chicago. That catcher is Bob O'Farrell, who last season was effective enough to be voted the most valuable player in the league. O'Farrell also is a fine leader, but, all things considered, he is not as good behind the bat as Gabby.

FORMER PIRATE STAR TO DO 'COMEBACK'

By JULIUS LEVIN.

AL. MAMAUX, former Pirate star and one of the best right-handers ever developed in this section of the state, is coming back to the major leagues after enjoying considerable success with the Newark club of the International League.

Al Mamaux

Mamaux, who attracted attention as a pitcher while at Duquesne University and later was given a trial by the Pittsburgh Pirates, with whom he starred for several years, has been a sensation with the Newark club and reports have it that Dormont's contribution to baseball will be back in the majors as a member of the Giants.

Mamaux's fine showing with Newark after being released by the New York Yankees attracted the attention of several major league clubs, notably the Giants, Senators and Tigers, but the McGrawmen are reported to have the inside track on his services.

Mamaux proved a sensation with the Pirates when he broke into the big leagues, only to lose his effectiveness through his inability to keep in condition. After remaining several years with the Corsairs, he was sent to the Brooklyn Dodgers. He went back to the minors after a short stay with the Robins, only to be given another chance to make a "comeback" when the Yankees picked him up.

Besides being one of the best right-handers in the International League, Mamaux is a singer of more than ordinary ability. Before entering baseball, Mamaux, it is said, had serious intentions of going on the stage.

Pittsburgh fans, especially those in Dormont who knew Al intimately, are pleased to hear that their former mound favorite is to be given another chance in the major leagues.

BUCS MAY GET CRITZ FOR CUYLER

Reports from Cincinnati indicating that the Reds are eager to trade Hughey Critz, star second baseman of the Reds, for Hazen Cuyler, outfielder of the Pirates, met with favor today among the followers of the Corsairs here.

Critz, one of the greatest second-sackers to break into the majors in recent years, would prove a valuable addition to the Corsair lineup, veteran fans believe.

Critz was a holdout this season and the Reds, it is said, are willing to swap him to the Corsairs in exchange for the hard-hitting and fleet-footed Pirate fly-chaser.

The Pirates, according to a well-founded report, are ready to accept Critz in exchange for Cuyler. As the trading season in the majors has expired, further activity in the trading market will have to be kept in abeyance until after the close of the major league pennant races.

Two members of the Nashville club have attracted the attention of the Pirate officials. While no official word has been given out by the local officials, it is understood that Pirate scouts have been ordered to Nashville with instructions to look over Outfielder Pocco Tait and Shortstop Frank Haley.

FIGHT RESULTS

At New York—Tommy Freeman defeated Harry Mason, 10 rounds; Farmer Joe Cooper defeated Georgie Levine, 10 rounds; Billy Alger defeated Jimmy Finley, 10 rounds; Clyde Hull knocked out Irish Tommy Jordan, 2 rounds.

At Wichita, Kan.—Mike Arnold knocked out George Lamson, 2 rounds.

Wall Street Wagers 4-1 Against Bucs In Flag Fight

That the Yankees win both the American League and world series pennants, 6 to 5.

That the Cubs will win the National banner, 8 to 5.

That the Pirates will not win the National League flag, 4 to 1.

That the Cardinals will not win in the National League, 7 to 1.

That the Giants will not be the final victors, 10 to 1.

$50,000 SUIT AGAINST BUC REPORTED

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The Pirate management seems to have weakened again in connection with Earl Smith. The hard-hitting catcher will not be taken to Boston, according to an announcement made by one of the officials of the club this afternoon.

Rumors of a suit for $50,000 damages may be the cause of the Pittsburgh wavering. The fact that Manager Dave Bancroft of the Braves was not permanently injured as a result of his altercation with Smith at Pittsburgh probably would preclude any such ridiculous figure as that mentioned in the wild rumors.

Smith left Boston by the fence route and hurt his feet in the jump on the last trip of the Pirates to Boston. When the Pirates came home the officials of the club intimated they would look into the law a bit, inferring that Smith would be under the bat at Boston in the last trip to that city.

The rumor about damages may be the same sort of a scare as some of the Pirates think the Braves put over on the last jaunt.

FINED FOR TRIMMING UNWILLING DOG'S EARS

NEW YORK.—John Murphy, of 501 West Forty-first street, was fined $[illegible] by Magistrate Silbermann in the Jefferson Market Court yesterday for cruelty to a dog. The dog, a small terrier, was taken to the hospital of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, at Avenue A and Twenty-fourth street, with a lacerated ear.

CLARKSBURG GOOD HOST

JEANNETTE, Pa., Aug. 19.—The games the Jeannette Jays had scheduled with the Clarksburg Generals here today and tomorrow have been transferred to Clarksburg. Also the four games scheduled with the Fairmont Black Diamonds for the first four days of next week have been transferred there. Poor attendance was given as the reason for the transfer.

DUNCAN IRISH CHAMP

DUBLIN, Aug. 19.—(UP.)—G. Duncan, of Wentwroth, was the open golf champion of Ireland today. Duncan defeated a field of 60 qualified players in the tournament which ended yesterday. His card was 82-74-82-74—312.

Larry Nabholtz, American professional, retired at the end of the third round. Bill Mehlhorn, American professional, shot 324.

New York Boxing Law May Be Repealed

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—(AP.)—Declaring that boxing has failed to "clean house," as was promised, Alfred J. Kennedy, state senator from Flushing, N. Y., intends to fight for repeal of the Walker boxing law at the next session of the Legislature.

"There seems to be no chance that the game ever will be run without scandal," Kennedy asserted. "Every important bout that is now pulled off has something about it that makes it look suspicious. The impression is gaining ground that sure-thing gamblers have control of the game. If they haven't, someone is handing them something, because every raw decision works to their advantage."

Mashie Is Most Useful Club, Armour Says

By Tommy Armour

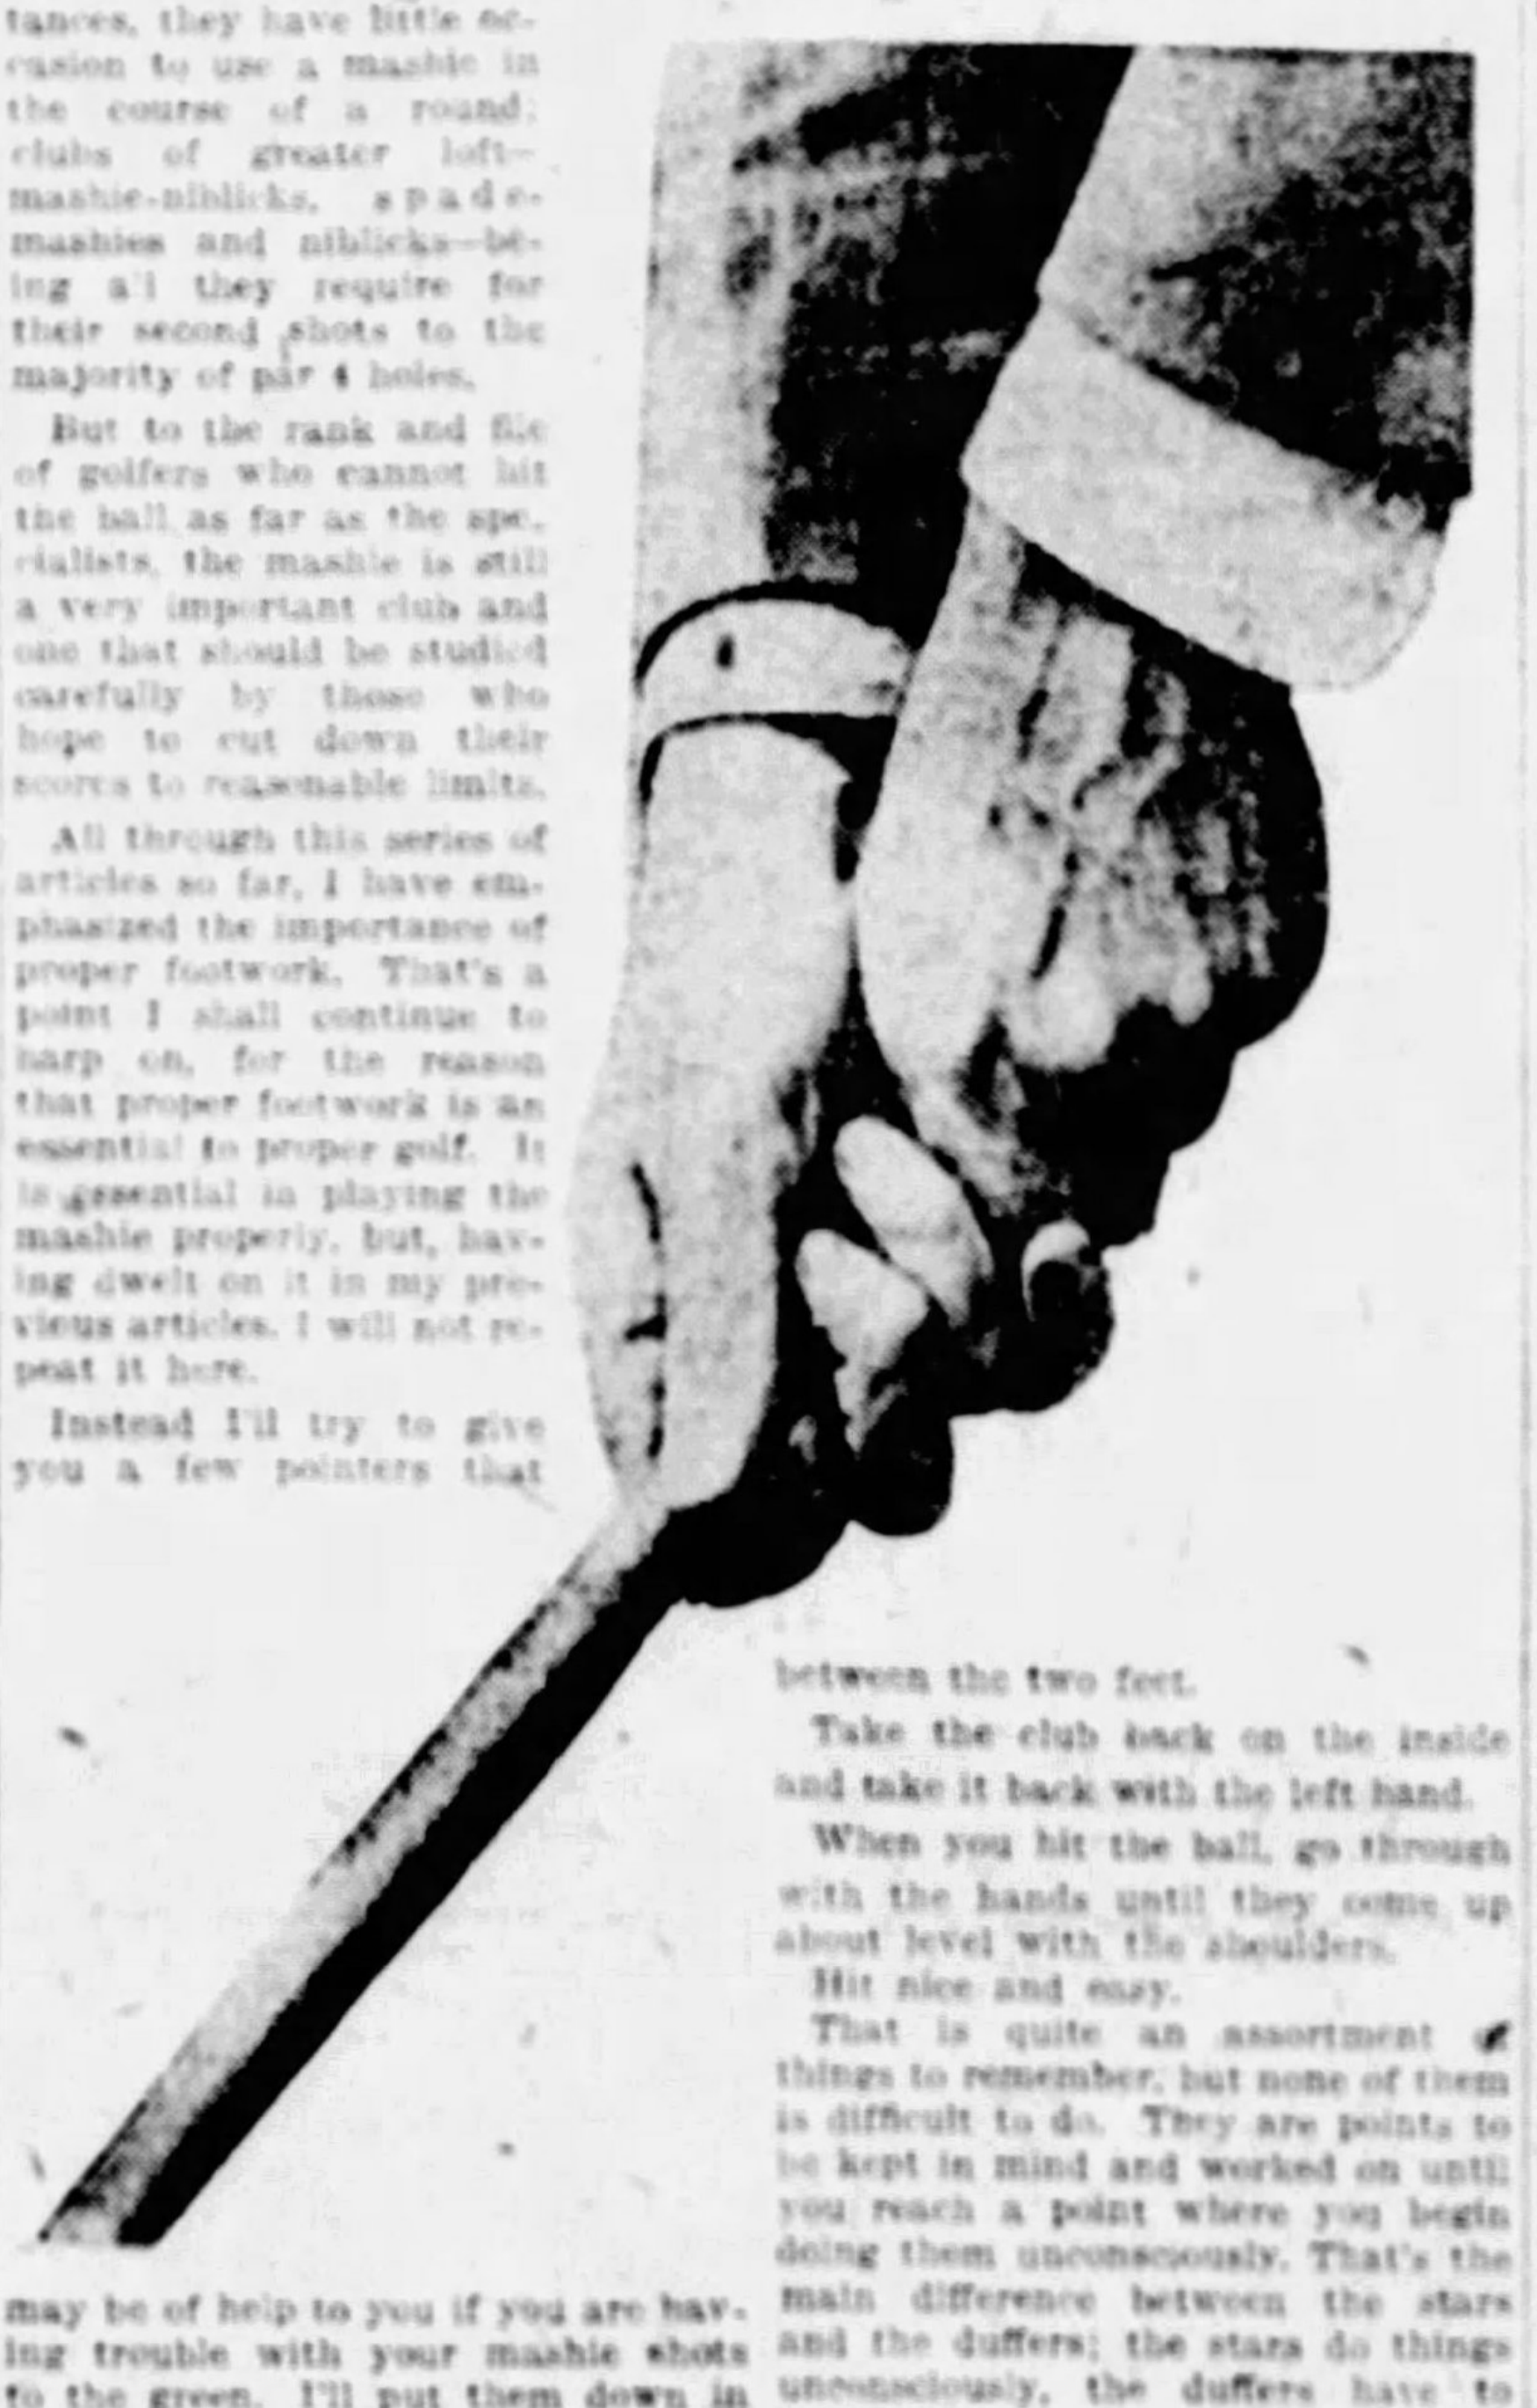
(United States and Canadian Open Champion.)

OF ALL the clubs in the bag the most useful one is the mashie. I guess I had better qualify that by saying the most useful club to the average player is the mashie. Times change in golf and with the added distance that the present ball is giving the mashie has become an almost obsolete club so far as the leading players—professionals and amateurs—are concerned.

Nowadays, when Jones, Farrell, Cruickshank and other topnotchers in the golf world are hitting the ball tremendous distances, they have little occasion to use a mashie in the course of a round; clubs of greater loft—mashie-niblicks, spade-mashies and niblicks—being all they require for their second shots to the majority of par 4 holes.

But to the rank and file of golfers who cannot hit the ball as far as the specialists, the mashie is still a very important club and one that should be studied carefully by those who hope to cut down their scores to reasonable limits.

All through this series of articles so far, I have emphasized the importance of proper footwork. That's a point I shall continue to harp on, for the reason that proper footwork is an essential to proper golf. It is essential in playing the mashie properly, but, having dwelt on it in my previous articles, I will not repeat it here.



Instead I'll try to give you a few pointers that may be of help to you if you are having trouble with your mashie shots to the green. I'll put them down in order and then enlarge on some of them.

First of all, play the ball in close to the body.

Stand as upright as possible.

When you hit the ball, go through with the hands until they come up about level with the shoulders.

Hit nice and easy.

That is quite an assortment of things to remember, but none of them is difficult to do. They are points to be kept in mind and worked on until you reach a point where you begin doing them unconsciously. That's the main difference between the stars and the duffers; the stars do things unconsciously, the duffers have to think about each movement, and, thinking of them, often become confused. They'll concentrate on overcoming one mistake and make another that is just as bad.

In my next article I want to elaborate on some of the points I have made above.

MISS BEJACH BEATEN IN FINAL, 1 UP

By VERNON A. SWARTSFAGER.

IN ONE of the closest, most brilliant and most thrilling final matches ever played over the Schenley Park course, Mrs. L. G. Riley of Edgewood today defeated Miss E. Lucille Bejach, 1 up, in 18 holes and annexed the women's city golf championship for the second successive year.

Coming to the eighteenth tee all even, Miss Bejach broke under the strain and dubbed her drive into a clump of trees at the left of the fairway. Using a spoon rather than the conservative iron in a desperate effort to make a recovery that would bring her close to the green, she dubbed again and before she was able to regain the fairway Mrs. Riley had gained such an advantage that her title victory was assured.

FOUR LOCALS DEPART.

Four local golfers who will compete in the national amateur championship tournament at the Minikahda Country Club, near Minneapolis, next week, left for the venue yesterday. Carl F. Kauffmann, national public links champion, entrained last night after making up his mind late in the day. Fred Brand, Jr., of Sewickley, who will represent Hannastown, West Penn amateur and junior champion; Samuel M. Parks, Jr., of Highland, former West Penn junior titlist, and Konx M. Young, Jr., of Highland, left yesterday morning.

B. & O. TO NAME TEAM

Tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock the candidates for the Baltimore and Ohio Pittsburgh Division team will report at Burgwin Park for a game with the Terminal Monarchs of the Morning League. All men desiring to try for the team should report at this time. The team to represent the division will be selected after the game. The umpire will be furnished through the courtesy of Judge Gray.

TIGERS ON GRIDIRON

The Bloomfield Tigers will be back on the gridiron this season with a strong outfit. Several new men will be added to last year's squad to strengthen positions. A practice session will be held this evening. For games write A. Zappa, 224 Edmond street, or call Fisk 9699.

ACES SWAMPED BY EAGLES

The Homestead Aces were erased from the picture when the New Eagles handed them a 5-0 drubbing, and Immaculate Heart and the Tri-Borough Travelers battle to a 4-all deadlock in the two Class A elimination series contests played yesterday.

Lefty Grant, star New Eagle portsider, came close to getting a no-hit, no-run decision over the Aces when he held them to a lone safety on West Field, Homestead. The winner collected nine hits, yet not a one was more than one-bag. J. Furiga's superb fielding made him the only star of the game aside from Grant.

KEA BOUMAN MAY PLAY IN WOMEN'S TOURNEY

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—(UP.)—Despite the conviction that she cannot be on the game that her American admirers are expecting, Miss Kea Bouman, Dutch tennis star, hopes to be able to compete in the national championships at Forest Hills starting next Monday.

She has been confined to her hotel for 10 days with a severe cold and a strained tendon in her back and is being attended by three doctors who told her that her chances favored enough improvement to enable her to play next week.

James J. Long's popular Sports Comment column will be resumed as soon as he recovers from an illness.

THROUGH the SPORT LENS by HAVEY BOYLE

BOXING, like life, takes peculiar turns. Helping prepare Jack Dempsey for the Tunney fight is a well-known fight character, Leo Flynn. There he is patting Jack on the back, whispering words of wisdom, planning with all his acumen to help Jack regain the title.

A flash back of memory produces an altogether different picture. In the ring is the Champion Dempsey, pitted against Bill Brennan. Dempsey is losing and is enraged over his inability to reach his man, Brennan. In Brennan's corner sits a nervous man. His lips are moving although no sound comes forth. The movement of his lips, the expression of his face, indicate he is not talking to Brennan, his boxer way out there in the ring, nor yet talking to himself. He is, in fact, in the act of supplication. Believe it or not, the man is praying. If he isn't, then we never have seen prayers go forth.

HAVEY BOYLE.

Thus the man who once importuned mystically for help to down Dempsey now finds himself patting Dempsey on the shoulder, whispering words of wisdom and planning with all his acumen to help Jack regain the title.

RECENTLY a millionaire died. The man was once fabulously wealthy. Some said his fortune amounted once to $100,000,000. Came reverses and the man died with two or three millions left. A headline writer in telling the story in the papers said: "Armour Leaves Only Three Millions." Now there is an O. Henry plot wrapped up in that. The late Mr. Porter would have sold that story and he would have dashed it off in an hour.

For he would have built up a situation, in which the headline writer had just turned off a bill collector, had just tried to borrow [illegible] cents for a meal, and feeling downcast and broke, wrote "Armour Leaves Only Three Millions."

JAMES MASON reports from New York he had the pleasure of seeing Paulino Uzcudun and his seven managers at a meeting of the New York boxing commission. Paulino Uzcudun, with a name no one feels optimistic in pronouncing, has come to be known as Paulino Upsidedown. This is much easier to remember than Uzcudun.

It is notable that Paulino, instead of engaging just one manager, has seven. In fact, the Eastern boys tell you that actually behind Paulino is a syndicate comprised of seven boys, all eager to take a whack out of Paulino's earnings.

THIS condition makes the matter of signing Paulino for a bout a very difficult matter. Three managers may agree, but the other four may dissent. Rounding them up for a vote is no small task in itself. Paulino was offered a huge sum by Los Angeles men for a bout with Godfrey, but his managers wanted just about twice the sum offered. Here is a match, by the way, which would draw the customers in Philadelphia or New York.

THERE is in New York now a new boxing refinement known as "booking offices." Men who do not have boxers under their management under the new system take to managing managers. They are boxing brokers—just middlemen, who do not bother with the shipping and delivery, but simply arrange for contracts.

They call up a Western promoter and offer him a match, two Eastern boys, say. He is intrigued. They then call up the respective managers and tell the managers they have a request for their boys in question. The details are arranged.

MASON'S letter somehow brings to mind that boxing men in charge of big affairs constantly overlook the colorful Pittsburgh man. There are few boxing men with greater experience, more color. None, we believe, has a better memory for the fanciful angles of the game of the past.

That Tunney does not engage Mason to work in his camp, to give advice, to keep the training days less dull, is a wonder. It may sound provincial to boost a local man and to place him alongside of the better-known Flynn, in a similar position in the Dempsey camp, yet Mason might help Tunney just as much as Flynn will help Dempsey.

A SOUND observation is made by a correspondent who wonders why baseball players and baseball managers foolishly argue about decisions with the umpires. He points out the arguments are never fruitful as history records but a few cases where an umpire, after listening to a complaint, has said: "I guess you're right—I'll reverse my decision."

These complaining ball players and managers, if sitting far from the scene, could complacently compose a sober treatise on the folly of controverting an umpire, but they find, as writers would find, that the gift of sober reflection in the midst of a hectic moment is given to but few men.

Anyway, what the baseball men seek is not a reversal, but more consideration on the next decision. They have a theory that umpires favor those who kick the most and pay no attention to the baseball men who accept all decisions in good grace. We don't say this is the actual condition, but we do say this is how the players and the managers have it figured out.

PHILADELPHIA'S protest over the Carlson for Cooney-Kaufmann deal falls on deaf ears. Judge Landis says the deal stands. The protest was a silly one. Baseball men do not go into deals blindly and if Philadelphia made a bad bargain Philadelphia must suffer. The protest may have been but an insincere gesture, anyway. The complaint was made that Kaufmann was not as advertised. But the Chicago club did give $20,000 to boot, and in the light of Philadelphia history that perhaps was the main consideration—the cash. Pittsburgh was hit by this deal, too. Carlson, we grudgingly admit, has helped the Cubs considerably. Pittsburgh made an offer for Carlson, but was turned down.

We grudgingly admit Carlson's worth because once in the Philadelphia clubhouse Carlson was much interested in an object presumably some distance above and behind our head. In other words, he was giving us the well-known ice. We should return a kind word for a gesture of this kind, according to the copybook, but today we prefer to disagree with the philosophers.

M'TIGUE SUSPENDED BY NATIONAL BOARD

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 19.—(AP.)—Mike McTigue, recognized as the light-heavyweight champion by the New York State Athletic Commission after Jack Delaney relinquished the title recently, has been suspended by the National Boxing Association for his alleged failure to go through with a bout against Larry Gaines at Toronto, Ont., May 16, it was announced today by Thomas B. Donohue, president of the association.

SOCCER by TOM BIRKS

Contract blanks for the season will be mailed this evening by Secretary Parks of the local governing body to managers who have sent money orders to cover the cost of the contracts with their requests.

Members of the cup committee should not forget the important meeting scheduled for this evening, when the dates for the senior and junior cups will be set. Chairman John Watson expects all members to be on hand.

In the same quarters Harry Fairfield has called a special meeting of the representatives of the league.

The season's opening is now only three weeks away. There is going to be plenty of bustling Sunday getting the stars lined up.

In the mail comes the announcement of the first game of the season. Westinghouse meets Turtle Creek Sunday at Chambers Field, Turtle Creek, at 3 o'clock. Secretary Hugh George says Westinghouse has an open date abroad August 28.

Kirkpatrick's Pittsburgh Internationals are looking forward to a good season in the newly formed Pittsburgh American League.

Where will the up-river stars play this season? It is evident Gallatin and Dunlevy will not sport teams. It is reported that Broggi, classy outside left of Gallatin, will be seen in new livery this season.

Will the West Penn Football Association insist upon the reinstatement of the players that left Pittsburgh last season to play in Ohio? A number of stars from the Keystone League made that trip toward the end of the season.

It is rumored plans are being laid in Ohio to band a well-balanced team to play the national amateur and open competitions this season. Now that Bill Angus of Ohio is a national vice president it is time Ohio made some kind of showing.

Now that the Keystone League is passe the Ohio clubs will get going. The Keystone representatives sure have put the damper on national aspirations of Buckeye clubs in the past five years.

PITT'S '26 CAPTAIN SIGNS

BLAIR (TUFFY) M'MILLIN, captain and end on the Pitt football eleven of last fall, and one of the four men lost to the squad by graduation in June, has hooked up to a coaching job.

Tuffy, a Wilkinsburg High School product, will tutor the football talent of Clearfield High School and will remain at that institution as all-year-round athletic director. He will call his first meeting of the gridiron candidates for Monday, August 29, a week before school opens.

McMillin played football all four years he was a Pitt student, being a member of the freshman team his first season and a regular member of the varsity team the following three years.

HOMESTEAD GRAYS LOSE THIRD IN ROW, 2-1

The Homestead Grays last evening suffered their third straight defeat, Pitcher Negri, of West Newton, scoring his second victory over the crack Negro outfit, 2 to 1, at West Newton. The Grays made three hits in the seven innings.

The Beaver Falls Elks and McKeesport won over the Grays in the other games of the losing streak.

BATTLE OF FOULS NEXT

By Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—"The battle of the fouls." That is Tex Rickard's newest fistic endeavor. Jess McMahon, Rickard's matchmaker, announced today that he had signed Paulino Uzcudun to meet either Jack Sharkey or Tom Heeney at Madison Square Garden, November 18. Paulino, it will be remembered, participated in the Yankee Stadium bout with Jack Delaney which terminated in a foul and Heeney was fouled by Bud Gorman, while Sharkey claimed a foul against Dempsey.

Dempsey Only 32, Not 38, Record Of Birth Shows

DENVER, COL., Aug. 19.—(AP.) Records have been brought forward here to show that William Harrison (Jack) Dempsey, heavyweight boxer, is 32 years old and not 38, as some sports writers have contended. On a yellowed page of an old-fashioned church ledger of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, in Manassa, Southern Colorado, there appears, in quite legible writing, the information that the boy was born at Manassa, June 24, 1895, the ninth child of Hiram and Mary P. Dempsey, and that he was christened William Harrison Dempsey.

There were five brothers and five sisters, two of them younger than Jack.

GIRLS CLAIM TITLE

The Armstrong Park girls' baseball team, last year's city champion and undefeated so far this year, laid claim to the district title when the Garfield team failed to appear for their scheduled game at Armstrong Park, South Side, last evening.

FREEMAN WHIPS MASON

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—(INS.)—Harry Mason, who had planned a lucrative ring tour of the United States with his English welterweight title as an A-1 boxoffice attraction, was a sadder and wiser man today. He was given a proper shellacking by Tommy Freeman, of Cleveland, last night in his debut as a welterweight here in Madison Square Garden. Freeman hit Mason almost at will and roughed him up considerably.

Football—and Joe Choynski

By HARRY KECK, Sports Editor.

WEST VIRGINIA UNIVERSITY takes umbrage at the statement which appeared in a story in these columns last Sunday to the effect that the Penn and Michigan elevens face the toughest college gridiron schedules this fall. The hardy Mountaineers want to know what's the matter with their card, which includes battles with Pitt, Carnegie Tech, Lafayette, Georgetown, Missouri and W. & J., not to mention Washington and Lee, West Virginia Wesleyan and Davis-Elkins.

JOE CHOYNSKI is mentioned as the likely referee of the Dempsey-Tunney fight in Chicago. Joe, who now resides in the Windy City and is a licensed official there, having handled the two Bud Taylor-Tony Canzoneri bouts and other battles of importance, is well remembered in Pittsburgh, where he made his home for a number of years until recently. He was boxing and physical instructor at the P. A. A. and a familiar figure, with his sharp facial features and bearing and manner of dress reminiscent of an actor of Shakespearean persuasion.

Choynski was a leading contender among the heavyweights in the days of Jeffries, Fitzsimmons, Corbett and Ruhlin, et al. He really was only a light-heavyweight, but was a terrific puncher and had to go out of his class to get some real competition. He knocked out Jack Johnson in the latter's early days and was the only ringman to turn this trick until Johnson took the count from Jess Willard in 1915.

• • •

CHOYNSKI was a sponsor of amateur boxers while at the P. A. A., and served as referee in many of the tournaments held in the gymnasium of the Oakland clubhouse. He also acted as a professional arbiter on a few occasions here. We'll never forget one night when he walked out of the ring on Tom McMahon and Carl Morris in Duquesne Garden. The two big fellows insisted on fighting as they pleased and ignoring his commands to break clean.

After several warnings, Joe told 'em they didn't need a referee and left them to finish their knitting party all by themselves and went to the dressing room, where he had to be coaxed to return to the ring.

He also took a flier at handling boxers. He thought he had a surefire heavyweight champion in George Hauser, a mammoth iceman from Mt. Oliver, but Hauser failed to make the grade. Joe also was the mentor of Ray Pryel when the Homestead lightweight was the amateur pride of this section, and managed Ray for a time when the latter turned professional.

• • •

CHOYNSKI, in addition to being a hard hitter, also was a clever boxer in his time, and frequently became disgusted with the unscientific maneuvers of the latter-day ringsters, on which occasions he would contend that the present crop of boxers did not compare with the leaders of his time. His pet punch always was a good left-hand lead, the best blow in any boxer's repertoire. He wouldn't give a dime for any lad who placed his reliance in a right-hand swing and didn't master a left hand.

Pittsburgh friends of Joe will be pleased to know that he's up in the sport again and has a chance to grab off the boss job in the biggest fight on record from the standpoint of attendance and receipts.

What Doctors Say About Smoking and Throat Protection

Mary Lewis

"Can I really smoke without irritating my throat, even if my throat is unusually sensitive, and even if I smoke as much as I please?"

A number of physicians, many of them leading physicians, in various parts of the United States, were recently asked these two questions:

Q 1—In your judgment is the heat treatment or toasting process applied to tobaccos previously aged and cured, likely to free the cigarette from irritation to the throat?

9651 doctors answered this question "YES".

Q 2—Do you think from your experience with LUCKY STRIKE cigarettes that they are less irritating to sensitive or tender throats than other cigarettes, whatever the reason?

11,105 doctors answered this question "YES".

You have noticed in the newspapers and magazines the opinions of many whose voices must be maintained unimpaired—opera singers, actors and actresses, men prominent in public life, radio announcers. These opinions are confirmed by the opinions of those whose business it is to know.

No Throat Irritation-No Cough.

*WE HEREBY CERTIFY that we have examined signed cards answering Questions One and Two and that there are 9651 affirmative answers to Question One and 11105 affirmative answers to Question Two.

New Producing Company Plans Six Two-Reel Dramas Similar To Jannings' "The Last Laugh"

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS,
Motion Picture Editor of Universal Service.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18.—The supreme achievement in the movies these days is to offer something different. Jessie Burns and Bernard Vorhaus, two scenario writers, believe their goal is within walking distance. They have formed a company to make six two-reel dramas on the order of "The Last Laugh."

Charles Klein, who photographed that amazing German film "The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari," has joined forces with them in the production of "Sunlight," the first of the series.

Zazu Pitts thinks so well of the Burns-Vorhaus undertaking that she has signed to play an old lady of 70 in preference to other offers. Ada Beecher plays her older sister and Herbert Moulton is the leading man. Mr. Moulton was formerly a motion picture writer before he chose to follow the life of a screen actor and his belief that "Sunlight" will be food for the intelligentsia should win over any doubting Thomas.

Bernard Vorhaus is the son of one of New York's most prominent attorneys. I shouldn't be surprised, just between ourselves, if dad had not been sufficiently won over by his son's enthusiasm to furnish the capital.

"The Tempest," with John Barrymore as a Russian soldier in a modern war drama, will proceed—but without Frank Lloyd's direction. Failure of the two to get together on the story is said to be the cause of the Lloyd withdrawal from the scene of action.

However, it is always an ill wind in the film business that blows nobody good, for Mr. Lloyd has returned to his first love, the Fox company, and Slav Tourjansky, the director of Michael Stroghoff, is now in directorial charge of Mr. Barrymore.

John Considine, who is supervising the production, continues in charge. Any battles are not attributed to him, since Mr. Lloyd asked for his release. Tourjansky, a Russia, is already at work on the story; and just to make the atmosphere complete Michael Vavitch has been added to the cast. So far Barrymore, Vavitch, Greta Nissen and Louis Wolheim complete the list of players.

Sam Rork has lots of faith in Will Rogers. More than most producers would have in a humorist of Mr. Rogers wisecracking tendencies. On August 27 the National Press Club is tending the actor-reporter a banquet at which 6,000 people have been invited. It's all very official. The Marine Band will furnish the music and Nicholas Longworth will be chairman of the affair. Here is where producers would have a chill. Will is going to tell over the radio all about filming "The Texas Steer." Mr Rogers at the banquet, expects the title of congressman-at-large. That won't keep him from planting a few laughs at the expense of his producer boss. Of course all the cast, Louis Fazenda, Doug Fairbanks, Jr., and Ann Rork, will assist.

GOOD MUSICIAN, no doubt—we know she is a good actress. Anyway it would be a shame for anybody but a good player to tease such a grand grand piano. Restrain yourself just a second—the player is Colleen Moore at home.

RAMON NOVARRO stands just right with the office boys of the M-G-M studio and has entree whenever he visits there. There's nothing like diplomacy.

THE WARD SISTERS, Betty and Helen, coming to the Schenley next week, are daughters of John Ward, former Pittsburgh newspaper man, now a Florida realtor. They are dancers who put comedy into their act. They attended school here.

THRILL SCENES PART OF NEW NEWSREEL

By MILDRED FILLMORE.

With some news—news about NEWS—about the new M-G-M Newsreel.

If you are anything like I am, you class the newsreel as one of the more important parts of any movie program. I'm not throwing bricks at anything, but if they cut the newsreel to keep in something that is not so good I always feel my day has been spoiled. That's the way newsreels stand with me and—I guess—with you, too.

Well, anyway, there's a new newsreel out, the M-G-M, and I saw it yesterday when it made its debut here in Loew's Aldine. President Coolidge is in it. Of course, that's no novelty, as we've all seen Mr Coolidge in celluloid many times. This time he is shown as an M-G-M cameraman grinding out film for the M-G-M. It almost seemed as if he were taking his own picture and posing simultaneously. Actor and cameraman at the same time—some feat—even for such a capable man as our President.

One of the highlights is the depiction of the treacherous rapids of the Grand Canyon as explored by the Clyde Eddy expedition. Eddy and his companions were the first to make a complete cinema record of a trip through the Canyon.

Among other absorbing sidelights on the news of the day contained in the first issue of the M-G-M Newsreel are shots of the riderless horse Mon Ami, which recently won a thrilling steeplechase in Paris. Thomas Edison, celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of his inventing of the phonograph, and—a spectacle that never loses its thrill—the West Point cadets on parade. This parade was held as a special salute to the M-G-M News.

This newsreel, which is being produced by the Heart News Service, Inc., one of the subsidaries of the gigantic, world-wide Hearst organization, and which is being distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, will be a regular feature in Loew's Aldine.

Adios, as they say in dear old Madrid—or is it Berlin?

Hope to meet you again soon.

AUTHOR OF "GORILLA" ALSO IS SCENARIST

Ralph Spence, author of "The Gorilla," which will be played in the Pitt next week, also is a scenario writer. His familiarity with scenario work is indicated in one of the characters in the mystery comedy.

Sales in the Nixon Theater box office indicate that the second week of "Old Ironsides," with Esther Ralston and Wallace Beery, which opens next Monday afternoon, will play to capacity.

Today will be a red-letter day for the members of the Syria Auto Club. They are to hold their annual outing at Kennywood Park today, with an interesting program of sports and dancing.

Film School Graduate Continues Climb to Movie Fame

Charles Rogers, who has the part of Jack Powell, the lead in the new road show, "Wings," a film of American aviation in the war, is one schoolboy who made good with a vengeance. Two years ago he entered the Paramount School without picture experience—just a Kansas University boy who had made his way mostly by playing his trombone. At the film school he distinguished himself sufficiently to be given the lead in "Fascinating Youth," the debut film of the graduates.

After that he kept up the pace without once stopping for breath. He had the juvenile lead in W. C. Fields' comedy, "So's Your Old Man," and then in the Fox film, "More Pay, Less Work." The next step was to head the cast of "Wings," and from there to make a picture with Mary Pickford.

He's only 22, and they call him "Buddy."

RAY MILLER ORCHESTRA AT SANDERS THIS WEEK

Ray Miller and his orchestra is being featured at Sanders, on the Freeport highway, Aspinwall, this week. The organization is composed of 11 musicians, all of whom are soloists as well as group entertainers. Next week Harvey Marburger and his recording orchestra will furnish music for the dance patrons at Sanders.

LOWELL SHERMAN CAST WITH CORINNE GRIFFITH

Lowell Sherman has been signed to play the role of Henry Glessing, French man-about-town, in Corinne Griffith's first United Artists picture, "The Garden of Eden."

Sprained Wrist Marks Finis of Latest Blue Picture

Monte Blue has finished the final scenes of the production, "One-Round Hogan," with a sprained wrist which he received during the filming of the prize-ring sequences. Fortunately the injury came at the end of the last boxing scene or a delay of some weeks would have been entailed. Howard Bretherton wielded the megaphone on this latest Blue starring vehicle, which also has in its cast Leila Hyams, James J. Jeffries, Tom Tallery, Frank Hagney, the Texas Kid and Abdul, the Turk.

Well Dressed Youth Wears $19.55 Costume

Motion picture enthusiasts, particularly those interested in "what the well dressed youth will wear," will probably be astonished to learn that Janet Gaynor, newly risen to stardom because of her work in "7th Heaven," wears an outfit in "2 Girls Wanted" which costs $19.55. The outfit is itemized here:

Tailored suit	$13.50
Shoes	2.95
Hat	1.95
Blouse	.50
Tie, belt, hosiery	.65

Reading these costs, one seeks an explanation—and here it is. The apparel was that of a 16-year-old boy, who wore his clothes where he found them. To fit the character, all Janet's rig had to be bought in a bargain store. Alfred Green, the director, promised Janet she could keep the costume when the picture was finished.

Lone Star Advances In Local Market

[illegible] Lone Star Gas [illegible] the dealings on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today. The stock got away to a fast start at 47⅞, unchanged from yesterday's close, and in a short time had advanced to 48 with sales of more than [illegible] shares being recorded in the first few minutes of the session. Just what occasioned the buying on this particular occasion was somewhat uncertain but there was further talk of a pending stock dividend and most [illegible] pointed to the company's demonstrated earning power. In addition the Lone Star expansion program in various parts of Texas is expected to add greatly to earnings over the next few years. The company is rapidly building itself up to a position as one of the leading gas distributors in the Texas-Oklahoma territory and is known as a complete organization, that is, it produces, transports and distributes its own production. Recently it took over the distributing system at Dallas and its lines are being extended constantly.

There has been considerable discussion of a stock dividend on Lone Star and the Street has heard of a possible 50 per cent melon, but it is thought a capital change will have to be made before such action could be taken. Unissued stock at this time constitutes only a fraction of the outstanding capital, about enough to pay a stock dividend of 12½ per cent or thereabouts.

Other stocks in the local list were entirely neglected in the first half of the session. Arkansas Gas was handled at 9⅞, but there were very few trades in the other sections and prices disclosed no change from previous quotations.

Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt ran into a thin demand on first offerings and the initial sale at 47 was ½ point under last night's close. Later the stock was supported and buying orders for several hundred shares moved the quotation up a full point from the price. Pittsburgh Plate Glass was firm at 231, up a point from the last previous price.

Shortly after noon the supply of Lone Star offered at 48 was cleaned up and the price started forward again, climbing slowly and reaching a new high record for the shares under the present capital set-up.

STOCK PRICES CONTINUE TO MOVE UP

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—(Associated Press.)—Stock prices continued to move upward today under the leadership of the high grade industrials. Week-end realizing sales and occasional "bear" selling slowed up the advance now and then, but offerings generally were well absorbed and a flock of new high records established.

Easy credit conditions, the anticipated increase in farm wealth and expectations of a normal upturn in business after the Labor Day holiday, were the chief factors stressed by those working for higher prices. Pools were again active in a number of specialties in which favorable dividend or merger developments are believed to be pending.

United States Steel common, which sold as low as 129¾ in last week's break, was in brisk demand above 137. General Motors, selling ex-dividend, touched 227, equivalent to a gain of about 3 points, while the new stock ran up from 113⅞ to 115. General Electric was in brisk demand, moving up more than 4 points to 135 by early afternoon.

There was a good demand for stocks of companies likely to benefit by the reported agricultural prosperity, such as Allied Chemical, Davis Chemical, Case Threshing Machine, Mathieson Alkali and Woolworth, all of which sold 3 or more points above yesterday's final quotations.

Rails quieted down somewhat, although a good inquiry was noted for the St. Paul, St. Louis Southwestern, Southern Railway and Lehigh Valley issues. Coal stocks also developed strength.

Some of the oil stocks showed strength, the feature being Standard Oil of Ohio, which rose 3 points to 86. Vacuum gained a point and there was a fair demand for Prairie Oil and Standard Oil of Indiana. Cities Service made a further fractional gain.

The closing was firm. Prices tapered off in the final hour when the customary week-end realizing began, hastened by a 5-point drop in Yellow Coach and Truck preferred. Consolidated Cigar preferred, a usually dormant issue, rose 9 points on active buying, and Warren Brothers increased its advance to 7 points. Total sales approximated 1,600,000 shares.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—(AP.)—The cotton market opened easy today at a decline of 4 to 11 points in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables and rather a more favorable view of the early weather report.

Offerings were not particularly heavy, but were sufficient to send prices off to 19.85c for December and 20.04c for March, or about 16 to 19 points net lower in early trading. A little more buying appeared at the decline, accompanied by criticism of the lower temperatures reported in the south and the market was steadier at the end of the first hour.

A private crop report made the condition 61.6 and indicated yield of 13,451,000 bales. On the average the private mid-month reports so far published, point to a crop indication of around 13,[illegible] bales.

The market was steady later. After the early offerings had been absorbed little cotton appeared to be for sale, and prices rallied to nearly yesterday's closing quotations on a little trade buying and covering, the latter probably promoted by detailed weather reports showing rains in some eastern belt sections. The market at midday was within two or three points of the best, December selling around 19.99c or 6 points net lower.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—(AP.)—The raw sugar market was unchanged early today with no sales reported and prices quoted at 4.46c for Cuban duty paid.

Trading in raw sugar futures was moderately active during the early part of the session, and despite the steadiness of the spot market and the firmer cables from London, prices were generally lower under September liquidation and selling of new crop deliveries by houses with Cuban connections. The Cuban selling was believed to be in the form of hedging, but after declining 1 to 2 points prices rallied partially on covering and trade buying. At midday the list was about unchanged to 1 point net lower.

Refined sugar was unsettled with prices unchanged to 10 points lower and list quotations ranged from 5.60c to 5.80c for granulated. The demand was only moderate and the trade was inclined to limit operations to nearby requirements only.

FANCY WORK.

Fancy work exhibits, from the women of the surrounding country, were among the most popular at the fair. Gail Bowser, Mary Alice Hileman, and Mrs. Dale Barger (above) are examining and comparing some of the needlework. The fair opened Wednesday and will continue until Saturday night, August 20.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—(AP.)—Excessive supplies of money exerted a special influence on the curb market today in causing decreased offerings in many desirable issues, but was without positive force in causing the advances recorded in a large number of stocks during the day. These movements in general were said to be due to the attitude of interests concerned in the various companies who joined in the desire to establish their issues at higher levels.

United States Freight held the most important position in activity and strength, making a new high record on an advance of 19 points to 165, losing about half the gain when some realizing occurred. Murphy Company Pennsylvania started with a loss of 2 points and then resumed its climb, entering new high ground at 58. Several of the chain stores also were in continued demand, Grant and Gobel being special features in that group.

There were developments of special strength outside of the industrial and mercantile issues, which were most pronounced in St. Paul preferred. That stock was in increased demand, reflecting buying by banking interests who profess to be more hopeful that the Interstate Commerce Commission will soon announce its approval of the proposed reorganization and permit the physical acquisition of the system by the reorganized company.

General Baking A was in continued demand and made a fractional advance, and Peoples Drug, Pillsbury Flour and Universal Leaf made gains of about a point. Auburn Motor moved up 2 points and then reacted. Celanese and Centrifugal Pipe were both in supply at declines.

THE PRODUCE MARKET

Demand was active at the local wholesale produce district today although some lines sold lower. Iceberg and New York lettuce were considerably cheaper. Beans, celery and California crated cantaloupes also fell off in price. West Virginia and New Jersey new Irish potatoes were firm and advanced 25 cents per 150-pound sack. Cucumbers in hampers were higher. Prime stock peaches sold lower.

Poultry was in good demand. However, supplies were liberal and the market was easy at its close.

There was little change among dairy products, the three markets, butter, eggs and cheese, remaining firm at unchanged quotations.

Carlot supplies were light, a total of 4[illegible] cars being on track. Arrivals included 3 cars of apples, 7 cabbage, 15 cantaloupes, 1 celery, 5 grapes, 4 lemons, 2 lettuce, 1 onions, 7 oranges, 25 peaches, 5 pears, 1 peas, 21 Irish potatoes, 3 sweet potatoes, 11 tomatoes, 5 watermelons, 2 pickles, 1 berries, 1 beans, 1 cucumbers and 1 green corn.

Hay receipts were moderate, 8 cars having arrived in the yards. Hay and grain held steady without change in price.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—(AP.)—Bond prices continued to move forward today, but there were numerous evidences of selling pressure. This was to be expected with prices of many issues within striking distance of their high records.

French bonds, which have been advancing for several weeks, were reactionary. The government 7s lost nearly a point and some of the railroad liens fell back, although not so sharply. Bolivian 7s also were inclined to heaviness.

Domestic rails were again sought eagerly, with some wide gains resulting. Louisville and Nashville 4s, New York, Ontario and Western 4s and Norfolk and Southern 5s sold up a point or more, while a few others were relatively active at about yesterday's closing prices.

Convertible mortgages again were led by Erie "D" 4s, which went up a point, and Brooklyn Union Gas 5½s recovered a fraction of yesterday's loss.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

U. S. GOVERNMENT BONDS.

Scrap Price Lower.

Heavy melting steel scrap is 25 cents a ton lower in the Chicago district, quotations ranging from $12 to $12.50.

Pittsburgh Steel Sales Heavy.

Salmon Pack Prices Higher.

Prices on the salmon fish pack quoted by the Alaska Packers' Association, controlled by the California Packing Corporation, are substantially higher than last year due to the unusually small salmon catch. William Timson, president of the Alaska Packers, says the 1927 pack probably will be under 5,000,000 cases, compared with 6,650,000 cases in 1926.

To Cut Big Melon.

E. E. Loomis, president of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, soon is going to cut the biggest melon the financial district has seen in some time. It weighs 95 pounds and was brought to his office in Liberty street in an open wash tub, the gift of the Star Telegram of Fort Worth, Texas. The distribution awaits the return of Mr. Loomis, who is now "on the line."

Coal Prices Continue Climb.

Indications of consumer uneasiness over the bituminous market situation in the United States have been multiplying the last week. Prices continue to move up, particularly upon those coals which find readiest access to the middle western markets cut off from normal supply.

Silver Output Increases.

The United States produced 5,067,000 ounces of fine silver in July, against 4,881,000 in June. Canada's output was 1,732,000 against 1,614,000. The last monthly figures available from Mexico were for May, 7,791,000 ounces, against 7,727,000 in April. Peru put out 1,513,000 ounces in July, against 1,206,000 in June, and Australia 926,000 against 947,000.

Lumber Business Gains.

Increased activity in new business in the lumber industry for the week ended August 13 was shown in reports from 480 of the leading mills of the country to the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association, compared with the week before. Unfilled orders of 222 southern pine and west coast mills were 625,024,804 feet, against 626,370,024 feet the previous week.

Roads Order Cars.

The Erie Railroad has ordered 25 suburban passenger coaches from the Pressed Steel Car, and the New York Central 50 steel underframe passenger coaches from the American Car and Foundry.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—(AP.)—Wheat took an early downward swing today influenced by weakness in Liverpool and easiness in Winnipeg, following reports of improved weather conditions abroad and in the Canadian northwest. There was considerable free selling at the start, wheat opening unchanged to ⅝c lower and subsequently declining a little more. Unseasonable cool weather over the corn belt gave a lift to corn prices which started unchanged to ⅛c up, but later eased off a little all around. Oats followed the action of corn and provisions reflected firmness of the hog market.

Frost damage reports were more or less discounted today on advices from the northwest, which said conditions there were more favorable and that fear of heavy damage has been lessened. One expert telegraphing from Stoughton, Sask., said wheat in that territory was a little farther advanced with an occasional field already being harvested, the early wheat being of good yield and quality.

Another expert wiring from Edmonton, Alberta, said wheat in the northern section of Alberta is being harvested, with prospects of good yields and quality. This territory is practically out of the way of frost damage, he said, while the [illegible] part is now about three weeks from harvest. A killing frost here within the next 10 days would probably cut the yield about 50 per cent, he said.

At noon wheat was ¾ to 1⅜c lower; corn was off ⅜ to ¾c, oats ⅛ to ⅜c down and provisions 2c to 12½c decline.

FRIDAY NIGHT ONLY MONEY FOR YOU.

Here is an Amazing Opportunity. Here is the Key to a Good Position. An extra pay check Every Week. Whether Employed or Unemployed. Read Carefully and Investigate. You can't afford to Pass Up the Greatest Opportunity in Pittsburgh Today. So Make Up Your Mind to Answer This Ad.
BUT THIS OPPORTUNITY WILL NOT LAST LONG.

$35 TO $75 WEEKLY.

Don't "grope in the dark," dreaming of extra money. You don't have to "point the payments" or go off on a "wild goose chase." Every ambitious person in the City of Pittsburgh would be amazed and glad to avail himself of this opportunity if he only knew the facts. YOU DON'T NEED EXPERIENCE AND YOU WON'T BE ASKED TO SELL ANYTHING. Briefly, the city's new administrative and extension has made it necessary for us to open an entirely new department and has created an opportunity especially fitted for people desiring EXTRA WEEKLY INCOME. WORK WILL NOT CONFLICT WITH PRESENT EMPLOYMENT. NO SELLING. No Soliciting. No Red Tape.

These positions can be filled during the spare hours of day or evenings of merchants, tradesmen, clerks, professional men and businessmen. Full time positions can be arranged for those desiring permanent work. ABSOLUTELY NO EXPERIENCE REQUIRED. FINANCIAL COOPERATION GIVEN from the start. You should earn NOT LESS than $44.10 PER WEEK from the moment your name is placed upon the company's rolls. Of the scores of happy workers recently employed, very few earn less than $50 per week and are working but one hour per day. Positions, spare time or permanent, are EXTREMELY SIMPLE, in pleasant surroundings and most congenial atmosphere.

Do not confuse this ad with another of similar wording, for YOU WILL NOT BE ASKED TO SELL ANYTHING AND YOU CAN EARN FROM THE MOMENT YOU START.

This is REAL. This is GENUINE. Here is an opportunity to earn a REAL BANK ACCOUNT during the summer months. The work is extremely simple and can be done by anyone of ordinary intelligence and we will make you understand and know you can do the work before we ask you to start.

You must understand this is an unusual opportunity. Come and get the facts. We require white applicants over 25 years of age AND EVERYONE will be given utmost consideration.

This ad will appear until FRIDAY EVENING, and none will be considered after 8:30 O'CLOCK Friday evening. Make up your mind NOW to answer on time. NO APPLICANTS RECEIVED AT ANY OTHER HOUR. (Daylight saving time.)

LAST CALL. APPLY PAYMASTER.

APPLY FRIDAY EVENING, AUGUST 19TH, at 8:30 O'CLOCK, SUITE 601, CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BUILDING, SEVENTH AVENUE AND SMITHFIELD STREET.

Notice! Remember this is an entirely new department and here is your opportunity to get a position in it. Scores of new applicants have been given employment during the evenings or after business hours and even the office boy earns $35 per week. Many of our employes who are employed otherwise during the daytime have bought new cars and have opened new bank accounts as a result of this wonderful extra income opportunity. You can answer other ads every day of the week, but remember, you can only answer this ad Friday evening at 8:30 o'clock.

YOU SIMPLY CAN'T AFFORD TO MISS IT. Knowing how and why means EXTRA MONEY. Now if you really desire to open a REAL BANK ACCOUNT, DON'T MISS THIS. Do not answer this ad unless you are really sincere and anxious to earn an extra income. We will receive no applicants after 8:30 o'clock (daylight saving time) Friday evening, so make up your mind to answer on time. REGARDLESS OF PRESENT EMPLOYMENT, EVERYONE WILL BE GIVEN FULLEST CONSIDERATION AT ABOVE TIME. AND REMEMBER THE PLACE.

APPLY FRIDAY EVENING, AUGUST 19TH, at 8:30 O'CLOCK, SUITE 601, CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BUILDING, SEVENTH AVENUE AND SMITHFIELD STREET.

$158 TO $225 MONTH—Railway postal clerks; steady work; men 18 up; 25 coached free; common education sufficient. Write immediately. Franklin Institute, Dept. 318 W, Rochester, N. Y.

Annual Meeting Special Matters

Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the stockholders of United Engineering and Foundry Company will be held at the principal office of the company, 2314 Farmers Bank Building, corner of Fifth avenue and Wood street, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, on October 25, 1927, at 10 o'clock a. m. (Eastern Standard time), at which time, in addition to the election of directors and the transaction of regular business, the following, pursuant to resolutions of the Board of Directors, duly passed at their meeting held July 26, 1927, will be submitted to the stockholders for their approval or disapproval:

First—The reduction of the authorized common capital par stock of the company from 75,000 shares to 69,353 shares and from a total par value of $7,500,000.00 to a total par value of $6,935,300.00.

Second—The conversion of the 69,353 shares of the common capital par stock into 416,118 shares of common capital stock without nominal or par value and the exchange of six shares of no par value stock for each share of the present 69,353 shares of the common capital par stock, issued and outstanding.

Third—The fixing of the stated capital of the company applicable to the no par value common capital stock at $5,409,534.00.

Fourth—Authorizing the $1,525,766.00 of the capital of the company heretofore credited against the common capital par stock be credited to surplus so that the same may be declared out in dividends from time to time at the discretion of the directors.

Fifth—The reduction of the authorized preferred capital stock of the company from 18,000 shares to 15,749 shares and from a total par value of $1,800,000.00, to a total par value of $1,574,900.00. Said 15,749 shares represent the now outstanding and issued preferred capital stock.

Sixth—Amending Article VIII, Section 2, of the By-Laws, to make the certificates for the common stock read "without nominal or par value," instead of a par value.

Seventh—Various other amendments to the By-Laws, a copy of the proposed amendments having been mailed in accordance with the By-Laws, to each stockholder.

When they see how fine is the appearance of our used cars, learn that all needed mechanical work has been done in our own shop, except on "as is" cars, they are satisfied as to quality.

They will also learn about the five Special Features offered during this sale and that our prices are right.

We invite the shrewdest, closest buyers to thoroughly investigate the special features of this sale, the cars and the prices. Such investigation will be convincing and will lead to a sale.

ASK ABOUT THE FIVE SPECIAL FEATURES.

HURRY—DON'T DELAY—COME IN TODAY OR THIS EVENING

Has been built through the records of economy and enthusiastic report of satisfactory performance by the purchasers of these cars.

We shall ever guard this good name jealously which has become institutional with us by putting used cars in such condition as they will deliver transportation of a high character.

It is our hope and desire that the motoring public will regard the used cars offered in this sale in the same manner it does a new Peerless—a safe investment made more profitable by real quality rendered at a fair price.

Our company is judged by our policies and the kind of business we do.

WE HAVE ALWAYS BELIEVED THAT
In this double-header game of life it is wise to play as though there were always a big league scout in the grandstand.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Dear Aunt Bella—

One day in court, where I was prosecuting a bootlegger, I spoke at some length and got thirsty. Keeping my eyes on the judge, I reached out for a glass of water. You can picture my surprise when I discovered I had emptied the glass containing the evidence.

Axel Jorgensen.

OMIGOSH!

(News item)

". . . the woman was slain by an apparent friend of the family who had lived for some time at the victim's home."

"A man was murdered here in the heat wave last week," postcards a subscriber from Albany. "He was singing 'Somewhere the Sun Is Shining.'"

Adam Scofflaw's Journal

Up mightily puzzled, as my hen partridge has now gone 24 hours by the clock without speaking a worde, but by look and manner she suffers me to believe I have done some greate wrong (which Heaven forbid) and when she seek true gold to pay the milch man the dove pin a note to my pillow, and the note saye, "Put a shilling in the whey bottle, Brutus." So to the printery, muffleheaded.

BOOK REVIEW

"A grander man I ne'er hath seen."

"Roy and I, dear playmates, hand in hand,
Wandered in mem'ry, through olden ways.
It was the second evening of his coming.
Helen was playing dreamily, and humming
While Roy and I sat by the open door,
Reliving childish incidents of yore,
Roy, always eloquent, was waxing fine,
When suddenly in pauses of the talk,
I heard a well-known step upon the walk,
And looked up quickly to meet full in mine
The eyes of Vivian Dangerfield! A flash
Shot from their depths—a sudden blaze of light
Like that swift followed by the thunder's crash,
Which said, 'Suspicion is confirmed by sight,'
Then o'er his clean-cut face, a cold-white look

To say that Vivian was burned up is putting it lightly. He stepped toward Maurine and her coz—

"Haughtily and said,
"Please pardon my intrusion, Miss Maurine,
I called to ask Miss Trevor for a book
She spoke of lending me; nay, sit you still!
And I, by grant of your permission, will Pass by to where I hear her playing.'"

Isn't it a mess? The poor La Pelio kid didn't mean nothing by sitting with her coz, but you know how men are when they have a name like Viv Dangerfield. Oh, well—mebbe it will come out all right.

In the next issue Mr. Whitehead will explain the salient points in the bidding and play of the above hand. Fill out your own chart and compare it with his method.

These hands must not be bid or played "Double Dummy," i. e., as though all four hands were exposed.

NOTE—In recording the Auction, or the play, use "S" for Spades, "H" for Hearts, "D" for Diamonds, and "C" for Clubs. Use "N. T." for No Trump, "DBL" for double, "REDBL" for redouble.

Salient Points of the Bidding

North, holding the necessary support, jumps his partner's Heart bid to four to shut out if possible a Spade or Diamond bid by East, who, if given the opportunity to show cheaply either or both of these suits, might force the bidding beyond contract possibilities.

Salient Points of the Play

Trick 6. Declarer has lost two Diamond tricks and must lose two Clubs and his contract if he finesses the suit twice and finds both the King and Queen of Clubs in East's Hand. He therefore plans to avoid the necessity of finessing twice, by eliminating Spades from his two hands (Diamonds having already been eliminated) and forcing an adversary to lead Clubs after the first finesse.

Trick 10. East must either give Declarer a discard of his losing Club by the lead of a Diamond or else lead Clubs up to Dummy's tenace.

Two Big Families

Copyright, 1927. Registered U. S. Patent Office.

36 IN THIS FAMILY.

Above you are introduced to Col. Reuben Bland, and Mrs. Bland, on the right. Beyond you see some of their thirty-four children. There are thirty-six in the family when they all sit down together.

Col. Bland traveled all the way to Washington a while ago to shake hands with the President and be congratulated on his big family.

Mrs. Bland stayed home. SHE HAD TO COOK. Mothers will understand that.

When you look at Mrs. Bland, and realize what she has done for her country, you think it would be almost worth the President's while to go down to North Carolina and shake hands with that lady who could not come to shake hands with him.

There are lots of girls in the Bland family, every one worth a million dollars to this country.

GOV. RICHARDS AND HIS NINE DAUGHTERS

You see here also Gov. John G. Richards of South Carolina, and standing next to him Mrs. Richards, his proud wife.

Besides them are their nine beautiful daughters. Gov. and Mrs. Richards should be congratulated on having so many DAUGHTERS.

To a father's vanity a daughter is worth four sons. For the daughter inherits the qualities of the father; learned books on heredity prove that. The son takes more from the mother.

If you read Galton's book on heredity, not exactly light reading, you will say, "I am going to have a daughter next time," if you happen to be a conceited man.

These big families are admirable, the country is glad to have them and needs them. It needs all the good Americans and all the good Europeans it can get.

But in the long run, of course, it is fortunate for the world that such big families are rare. If there were many like Col. and Mrs. Bland, the world really MIGHT be overpopulated. There were many such in the old days, when the average woman had twenty children and then died exhausted before she was forty.

The big family is still welcome when the father and mother are able to take care of it.

Hard Surfaced Roads Turn Rural to Urban

In Ohio one of every three farmers is still on a mud road, so State University economists declare, after an analysis of highway reports. Yet Ohio is one of the leaders in mileage of hard surface roads.

It is found that modern conveniences are most frequently found in farms on hard surface roads, which prepare the backward countryside for new business and an influx of modern conveniences.

There is plenty of room for it. A survey of farm-home conditions in sixteen Middle Western States reveals that more than 67 per cent of the women still draw water from wells or pumps outside of the house. Less than 28 per cent of them have sinks with drains in their kitchens.

Approximately 40 per cent of the farm homes are equipped with washing machines, 17 per cent of which operate by means of farm-power systems. Less than 18 per cent of the homes surveyed have bathtubs. Only a little more than 11 per cent of the farm wives keep any record of their expenditures.

Improved transportation means civilization and its benefits. Hard surface roads are doing a great deal to bring city living conditions to the farm.

Cultured Bluecoats Only

No more gruff or uncivil policemen for Atlantic City. None but Chesterfields in blue shall swing the nightstick on the old Boardwalk. Officers picked for that beat hereafter shall possess refinement.

Also, none but handsome, Apollo-like officers shall be allowed in that section. Refined and beautiful! It will be almost a pleasure to be arrested by one of them.

But the reaction by the evildoers of the great resort may not be as Utopian as the Director of Public Safety imagines.

There are times when a rough-and-ready cop, not too refined nor too beautiful and with perhaps no idea at all of the classics, fills the bill as no other can.

Tales That Are Told

The Burning Question

IT WAS the Welshman's first visit to London, and being unused to the ways of the roundabout traffic system, he thoughtlessly wandered into the road and was run over.

The ambulance quickly rushed him off to a hospital, where a kindly doctor took the case in hand. Under his expert treatment he soon regained consciousness.

"What's the matter, indeed? Where am I?" he cried.

"You were injured in a street accident," replied the doctor. "But don't be alarmed, you will recover!"

Toting His Own

TWO Irishmen were crossing the ocean. On the way Pat died and preparations were made for burial at sea. Instead of lead weights, which are commonly used, chunks of coal were substituted. When the last rites were performed, Mike looked long and earnestly at his friend and then exclaimed:

"Well, Pat, I always thought you were going there, but I'm hanged if I thought they'd make you bring along your own coal."

No Mo' Justice

"DEY ain't no justice no mo'," mourned Rufus to a friend. "Sam, ah's a sick man. Guess ah's gwine die, suah. Ah goes to de doctah, an' he says mah veins am too close. Once Overs

By J. J. MUNDY.

A 'Regular Fellow,' Eh?

WHAT is your influence upon those with whom you work?

Do you ridicule those who will not join you in spendthrift ways?

Do you make them so uncomfortable that they drift into your way and spend more than they should?

Are you prone to lead the new man, or the young fellow who comes into your office to join your little draw parties?

You try to make him believe that unless he does, he will not be considered a regular fellow, don't you?

Is your influence causing him discontent with working conditions, with the pay, and with general conditions due to the management?

Instead of imbuing young fellows with faith in the firm, and loyalty to it, with confidence in it that good service is rewarded, you try to convince them that the thing to do is to give as little as they can and stay on the pay-roll.

Is this being of good service to those who employ you?

Is this being valuable to those who are associated with you in the same business?

Learning

By BRUNO LESSING

ISOCRATES, a famous Greek teacher who lived about 2,400 years ago, placed over the entrance to his school this motto:

"If thou lovest learning, thou shalt attain to much learning."

In the language of modern days he "said a mouthful." It is a fine motto to keep in mind and think about, especially for those who bemoan the fact that they have no education.

Of course we all love learning to the extent of taking a chance and swallowing any pill that is guaranteed to give us learning. We all love money in the same way. We all want to be millionaires and there are few in the land who would not take a million dollars if it were offered to them.

But neither wealth nor learning can be acquired in that way. He who really loves money usually manages to get it. And just so it is with learning.

In Germany the government controls all radio broadcasting and, for several years, has devoted its programs largely to educational subjects, such as lectures, classical music with explanation, readings and more or less learned discussions. But the audience complained. They said they were tired after a hard day's work and did not want any heavy or high-brow stuff. They wanted jazz and amusement.

All of which is perfectly proper. The people pay and therefore the people are entitled to get what they want. They will remain just as ignorant as they ever were but they will be content.

"A little learning is a dangerous thing:
"Drink deep, or taste not the Pierian spring.
"Their shallow draughts intoxicate the brain,
"And drinking largely sobers us again."

Thus wrote the poet. On Mount Pierus, after which the spring is named, the ancient muses who represented all art and all learning were supposed to live.

The curse of this age is "a little learning." The bulk of mankind is painfully ignorant. He who has taken just one swallow of the Pierian spring and has acquired a smattering of imperfect knowledge, easily becomes a leader with many followers. In the land of the blind the one-eyed man is king.

The world has always been ignorant. In each generation a few great souls stand out and give their message to mankind. But mankind listens, nods gravely and passes on to its pleasures. It is pathetic to realize that, after 2,000 years, there are not a thousand men in the world who know what Aristotle knew.

But, perhaps it is better so. A race of learned beings might be no better off than a race of millionaires.

Bird Baths

Have you a bird bath in your yard?

If you have, you are on the calling list of every little feathered friend. Birds of all varieties surely must speak a common language. They will learn of your gift to them before your next door neighbor.

The greatest avenue of approach to friendship—winter feeding—is not altogether effective, because open seasons enable the songsters largely to shift for themselves. Miniature houses attract certain species only. But a bath is the perpetual gesture of fellowship to all.

It can be made highly ornamental, set in the open lawn or in a fish pond. Have it designed so that the water, trickling into it fresh and pure, will not exceed one-half or three-quarters of an inch in depth; too much water discourages the little fellows.

A Swell Time With Kitty

BEHIND us lay the city,
Its towers looming high;
Most fair and lovely, Kitty
Was glad and so was I;
In pleasant Summer weather,
When all the scene was gay,
We crossed the fields together,

THE blossoms Kitty carried
I gathered here and there;
By limpid streams we tarried,
For we had time to spare;
We watched where minnows darted;
On mossy stones we sat,
And Kitty was light-hearted,
And I was more than that.

WE FOUND a thing suspended
Above us, on a tree;
"Oh," Kitty cried, "how splendid!
Please get it down for me."
It had a graceful taper,
And was unharmed and whole;
I poked it with a pole.

THE day was bright when Kitty
And I had started out,
And she was glad and pretty,
And perfect, or about.
I shall regret forever
That I must bear the blame
And she, I fear, will never Hereafter be the same.

New York Day by Day
by
O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Thoughts while strolling: An upstairs serve yourself shop selling ladies' dresses. The jewelery salesman who has made a fortune selling to theatrical people on tick. The Rivoli theater's tall negro doorman with gold teeth.

Merle Crowell, the magazine editor. A pushcart selling cocktail shakers. Whatever became of wax window dummies? The Winter Garden's monster electric sign. The gloom of West 53d street. And its row of shabby brick houses with iron railed steps.

Magic stores and self photographing galleries. Quaint sandwich, and buttermilk stations. The sleek salesmen who stand among the gaudy automobiles—as immobile as statues. The wandering old men with wandering thoughts and mumbling lips.

E. F. Albee rides by in a car. The rail birds hanging over excavations watching workers. A professional bondsman "open day and night." Boarding houses with lace curtained windows. The tangy smell of gas tanks. And San Juan Hill with dice games in every hallway.

Women with hair in untidy knots. Dingy pool halls with white and black patrons. Old corner saloons in crumbling decay. Dirty and almost naked babies crawling in dark hallways. Men with shoes removed asleep on curbs. Gnats buzzing in gutters. Cross streets filled with boys playing ball and girls playing jack straw. The roar of Broadway again—rising, falling and quickening the pulse. Louise Groody. Lowering clouds, a quick shower, and the sun pops out again. Groups around stage doors peeking at fall rehearsals.

Wonder how many new stars will flash across the theatrical sky this season. And how many will fade away? Those tight-lipped men who lean against buildings studying racing forms. Gnarled old messenger "boys" with faded eyes. White shaggy poodles needing baths.

* * *

Visitors are always impressed with the way New Yorkers answer their questions. It is a polite metropolitan gesture that is quite pronounced. Invariably there is considerate courtesy. Often a hurrying pedestrian will go out of his way to pilot a stranger to a given address. It is noted in all stations of life—from bootblack to capitalist. The policeman, taxi driver and doormen seem just a little more human when asked a question. There are some who believe this response is due to the New York ache for human contact. And likely as not it is.

* * *

On the other hand a well-dressed man stood by the roadside in Central Park the other evening trying frantically to hail passing motorists. They slowed up, swerved around him suspiciously and shot away. Finally he was carried off in an ambulance. He had become ill and was trying to summon assistance.

Overheard in a Times Square subway rush:

Practical Peace

By DR. FRANK CRANE

There are many plans to prevent war.

The trouble with all of them is that they will not work.

You must have two things, a logical system and then people who are able to carry out that system. We have systems a plenty and they are all logical and convincing, but we have no population that has sense enough to adopt them.

Mr. Wilson's League of Nations was theoretically perfect. Nobody supposed that the most intelligent nation in the world would get its back up and refuse to go in. We expected that of Russia and Mexico, but not of the United States. Facts, however, are facts. America refused to cooperate.

Mr. Borah's plan for the outlawry of war is commendable and so is the proposition entertained by both France and Japan to make a special treaty not to go to war with this country. We may expect certain patriots, however, to rise on their hind legs, wave the flag and object to this.

The difficulty with all of these plans is that they are either political or sentimental.

There is just one force in this world which works for the benefit of humanity and works without sentiment or politics. It helps humanity not for the Lord's sake, nor for the country's sake, but for its own sake. It prospers in proportion as humanity is prospered. That force is business.

Judge Gary in a recent interview said that if the steel magnates had been allowed to consolidate before the war there would have been no war. They did not want war. No business wants war. Business thrives in peace and only when people thrive.

Business does not want pests, whether the pest of yellow fever or the pest of Bolshevism. Business does not want strikes, nor lockouts, and business does not want war and universal destruction.

Business is supposed to be bloody, vruel and sinister. In some circles a business combine is supposed, in the nature of the case, to be a public menace. It is not. Big business thrives only as the people thrive, and if the matter of going to war was left in the hands of big business there would be no war.

WORDS OF WISDOM

There is nothing which has yet been contrived by man by which so much happiness is produced as by a good tavern or inn.

THE LIFE OF THOMAS A. EDISON

Text by Arthur J. Palmer

THE budding operator's next job was at Sarnia, Canada. One night he was ordered to hold a freight so that the dispatcher could let another train through in the opposite direction. Before Edison could get the signal set the freight roared past the little station. He reported this to the dispatcher, who replied, "Hell!"

WHILE Edison was only slightly to blame he tried his best to make amends. The frightened lad rushed out into the moonlight, racing after the freight train. He was hoping to catch up with it at the junction beyond. He failed to watch his footing, missed his step, fell into a culvert and was knocked senseless.

THEN fate took a hand. Fortunately for all concerned the two engineers were on the alert and each saw the other's headlight approaching on the single track. Realizing the terrible danger, they brought their trains to a stop just in time to avert what would have been a disastrous head-on collision.

IN spite of his innocence, Edison was summoned to the general manager's office at Toronto for an explanation. The ordeal was interrupted by visitors. Edison, grasping the opportunity, slipped out unnoticed, hurried to the Grand Trunk depot, whence a friendly conductor carried him back to Sarnia.
